Allotment of State School Funds Made

The annual apportionment of funds represented by interest on the state's irreducible school fund was made August 1st by the state land board. The amount apportioned totaled $373,273.50, on the basis of $1.50 for each of the 248,849 children on the school census in Oregon.

The apportionment is 14 cents per child less than that of a year ago and 23 cents less than two years ago. The decrease is due both to the increase in the number of school children in the state and to a decrease in the interest fund available for distribution.

A table prepared by the board shows that in 1923 a total of $400,299.51 was available but in 1924 this amount had been reduced to $391,273.50. On the other hand the number of school children in the state had increased from 231,387 in 1923 to 238,836 in 1924.

On the basis of 1,016 school children Sherman county has been apportioned $1,524.

Mrs. A. M. Young received word from Salem Monday of the accidental death of her nephew, Vern Wilson, killed Saturday, July 18th, near Detroit, Oregon, by a wire cable while working in a logging camp. The young man was 25 years old. His parents reside at Salem where he was taken for burial in the L. O. O. F. cemetery, of which order he was a member.

Visitors in Moro this last week end at the Vernon Platt home were Miss Laura Ingram and Miss Laura Frojen, both from Davenport, North Dakota. Former Kent Farmer Returns to Oregon Home

W. L. Register and daughter, from California, Missouri, drove in to Moro Wednesday afternoon to visit with his nephew, A. S. Johnson and family, and are on their way to Hood River where they will visit with Granville Phillips and wife. Mr. Register is a former resident of Sherman county having had a home-stead near Kent 18 years ago, now included in the farm holdings of Guy Walton.

When speaking about his drive across the continent, Mr. Register gave our reporter the following brief summary of the trip. He said that he left California, Missouri, July 20th, first going to HaHa Tonka in the Ozark mountains where he camped the first night. This is a famed resort for tourists from all over the United States.

The next day he drove through Buffalo, Bolivar, Stockton and Nevada, Missouri, and camped at Fort Scott, Kansas. The third day saw him driving through the Eldorado oil fields to Wichita, then to Hutchinson where he camped. The fourth day he passed through Sterling, Silvan Grove and Hill City to Lenora where he visited two days with a cousin.

Mr. Register said that the corn in Kansas is burned up and is being cut with binders for fodder. Wheat around Hutchinson and also in north western Kansas is good. Harvesting was in full blast when he was there.

The end of the 7th day found him camped at Binkelman, Nebraska, where a wind storm blew down their tent and drove them into their car for shelter.

He reached Greeley, Colorado, the evening of the 8th day. A splendid farming country, the principal crops being alfalfa, navy beans, sugar beets, and wheat.

The 9th day he started to climb the Rocky mountains after leaving Cheyenne. This part of the trip was through a desert country. The pass where the highway crosses the summit of the Rocky mountains is 8835 feet above sea level. There are no steep or dangerous grades on the Lincoln highway nor is there any grand scenery like that to be seen on the Columbia highway. From the top of the mountains until he reached Ogden the country was much like that over which he drove from Cheyenne.

Ogden, he says, is one of the best agricultural districts on the route. They visited Salt Lake city then back tracked to Ogden and on to Pocatello and Boise, Idaho, where he passed through another beautiful valley which is under irrigation and where is produced all the crops usually grown in an irrigated district. He crossed the Snake river into Oregon at Nyssa and camped at Ontario, Oregon, and he said he was glad to be once more in his old home state. He also said that the Snake river valley is very productive and compares favorably with other such valleys he had seen on the trip.

Mr. Register made the trip with the intention of again making Oregon his home. Mrs. Register was a native of Missouri and because of this the family had made that state their home the past number of years. Death claimed Mrs. Register not many months past and having no longer ties to hold him away from Oregon he once more is here to reside permanently.

Rev. H. G. Hanson found his collie shepherd dog at Grass Valley, where it was being taken care of as soon as identified. At one time in the dog's aimless travels hunting for his home, a tin can had been attached to his tail by wire. In taking off the wire the dog had to be muzzled by a wheat sheaf.

Mrs. Pernie Johnson was a visitor in Moro this last week-end from Ashland, at the home of her son C. E. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson made the drive to Moro by way of Klamath and Bend, stopping over night at Bend. From here she was intending to drive to the ocean beaches before returning to Ashland.

Dr. M. F. Froyd was called 18 miles past Antelope on the Mitchell road last Sunday to attend the two-year old daughter of J. E. Wharton who had accidentally poisoned herself when unknown to her mother she found the family medicine chest. When Dr. Froyd arrived the child was in convulsions and nearly dead, but is now pronounced out of danger.

The second half of the taxes will become delinquent if not paid on or before November 5, 1925. If not paid by December 5 a penalty of 3 per cent will be added, in addition to an interest charge of 5-6 of one per cent a month. All penalties are collected for the benefit of the county. Any interest collected goes to the district, city or county levying the tax.

The self propelled combine owned by Roy Powell last Wednesday became anchored in a hole at an old abandoned barn site on the farm. The machine was passing over the old manure pile when the ground fell from under and left the track in a hole about 4 1/2 feet deep. After a two days effort to get the machine out under its own power a cat was secured from the L. L. Peets farm with which to pull the Powell machine to firm ground.
