Boy Scouts This Year Will Be Given Swim Lessons

With the approach of summer comes the thought of camp, and the boy scout camps for this summer will feature that important part of every boy's development, swimming.

Beginners will take the water at 11:00 o'clock for a half hour, and again at 4:45 p. m. for 45 minutes which enable the guard to give instructions in both the fundamentals and the test work that must be done before a scout can become first class.

Camp Ringwaak located at Scout lake near Suttle lake in the central Oregon playground area will open July 7th for two weeks for scouts, and an additional week for the boy rangers.

Reservations for this camp are being received by Dog H. Peoples, 118 Oregon street, Bend, Oregon, who announces that prompt reservations are necessary to enable the camping committee to make proper arrangements.

Camp Limberlost at Lost lake, 28 miles from Hood River, will open August 11th for two ten day periods closing August 30th in time for the scouts to return home and be ready to enter school after Labor Day.

Reservations for Limberlost to be made or mailed to Courthouse, The Dalles, Oregon. Scout Executive W. W. Belcher will be the camp director at both camps.

A new camp award, an overseas cap, will be given each scout as they arrive in camp. On it will be placed the different letters denoting the points the wearer has earned with the "honor point system" used in these camps.

This cap award is something different from any past year, and any scout will be proud to receive and wear one.

Only Veteran of Civil War In Three Counties

Mr. and Mrs. A. Nish drove up from The Dalles Thursday for a short visit at the S. A. Hall family home east of Moro. Mr. Nish is now past 84 years in age and very active for his advanced years.

Farm Must Compete With Industry For Labor

Prof. H. B. Walker of Kansas State Agricultural college sees great good for farmers in the cooperative study of the problem of taking electric power to the farm.

"During the past six years, more than twenty states have formed Committees on the Relation of Electricity to Agriculture. In order to understand why they were organized it is necessary to know something about the status of agriculture.

Our agriculture has set a world standard in efficiency of man power and in so doing has lowered the number engaged in food production to three in every ten. One result is that agriculture must now compete with industry for high priced labor.

The coming of electricity to the farm represents the third epoch in American agriculture, following hand labor and power machinery. The labor and power machinery. The growth of the use of electric service will be in direct proportion to its usefulness.

Town Talk

Mrs. G. C. Akers is nursing a sprained ankle.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Johnston were visitors here last weekend from Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ruggles and daughter were visiting in The Dalles Wednesday.

J. C. McKean of Moro and R. H. McKean of Wasco were business visitors at Hermiston last Sunday.

Douma Bros. shipped from Moro Sunday night a double deck car of Hampshire sheep to the Portland market.

A. H. Barnum left here by train Sunday night in charge of a carload of cattle he was shipping to the Portland market.

Cutting of right of way for hay has started in many of the Sherman county wheat fields, particularly north of Wasco.

M. G. Melzer was driving a new 4-door special Oldsmobile sedan Wednesday, delivery being made on Tuesday of this week.

O. A. Ramsey was busy this week taking out the old loading spouts at the Hay Canyon elevator and this week he will be busy replacing the worn wheat loading channels with new.

Carroll Sayers last weekend unloaded a carload of 25 cattle which he secured at Shaniko and which he will place on his farm as feeders to be sold on the market this fall and next spring.

Clarence Sparling brought in his farm phone to the Moro office Tuesday to be repaired. Since the electrical storm he could hear and talk over the phone, but could not ring out when calling.

Siegfried Thomsen was in The Dalles Wednesday, completing the purchase of an isolated tract of land at the United States land office.

Hans Thompson, when in town Monday afternoon, stated that the wheat straw was so short on his farm crop this year that he saw a number of English Sparrows on their knees in the field, trying to get breakfast the day he came into town.

At the last meeting of the American Legion auxiliary, held June 12, Mrs. Theo. Johnston was elected president for the coming year; Mrs. Tom Seary vice president; Mrs. Otis Baker secretary-treasurer.

Bill Brinkert was in town Monday afternoon on his way home to Grass Valley from The Dalles where he had his tonsils lanced that day at the hospital. He said his voice was so changed in consequence that he could not help remembering the change in a Magpie's voice when its tongue was slit to help it speak correct English.

