FRIDAY..... June 20, 1924

Citizens of Paris were amazed recently when they saw a cart with a clay statue being dragged around the streets and being placed in one square after another. It was the statue of General Gallieni, military governor of Paris during the war. The municipal authorities were trying out different places and finally decided upon a square opposite the Arc de Triomphe, where the likeness of the general had the most impressive and effective background. Gallieni was the man who entered the Paris underworld during the anxious days of 1914, when Uhlans were riding within 14 miles of the city, made a patriotic call to the speeches and dashed to the aid of Marshal Joffre with an army of 7,000, transported in the taxicabs of the city.

The woman of forty who used to sit by the fire has so far departed from that quiescence that she has even become the heroine of some modern novels. It has remained then for the man of forty, so unappreciated, to come into his own. And he has, says the Boston Post. What more convincing proof than news from the New York Rotary club that over one-third of 508 high executives among its members were nonites at forty? Sixty per cent of them began as office boys and with the odds against them forged ahead after the fatal age was passed. It is a hopeful fact that a second youthful flare, a terrific onset of fresh energy, puts them over the top instead of on the shelf.

For 400 years two Italian villages have been arguing about a boundary line between the two. After four centuries they agree to turn the dead locked dispute over to an arbitration board and accept its decision as final. Magnify this dispute and you have the source of many wars between nations. It should be just as easy for nations to arbitrate before the war as for the two villages. And nations would, if their politicians weren't given too much power. "Diplomat" is just a camouflage name for international politician.

Thompson Family Holds Reunion
 Depoe Bay, June 14th, 1924.
 After a bountiful dinner the meeting was called to order by President A. C. Thompson and all joined in singing America. Then followed a program of stories, talks, readings, recitations and the speech of the day by Claude J. Thompson. Mrs. Harriett Nish gave a talk on our early forefathers. Business transacted was the roll call reading of last years minutes and it was decided to retain the present officers for another year and to hold the fourth round up as near June 15th as possible.

There has been no deaths and five births in the family during the past year. Those present other than the eastern Oregon relatives were Mr. and Mrs. J. Ezra Thompson, son and grand daughter, of Corvallis, and Jess R. Thompson, wife and daughter, of Portland. The names of the seventy one members of the family present are as follows: J. H. Elliott and wife, J. O. Elliott and son Eugene, Ernest Everett and wife, sons Rolla and Ross, and daughter Emma Jean. Chas. Adlard and wife, Geo. E. Meloy, wife and son George and daughter Marjorie. A. C. Thompson and wife. Jess R. Thompson, wife and daughter. Claude J. Thompson, son Orval, and daughters Fay, Doris and Claudena. Martin Meizer, wife and daughters Norma and Lois. Dewey Thompson, wife and sons Teddy and Eldin. A. Nish and wife. Chas. A. Nish and wife, son Vance and daughter Marjorie. Serena A. Hall and wife, daughter Hope and son Mack. Percy Thompson. N. W. Thompson and wife. Keith Arbuthnot. Harvey C. Thompson, wife and sons Wayne, Gordon, Wallace and Ronald Dean. J. Ezra Thompson and wife. H. Earl Thompson and daughter Blanche. James F. Henkle and wife. son Ralph and daughters Hester and Oleta. Chas. Bullard, wife and daughter Florence Brown. Mrs. J. E. Dill, son Hollis and daughters Vera and Jessie May.

 A New England man announces that he is going to make fiddles for $100 as good as any that ever came out of Cremona. It is possible to print an edition of Shakespeare's plays that is equal to or even better than the first folio, but old editions will command the big prices and so will old violins.
 A man has been sentenced to serve ten years in prison, and then be executed. He will no doubt want to spend those ten years in getting a good education and putting himself into fine physical condition.
 Notwithstanding its quickly gained and widespread popularity, there are not a few people who will be in no wise disturbed by the senate's plan to impose a tax of 10 per cent on mah-jongg sets selling at more than $5.
 If that new off-burning heating stove, which is built and operated like an automobile engine, is smokeless and noiseless, as reported, it would be a good scheme for them to build automobile engines like those heating stoves.

ALONG LIFE'S TRAIL
 By THOMAS A. CLARK
 (Ed. 1924, Western Newspaper Union)

TELEPHONE COURTESY
 HELLO, Central. Give me two-two-eight, please.
 "Is this two-two-eight?" There was a sound of confusion at the other end of the wire as the telephone receiver clicked—a mixture of rusted plate and riot and rough house out of which a harsh voice sounded.
 "We-I-I"
 "This is Mr. Clark."
 "Who?"
 "Mr. Clark, I—"
 "Well, what in the h— do you want? Shoot it out."

