GRETA GARBO ALLURING IN HER NEW FILM

Greta Garbo, who, during her entire residence in Hollywood, has never participated in the social whirl of the screen capital, preferring the seclusion of her Santa Monica apartment, had to learn the newest ballroom steps for her latest screen vehicle, "Wild Orchids," which, comes to Moro Theater Saturday, March 2.

Sedate Scandinavian waltz rhythms and the syncopated fast-moving dance numbers popular in the United States are as far apart, obviously, as a tropical breeze and a Canadian snow storm. Miss Garbo's early training in the principles of the dance at the Royal Dramatic Academy in Stockholm proved of little value when it came to going through a half-dozen fox trots and semi-Charlestons. Dance instructors were hurriedly summoned from a Los Angeles school and the young Swedish actress quickly re-learned the basic points of 1928 ballroom dancing, Western Hemisphere style.

The scenes in "Wild Orchids" calling for ballroom dancing take place on board a ship sailing from San Francisco to Java, where the principal dramatic sequences of the new story are unrolled.

Sidney Franklin, who directed Norma Shearer in "The Actress," handled the megaphone for the new picture, with Nils Asther, young Swedish actor, and Lewis Stone, veteran character actor are the two principal supporting roles of the play.

Moro Banks Combine

With the close of business last Saturday afternoon the two banks in Moro ceased to exist as separate business enterprises and a new institution the Moro State Bank, came into the business life of the community through the purchase of the assets of the Farmers State Bank and the Bank of Moro.

The new bank started business Monday morning with a capital stock of $50,000, all subscribed and paid in; a surplus fund of $7,500, and undivided profits of $455.55.

Officers of the new bank are W. H. Ragsdale, president; L. Barnum, vice-president; W. D. Wallan, cashier; J. L. Searcy, assistant cashier; board of directors, W. H. Ragsdale, L. Barnum, J. R. Morgan, J. W. Hoech, and P. C. Axtell.

Officers of the new bank state that they will not engage in any other business interest than strictly straight banking, with the exception of continuing the insurance agencies formerly conducted by the Bank of Moro. Patrons of both banks are requested to continue using old check books until new ones can be supplied.

As a result of the combination of the two banks, several changes have been made in local affairs. F. E. Fortner, former cashier of the Bank of Moro, has opened an office in the bank building and will represent the W. W. M. Co. in this section of the county.

S. W. Searey, cashier of the Farmers State Bank, has moved to The Dalles where he will be employed by the Cascade Tractor & Equipment Co.

J. C. McKean will continue as manager of the Farmers Elevator & Supply Co. and also act as manager of the tractor company for this county, with offices in the former Farmers State Bank building.