Carroll Sayers bought a cow last September, paying $80. He pastured and fed it until last week when he sold it to a buyer. The weight of the cow, when sold, was 1265 pounds.

The social meeting of the woman's missionary society of the Presbyterian church, was held Wednesday afternoon at the farm home of Mrs. C. R. Morrison, was attended by 27 members and visitors.

Miss Ida May Johnston, formerly resident of Moro, and William W. Grant of Springfield, Missouri, were married in Kansas City Wednesday, June 15, at the Grand Avenue Methodist Temple, Rev. I. M. Hargett, pastor of the church using the ring ceremony.

Rally Meet Well Attended

The annual Sherman county Sunday School rally at Grass Valley, was well attended, six schools being represented.

Rev. Hypes led the song services in an exceptionally fine way with Miss Laura Urquhart at the piano. Immediately after the song service ten classes met for a forty-five minute session.

The flag finally being awarded to Grass Valley Baptist Sunday School on a technical point.

After the liberal collection of $22.91 for the county work the day was closed with a short vesper service.

As a health precaution all cats entering England from other countries must go into quarantine for six months.

Members From Moro Attend District Church Council

The eleventh annual session of the northwest district council of The Assemblies of God, comprising the states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, convened this year at Yakima from June 18th to 23rd inclusive.

Of these who preach the same doctrinal truths but work independently is Dr. Chas. Price, formerly a well-known Congregational Modernist minister who held pastorates in leading churches in Oakland, Lodi and other California cities.

The Full Gospel doctrines may be thus briefly stated — the inspiration of the Scriptures — the New Testament as the only rule for faith and practice; the deity of Jesus Christ; the need for old-fashioned salvation from sin as evidenced within by the witness of the Spirit and without by true righteousness; and, since Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today and forever, he forgives sins, heals sick bodies, and baptizes with the Holy Ghost as in Apostolic days.

Early Pioneer Couple Visit Their Old Home

Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Rollins were visiting in Moro on Monday on their way to visit their old home at Grass Valley from Portland, where Mr. Rollins now lives and has property interests.

Mr. Rollins in the early days ran a freighter outfit through Sherman county to Canyonville. He also built the first Moro Hotel, trading it to Mr. Williams, who operated it the early 90's and whose heirs sold it later to W. C. Rutledge.

Noted Screen Dog Is Dead

The movie picture police dog Strongheart, who came to the silver screen from the battlefields of Europe, died this week at Hollywood.

Strongheart, trained in the kennels of the Berlin police department and with a splendid record in the German Red Cross during the World war, was the first animal to attain stardom in the movies.

The Nation On Wheels

According to the Oregon State Motor Association, some 46 million of people will tour the United States in automobiles this year.

Almost 50 million people — more people than lived in France at the time of the French Revolution — roaming about the country in care-free vagabondage!

There have been nomadic nations in the past. The great plains of Russia and Siberia knew tribes of roaming horsemen, who pitched their tents in the fall a thousand miles from the place where spring had found them.

But these people roamed of necessity. Their migrations were caused by economic conditions; the search for fresh pasture lands drove them on.

The American nomad roams for the fun of roaming. No necessity drives him. The open road calls him, every summer, and away he goes — to return, a few weeks later, brown and fit, ready for another year on the same old job, and better acquainted with his neighbor.

6-ton Wheat Truck Wrecks Chas. Kenny Auto

A heavy auto truck, said to be loaded with six tons of wheat, met the Chas. W. Kenney auto last Sunday in a collision south of Condon near service creek. Both machines were badly wrecked, wheat and pieces of both machines were scattered about the scene of the crash.

Anita, daughter of Mr. Kenny, was reported as most seriously injured of those in the accident. Both jaws are reported to have been broken, her teeth knocked out and serious body and head injuries. She was immediately taken to a hospital at The Dalles.

The cause of the crash is said to have been unavoidable. The truck coming into the highway from a side road as the Kenny car rounded a blind curve, which local people say has caused other accidents as serious as this one.

Friends say that Mr. Kenny is fully insured with several different kinds of automobile accident policies that cover all phases of the accident insofar as the financial burden is concerned.
