E. F. CARLTON STATES WHY HE SHOULD BE ELECTED STATE SUPERINTENDENT

E. F. Carlton, of Eugene, announced his candidacy December 29th, subject to the approval of the voters of the republican party at the coming primary election, for the office of state superintendent of public instruction.

Mr. Carlton submits his candidacy and will make his campaign on the ground that he is fitted by training and experience for the position. For thirteen years he was assistant superintendent of public instruction, and for two years was field representative of the University of Oregon. Through these positions he has become familiar with the school problems of every section of the state.

His early youth was spent in Linn county, Oregon. After completing all of the work then offered in the public schools, he secured his first academic training at the Santiam academy, Lebanon. After graduating therefrom, he attended the University of Oregon and Pacific University from which latter institution he received the A. B. degree. Since this degree was conferred upon him, he has taken post graduate work at the University of Oregon.

His experience as instructor includes work in the rural schools of Oregon as teacher, and as principal and superintendent of schools at Joseph, Albany and Eugene, in addition to serving three years as instructor at the Lincoln high school in Portland.

Mr. Carlton has had much to do with the planning of the state courses of study, working out a standard for rural schools, inspection of high schools and promoting advanced school legislation.

He has written many articles on the educational system of Oregon, a number of which have attracted national attention. One of his recent articles in the Journal of Education, Boston, brought him a letter of commendation from the United States bureau of education.

Mr. Carlton served as president of the State Teachers' Association, and was for four years a member of its executive committee. He was director of the Oregon educational exhibit at the Panama Pacific exposition at San Francisco in 1915, and for eight years in charge of the educational department of the Oregon state fair. In the northwest association of secondary and higher schools, he has represented Oregon as its state chairman ever since the organization of the association. Also, he served one year as vice president of the national education association. Mr. Carlton is a member of the First Congregational church of Eugene.

Verd Virginia Kessinger, seven months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Kessinger, died at the family home, east of Moro at two o'clock Wednesday morning. The little one was taken suddenly ill on Monday with what at first was thought to be infantile paralysis and which later developed into meningitis. Funeral services were held at the graveside at Moro cemetery by Rev. R. A. Feenstra at noon on Thursday.

WORDS OF APPRECIATION

We wish to sincerely thank our many friends for their kindly assistance during the illness of our husband and father. Especially do we appreciate the many beautiful floral offerings tendered to us with sympathetic hearts at the time of the funeral services.

Mrs. J. F. Belshoe and family.

WALTER ELMER EAKIN

Walter Elmer Eakin, aged 14 years 3 months 17 days, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Eakin, was accidentally killed about eight o'clock Tuesday morning, January 5th, when a four horse team became frightened at a bunch of loose horses and started to run away after having been driven up to a water trough for a drink in the Edward Alley farm corral east of Grass Valley.

L. D. Eakin and son Elmer were enroute to Grass Valley with a four horse team and wagon after a load of coal for their farm. As was their custom, they drove into the E. W. Alley farm yard to water their team and had driven up to the water trough to allow the horses to drink. Just at this moment a bunch of loose horses came swiftly over a hill near where the outfit was standing, causing the horses to become frightened and start to run away.

Elmer, as was his custom to assist his father in every way possible, attempted to stop the running horses by catching at them when the team started. He was thrown backward to the ground, presumably by one of the horses hitting him in the chest, the blow causing concussion of the brain from which he died about ten minutes after having been raised from the ground. The only marks on his body being a slight scratch on his face and a bruise on his back.

Funeral services were held from the auditorium at Grass Valley at 10 o'clock Thursday morning under direction of Zell Funeral Home. The service was conducted by Rev. F. L. Johns of The Dalles, followed by interment in the L. O. O. F. cemetery at The Dalles.

Elmer Eakin was the second eldest of four children. Three sisters, Gertrude, Leta and Emma Jean, his parents, relatives, and many friends have lost a cheerful helpful member from their circle.

Mrs. A. Rose, who was called to Los Angeles by news of her father's serious illness, arrived at her destination Monday, December 28th, too late to see her father alive he having passed away the previous Saturday. Mr. Badger was taken to Kansas for interment.

IN MEMORIAM
J. F. BELSHOE

J. F. Belshoe passed to his future reward on New Year day at the family residence in Moro, following an illness of several months. Funeral services, in charge of Zell Funeral Home, was conducted from the Methodist church in this city at noon Sunday. Interment being at Rose cemetery, east of Moro.

The Methodist church building, during the funeral service, was crowded with friends who had come from all parts of the county to pay their last respects to the deceased. Rev. R. A. Feenstra, pastor of the Moro Methodist church, preached the sermon, using the life of the deceased as his text. F. L. Sexton and wife old time friends of the family and residents of The Dalles, sang a duet. Mrs. R. A. Feenstra, Mrs. J. J. Schaeffer, E. E. Barzee and Tom Fraser sang quartet selections.

Mr. Belshoe was one of the early day pioneer farmers of Sherman county. Himself and family coming to what is now the north central empire of Oregon when conditions were new and methods of farming yet to be learned. Shortly after their coming to the county, their home was one of the first places where Sunday school and church services were first inaugurated. Since then Mr. Belshoe has always been in the fore front and back of every movement to advance the moral well being of his adopted county and state.

J. F. Belshoe was born at Warsaw, Hancock county, Illinois, April 16, 1856, and was married to Emma Bledsoe, October 26, 1876.

Of this union twelve children were born, three of whom died in infancy. The nine living are Robert, Charles, Howard, Homer, Estella and Edith of Moro; Roy of Wasco; Frank of Portland; and Cassie of Salem; all of whom are married and, with their husbands, wives, and twenty-eight grandchildren mourn the loss of a faithful and beloved husband, father and grandfather.

At the age of sixteen he was clearly converted and has always sought to promote the moral and spiritual interest of the community in which he has lived.

Mr. Frank Belshoe came to Yamhill county, Oregon, with his family in 1879 and moved in 1883 to Sherman county. He homesteaded near Monkland and greatly contributed to the up-building of this community. He was an official member of the Methodist church, whose interests he always espoused and whose fellowship was precious.

He passed away at four o'clock on January first, 1926, at his home in Moro, Oregon.

PRINTING OF PAPER DELAYED WHEN TRAMPS SET FIRE TO RAILWAY TRESTLE

Last Sunday morning two tramps set fire to a trestle north of Sacramento, California, on the Southern Pacific railway line to Portland. Trains were delayed several hours half the trestle being burned before the fire was discovered. The tramps, the fire and the delayed trains is the cause of the Sherman County Observer being late at some of the local postoffices in the county this week. One of the delayed trains had a replacement for a broken part necessary for the operation of the line-type used by the Sherman County Observer in setting the type for the paper.

Accident report this week states a man lost control of his car. He couldn't keep up the payments.

ALL AMERICA WITHIN EARSHOT

Imagine a telephone that would connect with only half the numbers in the book! It wouldn't be more annoying than a radio set that receives only half of the stations.

The ordinary radio set receives wave lengths only from 240 to 550 meters. There are now over a hundred stations broadcasting on less than 240 meters not reached by these receivers.

You don't need two sets to get all these stations present and future. The new Grebe Synchronphase will tune to them all because it receives from 550 down to 150 meters, thanks to an exclusive invention—the low wave extension circuit.