I finally succeeded in making my identity clear, and the voice softened perceptibly. What I really did want was to deliver a very important telegram to an undergraduate student. There is little doubt that the telephone has helped to facilitate business, and that it has brought the country people nearer to each other and nearer to town. When I was a boy and wanted to ask a girl to go out with me to singing school, I had to saddle a horse and ride three or four miles to see her; now all that is necessary for a young fellow is to call her up on the telephone and ask if she has a date for Friday night. Whatever the telephone has done to encourage matrimony and to put the punch into business, it has not had an improving influence upon our courtesy or our manners. We employ language and tones when using the telephone which we would never dream of doing or dare to do if speaking face to face with an individual. We insult helpless telephone girls and grocer boys and engage in altercations with officials in a way that would not have been possible before the days of the telephone.
 I have been rung out of bed at midnight to give someone the name of the president of the Menorah society, and I have been called away from a dinner party to settle a dispute between two women whose names I had never heard before as to whether or not a son of the kaiser had been killed during the recent Teutonic unpleasantness. One is not likely to find a man in bed or at meals if one times his calls properly, and though we would never think of calling at a man's house at lunch time or at night to settle our trifling business, we do not hesitate to call him on the telephone.
 A friend of mine whose family was seriously ill last year remarked that she could have managed everything quite comfortably if it had not been for the telephone. It rang continuously from daylight to dark until it wore her out and drove her half mad. Finally she had it taken out and went to the neighbors when she needed to telephone.
 The worst of it is that most of us, though we complain of them at one time or another, are ourselves guilty of these discourtesies.
 Common fault in business organizations is giving too much attention to getting new business and not enough attention to holding the old customers. That's why many a concern, which imagines it is making progress, is really standing still. Similarly, many an individual is so interested in trying to get the job of the fellow on the next ladder rung above him that he forgets the chap below who is after his scalp. If the present job is handled well, the future will take care of itself automatically.

Zoologists and biologists will find food for interesting observations in the freak chicken that has arrived at the Bronx zoo. The chicken has the facial features of a monkey, a pug nose, a tongue like a South American anteater, and the feathers of a regular White Orpington. It has no beak and drinks water like a mamma. The study of nature is inexhaustible. By what laws of natural selection did this specimen come into the world and what monstrosities may not be bred if the law that produced the monkey-chicken is discovered and applied elsewhere?

Means of Interest From Every Where
 Remodeling of the First National bank of Eugene to combine the present bank site and the adjoining building into a single structure, has been started. The remodeling work will cost $100,000, according to estimates.
 The Oregon grand lodge of Masons, in session at Portland, elected Oliver P. Coshov of Roseburg, justice of the supreme court, as grand master for next year. George T. Cochran, grand master, became past grand master.
 David Brainard, North Bend contractor, was instantly killed when he was struck by a lever on a wheel scraper. He was supervising work on the clearing of the Simpson Heights addition to North Bend. He was 50 years of age and is survived by a wife and daughter.
 Allan A. Bynon has been recommended by John S. Coker, United States attorney, to become his chief assistant in the place of Thomas H. Maguire, who resigned to become attorney for the Union Pacific on June 30. The appointment will be made by the attorney-general.
 Holding that no legal evidence had been submitted on the part of the state to connect former Multnomah County Commissioner Dow V. Walker with the charge of bribery on which he was indicted, Circuit Judge Campbell brought his trial to a sudden close by directing the jury to bring in a verdict of guilty.
 Nine of the 12 Oregon irrigation projects, interest on whose bonds was guaranteed by the state, met interest due the state on June 1, according to a report compiled and issued by State Treasurer Jefferson Myers. The projects paid $25,330.28 in interest to the state; $34,244.33 was due. The sum of $5914 is unpaid.
 Pending appeal in the supreme court, Portland city officials are restrained by an order signed by Chief Justice McEldrie, from enforcing a city ordinance prohibiting foreigners from selling soft drinks. The plaintiffs lost in the lower court of Multnomah county and appealed. The case will test out the validity of the ordinance.
 Lane county has returned to the old policy of road construction and maintenance, the county court having appointed Edwin Tuller of Cottage Grove as roadmaster. He will be accountable directly to the court and will have full charge of all road work. Under the former court one of the commissioners attended to the road matters.
 The state dairy and food commissioner has authority under the laws to adopt and establish standards of quality and purity of eggs sold or offered for sale for human food purposes, according to a legal opinion prepared by Attorney-General Van Winkle. The opinion was requested by J. D. Mickie, state dairy and food commissioner.
 Statements by Dr. J. W. Morrow of Portland that there were quantities of liquor used and kept by officials at the state fair grounds were branded as untrue by Horace Addis, newly appointed member of the Oregon state fair board. Dr. Morrow's statement regarding liquor was made in connection with his resignation as a member of the fair board a few days ago.
 Charles L. McNary won the republican nomination for United States senator in the recent primary election by a plurality of 51,854 votes over his nearest competitor, George L. Baker, and a majority of 36,419 votes over the combined strength of his three rivals, Baker, K. K. Kubli and H. H. Stallard, according to the complete official figures as compiled by Secretary of State Koser.
 Whether the state irrigation securities commission will approve the application to develop the so-called north unit project in Jefferson county probably will depend upon the success of the promoters in proving that valuations are sufficient to warrant certification of bonds. This was indicated by Governor Pierce following a conference with a committee of the Portland chamber of commerce.
 The time for paying the second installment of the state income tax, which under the law is June 30, has been deferred until July 30, according to announcement made at the office of the state tax commission here. Members of the commission said the time for paying the second installment of the tax was deferred because of a suit now pending in the supreme court in which the constitutionality of the act is under attack.
 Officers elected for Oregon grand chapter Eastern Star, in session at Portland are: Worthy grand matron, Mrs. Mary Alice Burdette, of McMinnville; worthy grand patron, R. Frank Peter, Hillsboro; associate grand matron, Mrs. Caroline Lewis, Seaside; associate grand patron, Dr. Daniel O. Webster, Portland; grand secretary, Miss Nellie McKinley, Portland; grand treasurer, Mrs. Marie Smith, Portland; grand conductress, Mrs. Leonora Kerr, Corvallis; grand associate conductress, Miss Margaret Barnes, Grants Pass.
 In a spirited contest Prineville was selected for the 1925 convention of the American Legion at the state convention in Portland. The vote resulted in a victory for the central Oregon town by only four votes after Marshfield had withdrawn from the field. Prineville received 55 votes and Medford 49. In the membership reports Eugene took high honors with an increase from 120 to 486 in the year. Tillamook, Oregon City and Ontario were others of the posts honored for large increases in membership. John R. Quinn, national commander, was the principal speaker at the meeting Saturday.

