

FIVE SIMPLE RULES FOR BONUS CLAIMS

Finger Prints Ordered as Safeguard Against Fraud.

Washington.—Printing of the blanks on which more than 5,000,000 veterans of the World war will make application for adjusted compensation as recently enacted, is well under way.

The blanks will be distributed among the veterans through newspapers, the Post Office department, the American Legion and other patriotic societies in touch with the veterans.

Although a drive will be made to get the applications immediately, no cash payments will be made before March 1, 1925.

As soon as the bonus bill was passed over the veto of the President, the War department issued instructions as to the proper method in applying for the bonus.

Five Rules Established. Rules formulated by the War department in connection with application for a bonus read:

1. Do not write for application blanks. These will be distributed as soon as prepared, and unnecessary letters will only create confusion and delay.

2. Read carefully the instructions which will be printed with the application blank.

3. Do not pay fees other than a notary charge. The law prohibits any person for charging a fee for assistance in collection of the compensation.

4. Do not write the War department for any information required by the blank. If the individual has not the information, supply it as best he can from memory.

5. Mail application blanks in the envelopes which will be distributed at the same time. This will facilitate receipt of applicants at the proper office.

The scale of payment under the bonus bill is differentiated between those and foreign service, as is pay in the army and navy.

How an ex-service man who receives a paid-up insurance policy under the bonus bill may figure the maturity value of his policy at death or at the end of twenty years follows:

First, total the number of days served at home and overseas and deduct 60 of those served at home, which are excluded as having been covered in the 900 bonus paid upon discharge after the armistice.

Multiply the days served at home by $1 and the number of overseas by $1.25 and add the results.

Eliminate all above $625, if any, as that is the limit of basic pay allowed. If the veteran had only home service the limit is $500.

Then find in the accompanying table the factor opposite the age of the veteran at his nearest birthday next to the factor which multiplies the basic pay total by the factor. The result will be the maturity value of the policy or face value at death.

For example, if a veteran served 500 days at home, his basic pay is $600, eliminating the first 60 days. If his age is thirty, his factor is 2.524, which if used to multiply $500, gives a total of $1,262, the value of the policy. If the veteran had 800 days at home and 100 abroad, his basic pay is $625, which, if multiplied by 2.524, gives the policy value at $1,577.

Following is the table of ages and factors:

All veterans up to and including the rank of captain in the army and ensign, corps and lieutenants in the navy are eligible for the bonus.

MODERN THIEVES HAVE NEW TRICKS

Growth of Banking Habit Drives Crooks to Holdups—Try Many Schemes.

New York.—Thieves, with few exceptions, prefer hard, cold cash to anything else, and paper money, since it is light and easy to carry, is preferable to silver coin, which, if there is much of it, is heavy and unwieldy.

They like jewelry because it has a large monetary value, and like paper money it is easy to handle. A small stone worth $5,000 or more takes up little space in a vest pocket.

They like jewelry because it has a large monetary value, and like paper money it is easy to handle. A small stone worth $5,000 or more takes up little space in a vest pocket.

So the thief often is disappointed in his visits to apartments at not finding the coveted cash and turns to other things of value. If people have become more careful in handling money, they have not greatly improved in protecting their valuables.

It is the opinion of an old-time detective that the city holdup man, unknown in the metropolis until a few years ago, is a product of the recent school of criminals, who believe in "taking the cash and letting the credit go."

Not infrequently these thieves in descending on a drug store or shop have robbed the cash register, and gone through the pockets of proprietors and clerks, without making an effort to take articles of jewelry from these persons.

When I tell this type of patient that the answer is always the same, 'Heavens, doctor,' they shriek. 'I wouldn't put on any more weight for the world. Why, I might get hippy. And I could never wear knickers for golf any more, for there is nothing I dislike so much as hippy women in knickers.'

Again the protest is this: 'Why, doctor, if I got fat I might lose my nice ankles, of which I am proud as the stork in the fable. And just when short skirts are coming in again. Oh, no doctor, I couldn't think of getting fatter now. It would quite spoil my type.'
