

THE WHOLE TRUTH — AND NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH

I've always believed in the old adage "Give the devil his dues." That's why I'm appearing at this stage Almost minus the soles of my shoes. So far I've simply sat on the fence, Along with the rest of the boys, Watching eagerly for rhymes of pens, And Buckaroo Bill's orie eyes.

Now, I'm only the Printer's Devil, But some folks think I'm worse, And I'm absolutely on the level As I tell you about this curse.

I'm literally pushed into this fight, Therefore I'm here to stay While I write with all my might To tell you what people say.

They hail me on the street, They corner me at work; They think they're talkin' awful sweet But I — I simply sharpen my sword.

I don't mind bein' told the truth, But when it comes to accusation false I tell you what — I ain't no Ruth, Nor would I represent a Santa Claus.

Folks say, "Who's Sal?" And as I feebly blush, They say, "You're the gal From out the gray sagebrush."

Others say, "This here Billie —" Well, I won't either say, But they ramble on willie-nillie Accusin' other folks so gay.

Finally, they get the bright idea That one poet writes all three! Now I claim by grace of St. Cecelia That that's too much! Even for me.

I may be the Printer's Devil, But I refuse to be those hicks, And I tell you I'm on the level When I say I resent these kicks.

— The Printer's Devil

NO MORE FAMILY COUPES

The One Armed Driver And Three Front Seat Riders Under Legal Ban

One-armed driving, five-passenger flivver coupes and multi-colored windshield stickers, were among the numerous things put under a sudden ban by the new rulings of the state traffic department, according to an announcement made by state traffic officer Jay Saltzman Monday morning.

No more than three people over 12 years of age will be allowed in the front seat or compartment of any vehicle hereafter, nor may the third person be seated on the lap or knees of either of the other two, is the new ruling effective under the emergency clause.

Drivers of motor vehicles may not operate the machine while gently squeezing the waist of their wives or sweethearts — or other men's wives or sweethearts, as the case may be. Nor may they hold on their laps a baby, large or small, or any package or merchandise which might interfere with driving.

The tourist whose sole passion is to go out collecting windshield stickers during the summer may as well stay home, for hereafter no stickers will be allowed on any of the glass, front, side or rear, of any motor vehicle in the state. Official state permits for cars in transit etc., are excepted, of course.

Saltzman returned Monday from Salem, where he had been attending the state traffic officers convention. The meeting was one of the best in years. Among the speakers was the California traffic chief, who holds sway over a force of 300 officers.

BILL CAPITULATES — WITH THE HONORS OF WAR EXACTED

The warm, warm days of early spring, Happy notes that from hillside ring, The pulsing song of a bird on wing, Have robbed me of my anger.

A honking wedge of geese high-flying, Breezes soft o'er green fields sighing, The whistle of a sage rat crying, "Lay down your weapons, Wrangler."

I'm rough and tough to the rest of you, I may shoot and cuss till the air is blue And then in the spring when the world is new Fall victim to Spring-fever.

Thus ever, since the world was small, The bluffer they are — the easier fall. I'm merely a thread in a pattern, that's all, And fate's the mischievous weaver.

We'll meet as maiden or man to man A conf'rance we'll have and a treaty we'll scan. You drop your weapon — my shot gun I'll ban. Does that really please you? Do you think as a cowboy I'll not be game? My true self admit, tho it may be with shame? When you tell me yours, I will sign my own name. Then the fight will be thru.

MOTOR WAR MAY BREAK

Ford Flivver Magnate Likely to Make Sweeping Changes to Keep Ahead of Times

As the period approaches when the long rumored war within the motor industry is expected to be brought into the open, leaders in the industry continue to observe a tight-lipped silence respecting their plans.

Of the three prime factors in the rumored war — the Ford organization, the General Motors corporation and the Independents — from only the latter has there come a statement.

William C. Durant, a manufacturer in the independent field, announced that he shortly will reveal plans for a move that will rival anything in his already sensational career within the motor industry.

Rumor has it he plans a new low priced car, the product of a combine on which he is reported to have been working for more than a year.

Of the numerous plans attributed to the Ford company, one of which is given more than ordinary credence, is that it soon will announce a revised price schedule on the light car it now has on the market; this to be followed later by the introduction of a new four-cylindered machine with an air-cooled motor, and a changed transmission. The new car, it is reported, will be in the lower price class. Within a few months, according to these reports, Ford will be on the open market with a second new car, this an eight-cylindered machine of the middle-priced variety.

Indications are that the General Motors corporation will stand with its present line of cars.

WHEAT ON PROTEIN BASIS

It is thought by many that the time will soon come when the price of wheat will be determined very largely on its protein content. At present the protein test is of much importance and when there is a scarcity of high protein, premiums are paid on wheat which goes over a basic amount. The department of agriculture is taking up the matter of uniform testing in the different laboratories.