NOTICE
 To whom it may concern:
 Whereas, The State Game Commission of the State of Oregon is authorized under section 2, Chapter 66, General Laws of Oregon, 1921, to open any closed season or close any open season in any county or district of the State of Oregon for the hunting, shooting, killing, taking or having in possession, alive or dead, in whole or in part, of game animals or game birds; therefore,
 Notice is hereby given, That the State Game Commission of the State of Oregon has made and entered of record and does thereby issue the following
ORDER
 That for the purpose of protecting certain species of the wild game life of the state from extermination, and for the purpose of propagating and increasing such species of wild game as hereinafter mentioned, the State Game Commission of the State of Oregon hereby gives notice that the open season for hunting, shooting, killing, taking or having in possession, alive or dead, male deer with horns throughout the entire State of Oregon, as defined in Section 10, Chapter 153, General Laws of Oregon, 1921, shall be and is hereby declared to be closed for the year 1924.
 Notice is also given that the State Game Commission of the State of Oregon hereby declares an open season for the hunting, killing and taking of male deer with horns throughout the entire State of Oregon. Said open season shall be and is hereby declared to be from the 10th day of September, 1924, to the 31st day of October, 1924, both dates inclusive.
 Notice is also hereby given that the change in the open season made by this order in nowise affects the bag limit or other regulations provided by law respecting the hunting, shooting, killing, taking, or having in possession alive or dead, in whole or in part, such game animals, namely: Deer.
 Any and all persons hunting for, shooting, killing, taking, or having in possession, alive or dead, in whole or in part, any deer in violation of said Order shall be prosecuted as by law provided.
 Dated at Portland, Oregon, this 14th day of April, 1924.
OREGON STATE GAME COMMISSION.

A contemporary suggests that there is one line of repair work that is practically untouched so far as specialization is concerned, yet is peculiarly adapted to segregation and placing in a one or two-man shop, says the Scientific American. There is a never-ending volume of straightening to be done and it can be made to pay much better than ordinary repairs. The "straightening shop" is badly needed in the automobile repair business and the mechanic of ability in that line will be received with open arms. The wear and tear of every-day running, the uncorrected looseness, clean breaks, little accidents of driving, and all the happenings included under the name of "wrecks" serve to feed the job list of the straightening shop. An expenditure for equipment that would put in only the gas tank and pump of a garage or would be poorly equip an other specialty shop, will fit up the place in first-class shape for straightening work of every conceivable description.
