Ford Sedan and Columbia Stage Mix With Horses on Highway

A double auto collision with a bunch of horses partly lead and partly driven by Louis Walsh on the Sherman highway on the short stretch south of the Lamborn corner and the turn into the south road leading past McDermid's farm occurred Monday afternoon about 5 p.m. during heavy rain storm.

The horses were being taken from a farm near the highway to the farm operated by Louis Walsh, on the road between the Lamborn corner and the Barzee farm. Two or three of the horses were being led by a man on horseback; the balance were being driven loose by a man at the rear of the string and who was also on horseback. At the time of the accident it was raining heavily and because of this condition it was unusually dark.

The first car to hit the horses was a Ford sedan driven by Hugh Walker who had his children as passengers and was returning from school at Wasco. This car had just come to a stop after hitting the horses when a south bound Columbia stage hit more of the horses while trying to avoid hitting the Walker car.

The Walker car had its radiator and engine rammed back into the driver's compartment and its fenders torn. None of the occupants were seriously injured. The stage had one of its fenders badly bent. Reports state that two of the horses were killed and several seriously injured.

PRISONER BREAKS JAIL

H. C. Parks, held in the county jail on a charge of burglarizing the Kent Trading company, took sudden leave last Sunday between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. by breaking the plaster wall separating the jail corridor from the corridor of the main floor of the court house and forcing his way to freedom by squeezing himself between 16-inch wall studs.

The opening in the wall was made directly over the wash basin in the main corridor and, when noticed, plaster filled the sink and was liberally sprinkled over the floor of both the corridors.

The only clue to the direction taken by the prisoner was word from Willard's service station at Biggs that a man answering Park's description had stopped at that place about noon Sunday and had purchased some candy bars. It was not noticed the direction taken by the man when he left the service station.

Tewose Campfire Girls Elect Officers For New Year Work

The Camp Fire Girls at Moro have begun their active fall work with renewed interest. At a ceremonial meeting held at the Larson farm home Saturday evening, October 16, the Tewose camp enlarged its membership by initiating and welcoming 13 new girl members. Seven slightly more matured members were promoted to the rank of wood gatherers and received honor beads. These were Pauline and Evelyn Buell, Laura Ruggles, Josephine Johnson, Leora Peetz, Lois Bryant and Viola Hansen. A new feature this year is the division of the girls into two classes, one for those of grammar school age and another for those of high school age or over. By this method the work is made more congenial for all concerned.

A second meeting was held Thursday evening, the usual meeting night, and following officers elected: Alta Belahae, president; Cecil Cothran, vice president; Emma Jean Stephens, secretary-treasurer. A committee consisting of Emma Jean Stephens, Pauline Buell and Cecil Cothran was appointed by the president to select a play to be given in the near future. A second committee, Gertrude Eakins, Marie Belahae and Evelyn Buell, was appointed by the president to select a suitable tune for a campfire song. This committee is to report results at the next meeting, when a decision will be made by the camp as a whole.

MORO CHURCH NEWS

Notes of Interest to All Denominations

Presbyterian Church Notices.

The Keystone Study class met last Tuesday evening for their study class hour at the old Gosh home in Moorland. Mr. and Mrs. Martin G. Meiser as host and hostess. Thirty-one people were present at the study of the lesson which concerned "A Christian Program for Rural Life." A social evening of games and stunts; more or less of a Halloween nature followed. The annual election of officers took place with the following results: president, Mrs. John L. Seary; vice president, Mr. Forest Peetz; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Truman Strong. The study class will meet next Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Thompson, taking up chapter III of the book "Extension Work in the Rural Parish." Radio election returns will serve as a diversion following the study of the lesson.

Last Wednesday evening the people of the Presbyterian church gathered for one of their sumptuous potluck suppers for which Sherman county is noted. The delegates to the Synodical Society at Pendleton gave reports, interspersed with music. Mrs. Belahae and Mrs. Hutchcroft sang a duet and Mrs. Akers sang a solo. Following the meeting the choir met for its customary weekly practice.

Rev. Henry G. Hanson will give another sermon in the series on The Lord's Prayer next Sunday morning, when the fourth petition will be considered, "Give us this day our daily bread." There is an increasing interest in this prayer as manifested by the large attendance at the morning services. There are yet four sermons left in the series. Sunday school each Sunday precedes the service and begins at 10:00. Congenial classes for all ages.

A second study class begins tonight, Friday, at the manse. This one like the Keystone class studies "Our Temple Hills," an interesting book dealing with changes in rural life during the last generation and the effect upon the life of the church. Thirty study books have been sold to date for the two classes, which means that

In all probability over fifty people are taking this course. All older people are invited to the Friday evening classes at the manse. The Keystone class has had two meetings already, holding their meetings on Tuesday evenings. There are about thirty enrolled in this class.

Of special interest to Moro and vicinity just now is the coming of Miss Maude M. Aldrich of Pittsburg, lecturer, entertainer, and inspirer, who will be in Moro on Friday, November fifth. She will speak to the Women's club in the afternoon, and to the public schools before that. In the evening a popular lecture will be given in the Presbyterian church to which all are cordially invited. She represents the Bureau of Juvenile Welfare and Family Life of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education. She spends thirty days in Oregon, and Moro is fortunate to have her for one of those days. Remember the date, November fifth.

Moro Methodist Church

Meeting in the Methodist church next Sunday morning. Sunday school at 10 a.m. At 11 a.m. Mrs. R. A. Feenstra will bring a live message. Come and worship with us.

Revival services will begin at the Methodist church next Wednesday, November 3. Rev. F. R. Jackson of Wasco will be the principal speaker.

When contemplating a journey we make preparation. These meetings are that we might prepare to meet God. This is the greatly needed preparation to truly live here. "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and loose his own soul."

Grass Valley Methodist Church

Services at the Grass Valley Methodist church next Sunday are as follows: Sunday school 10 a.m.; preaching service 11 a.m.; Epworth League 7 p.m.

W. C. Bryant returned Monday from a six day visit at Oregon Agriculture college, Corvallis, and at the semi-centennial celebration of the founding of the University of Oregon, Eugene. Mr. Bryant was a student at the University 25 years ago. At that time the college buildings were only five in number, now the college campus contains 38 buildings.

Livestock Raising and Farming is A Business

If one PLAYS at livestock raising or farming, he PAYS. If he makes a business of it, he PROSPERS. And it is a business that requires hard work and deep study. Starting the herd, building it up and cashing in on it cannot succeed under guesswork.

Yet, livestock raising will go a long way in this community toward solving the farmer's economic problems. Furthermore, the FARMERS STATE BANK is only too glad to lend a helping hand along business-like lines.

It is fortunate that the farmers in this vicinity have the opportunity to visit and profit from the Pacific International Livestock Exposition in Portland. This year, October 30 to November 6, it is said the exhibits will outrival any previous livestock show in all America.
