Clarno Well Down 425 Feet

Work at the Clarno Basin company's oil well at Clarno is progressing rapidly, the drill being down 425 feet. It has successfully gone through a formation of oil and lime shale, through solid rock and now it has reached the strata which invariably covers oil bearing strata. Hopes are entertained that the oil cup will be struck before long.

It is a known fact that wherever drilling for oil has been made a "red beds" formation has always been encountered just before oil bearing strata was entered. The Texas, Oklahoma, Utah, Wyoming, California and other fields have been found to contain such formation and such invariably covers oil reservoirs.

One of the best geologists of the world, in speaking of the Clarno field, recently stated that he would not be surprised if oil were found at a depth no greater than 1,000 feet. That man has brought in more wells than any other one man in the United States. He has been consulting engineer for some of the largest oil companies of the country, and it was upon his recommendation that many fields were exploited and made heavy oil producers of oil. Therefore his statements regarding the Clarno field should be given credence.

The Clarno Basin Oil Company has under lease a total of 15,000 acres of land in the vicinity of their workings. Should oil be struck there a loud call will be made by other oil companies for a chance to lease from the parent company, and many will be willing to pay good prices for same, and still higher prices for a full control of sections whereon to sink wells. It is plain, therefore, that stockholders in the Clarno company will directly benefit by the leasing of such lands, and still more in case of sale outright.

Many geologists have investigated the Clarno formations. In nearly every case such investigators have declared that oil would be found there, and existence of "red beds" goes to show that they were not far amiss in their statements of deposits of oil in the Clarno basin.

In case oil is struck there price of stock will go to the sky. At present $10 will purchase a share of stock and that, in case oil is found, is confidentially expected to reach a figure many times what the initial investment cost. We all like to gamble a little, therefore by taking a share of stock in the Clarno Basin Oil Company, which carries better than a fifty-fifty chance, subscribers have a chance to "clean up" but with little outlay. People are prone to say they will "try anything once," and here is an opportunity to make a try on what appears to be almost a sure thing.

Some knees have come out squarely for publicity.

Walter A. Morris, plaintiff, vs. William Grant, the unknown heirs of William Grant; Mrs. T. J. Robinson, and also all other persons or parties unknown claiming any right, title, estate, lien or interest in the real estate described in the complaint herein, defendants.
To William Grant; the unknown heirs of William Grant; Mrs. T. J. E. Parker, Judge of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Sherman County, made and entered on the 27th day of June, 1928.