Spring is the best time to prune roses, in the opinion of the majority of rosegrowers in Oregon, says the landscape gardening department of the state college. Pruning should be done in early spring, just before life begins to show in the rose bush. Buds will be so swollen that the live branches can be distinguished from the dead ones. The place to prune with relation to the bud is easily determined.

SNOW DEPTH SETS RECORD

Central Oregon Mountains Have the Deepest Snow Fall of Recent Years

Not only is the depth of snow now mantling the central Oregon Cascades deeper than in any season in recent years, but the moisture content is unusually great, according to reports. The depth of the snow and the abnormal moisture content assures an abundance of water for several seasons, it is believed.

Back from Crescent Lake in the summit country of the central Oregon Cascades, the snow is 12 feet deep, it was learned from William Seals, who was in Bend last week from his traps in the Crescent Lake country. The snow is reported to be four and one-half feet deep at Crescent Lake and three feet deep in the town of Crescent Lake.

The entire range of the Cascades through central Oregon, from Crater Lake on the south to Mount Jefferson on the north, carries its heaviest load of snow in 10 or more years, it is the estimate of old timers who recall hard winters for a quarter of a century or more. For the first time in recent years, six feet of snow cover the exposed lava fields in the McKenzie pass country. The snow east of the pass is reported to be 10 feet deep.

Despite the fact that heavy snow fell in the central Oregon mountains in the past winter, the snow fall in the plateau country, from Bend north to Madras, has been comparatively light, but the rainfall in this section has been abnormally heavy. While snow was falling in the higher country, rain was falling in the lower territory.

The heavy snow in the summit territory, very likely, result in mountain roads being closed until late in the season. It is probable that the Century drive will not be open for traffic over its entire distance until June. Small canyons in the mountains are reported by trappers to be completely filled with drifted snow.

Of special interest to motorists is the snow conditions in the Three Sisters district, where, it is feared, the McKenzie pass road will remain blocked to traffic until the first of July unless a snow plow is taken over the summit route. It is recalled that the old road over the lava fields in 1917, just 10 years ago, was blocked until after July 4.

The frozen, rain packed snow in the mountains will resist the sun and warm breezes much longer than light snow, according to those who are in touch with snow conditions in the mountains.

47 STATES WILL BUILD ROADS

Will Construct Several Large Bridges and Maintain 239,847 Miles of Highway

The construction of 26,841 miles of road and the maintenance of 239,847 miles are included in the 1927 state highway programs of 47 states according to reports received by the bureau of public roads, United States department of agricultural. The programs also include the construction of a number of large bridges and the reconstruction of roads previously improved. On account of uncertainty of supporting legislation no estimate of the season's work is possible as yet in Connecticut.

In carrying out the above programs it is expected there will be expended under the supervision of the state highway departments in the 47 states a total of $648,488,000.

In addition to the state expenditures approximate estimates indicate that counties and other lesser subdivisions of government will expend during the year $475,000,000.

Of the expenditures by the state highway departments of the 47 states approximately $421,000,000 is the estimated amount for road construction and, according to present plans, more than $66,000,000 additional will be spent for new bridges. For reconstruction of existing roads it is estimated that the expenditure will be nearly $27,000,000, and for maintenance approximately $126,000,000.

HUGE CAVERN FOUND

Holes Drilled For Highway Drain Basin Lead to Lava Caves

Belief that a subterranean cavern, probably a big lava cave, has been tapped on The Dalles-California highway just south of Redmond is held by W. S. Hodge, highway maintenance engineer.

Mention of the possible cavern was made by Hodge when touching on the success of holes drilled near the highway bed to drain off water that had accumulated from irrigation districts. This hole was drilled 22 feet through solid rock when the cavity was struck. From this hole there at times issues a wind. At other times, there is a suction of air, the air movement varying with the temperature above ground.

North of Redmond, a hole over 134 feet deep was drilled near the highway bed for drainage. The first unit of this hole, 89 feet was through solid rock. Next, the drill bored through 75 feet of cinders. Below this, a gravel was struck. This gravel absorbs the waste water.

The drainage holes have proved successful, reported C. W. Wanser, division state highway engineer. Similar holes were drilled along subdrained sections of the highway several years ago.

U. of O. EXPELLS 53 STUDENTS

Fifty-three students were expelled from the University of Oregon for failure to meet the minimum scholastic standards during the winter term. Of this number 49 were men and 4 were women.

The number of flunkers is comparatively small because of the probation system under which poor students are given a second chance. The personnel committee gives special attention to weak students, and many are warned in time to improve their work or else withdraw before the end of the term.

Last fall term 72 were flunked out, and in the winter term of last year 41. The number on probation this fall was 120, and it is expected this number will be smaller for the spring term which has just started.
