

British Plan Wheat Market System For Their Empire

DOMINIONS WOULD OBTAIN MANUFACTURED ARTICLES FOR SURPLUS GRAIN

A new wheat pool enabling Great Britain to regulate the price of grain raised in the dominions, has been suggested as one of the means for welding the British empire into an economic unit.

The scheme, devised by E. F. Wise, laborite member of parliament, is designed to give British farmers a stable price for their wheat, to protect them against the dumping of foreign subsidized grain, and to encourage the dominions to purchase British manufactured goods in exchange for standing orders in Britain for their grain.

Wise would create a public corporation to purchase in bulk the wheat output of the dominions, store it in England, and release it on the market in a steady flow to avoid speculation and sharp fluctuations.

The corporation would be composed of expert wheat buyers dominated by the board of trade or the board of agriculture and financed by the exchequer. Operations would be on a non-political, non-profit basis.

A wheat import board would supply a regular standing order to the Canadian and Australian wheat pools for most of their crops. Grain would be released according to the amount of British wheat available.

Wise's proposals are based on the contention that British farmers are entirely at the mercy of dominion and foreign exporters.

Grain dumped in England by foreign producers would be purchased by the import board and pooled with the dominion grain. The profit made by buying at dumping prices would be placed to a reserve fund.

Accidents of Mental Origin

Ninety per cent of accidents are of mental origin, according to Dr. Harold S. Hulbert of the department of mental and nervous diseases, University of Illinois. In an address before the National Safety Council, Dr. Hulbert explained that these accidents are the result not of insanity or mental incompetence, but of thoughtlessness or carelessness.

This authority says that a person who is comfortable in mind and body, adjusted to his working and domestic life, and is not ill, perplexed, discontented or fatigued stands but a small chance of becoming the causative factor in an accident. On the other hand anger, fatigue, surprise and other such factors are the causes of many accidents, says Dr. Hulbert.

We cannot, of course, cure such emotional disturbances as anger and surprise, nor can we offset fatigue, but the public should understand these causes of accidents and guard against them. A worker who grows tired should become more careful because of it. An automobile driver who is suffering from some slight illness should watch his driving more carefully than when he is in good health. Once we manage to exert some control over the "mental hazard," our accident record will begin to decrease.

A candidate for GOVERNOR who has won signal success by his own efforts

A worthy leader for the new Oregon Spirit

CHARLES HALL, Republican for Governor, started with nothing and carved his way to success with his own hands. He is the kind of man red-blooded Oregonians admire and respect, and whom they will be proud to see in the Governor's chair. He will be a worthy champion and leader for the new Oregon Spirit—the spirit that is going to spell Progress for Oregon.

A vote for Hall is a vote for "Forward Oregon." "Industrialize Oregon!"

Held at 4th, Hall for Governor Club, L. D. Fisher, Manager, Portland, Ore.

Moro Woman's Club Notes

(By Mrs. Theo. Johnston)

Another interesting garden program is planned for April 18th. Some of the discussions will be "Burbank" by Mrs. L. E. Kaseberg, "Home Gardens and Their Relation to Community Life" by Mrs. Fred Fortner of Wasco and "4-H Club Work" by Viola Hansen.

Mrs. G. J. Frankel, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, honored two clubs of Sherman county recently with her presence at their meetings and her valuable message to the members.

The first meeting was a benefit tea held at the home of Mrs. R. H. Johnson of Grass Valley Tuesday, April 1, by the Grass Valley Club. An excellent program was given and a delightful lunch served. The Moro Woman's Club was well represented at this tea and it wishes to express its appreciation for the kind invitation extended.

The other meeting which Mrs. Frankel attended was a regular meeting of the Moro Woman's Club held Wednesday, April 2. After a short business meeting—Mrs. W. C. Bryant, the president, surrendered her chair to Mrs. Howard Conlee, the director for the afternoon. The club song, "America, the Beautiful" opened the program, this being followed by a review of the March Clubwoman by Mrs. Theodore Johnston. As a climax in this review Mrs. Johnston read the following selection by David Starr Jordan. "Today is your day and mine, the only day we have, the day in which we play our part. What our part may signify in the great whole we may not understand; but we are here to play it, and now is our time. This we know: it is a part of action, not of whining. It is a part of love not of cynicism. It is for us to express love in terms of human helpfulness."

The camp fire group under the guardianship of Mrs. F. E. Fortner then entered the room in costume exemplifying some of the camp fire work. Mrs. Fortner reminded everyone of the heroic deed accomplished by Eva Miller last winter when she saved her sister, Ione, from the fire which destroyed their home. For this, Mrs. Fortner had the pleasure of presenting Eva, one of the camp fire girls, with a medal which represents a national camp fire honor. Only few Oregon girls have received such a medal.

A vivid description of St. Mark's Cathedral in Venice was given by Mrs. E. A. Cushman. The paper, "Milan, Italy" by Mrs. M. E. McKee was much enjoyed. This included the history of Milan as well as a description of the modern city. Another city of Italy was brought to mind when Mrs. T. B. Searcy gave an interesting discussion of Genoa.

The message given by Mrs. G. J. Frankel was intensely interesting and valuable to all persons connected with club work. Due to lack of space only a few of the points made will be mentioned here. The program for the state convention, May 12-15, as planned by the two hostess clubs of Salem was outlined.

Mrs. Frankel made all familiar with work accomplished and interesting features of the General Federation of Women's Club which was held at Swampscott, Massachusetts. A memorial service for Katherine Lee Bates who contributed the song, "America, the Beautiful" was most impressive. She received the inspiration for this song in 1893 when visiting Pike's Peak. A display of dolls in foreign costume was one of the outstanding features of this great convention. They were dressed by foreign women who had recently come to America, this contact with club work serving as an opening wedge to interest and welcome these women to American ideals. A program exchange is highly recommended whereby papers prepared by club women may be read in other clubs studying the same subjects. A junior membership which trains young people for leadership is extremely valuable. Mrs. Frankel was so pleased to hear Mrs. Lulu D. Crandall of The Dalles, who is head of Indian Welfare Work in Oregon, mentioned at Swampscott in connection with her interests in Indian work.

When making the report for Oregon at Swampscott Mrs. Frankel especially emphasized art and the scholarship loan fund. The amount of our fund seems large compared to those in many eastern states when we consider the fact that our state has less population. The origin of the fund in Oregon is interesting. After arranging for the finances covering the cost of the statue of Sacajawea for the Lewis and Clark Exposition at Portland in 1905, $23.65 was left over from the fund. This $23.65 was the beginning of Oregon's scholarship loan fund which is now an approximate total of $35,000, with a total pledge of $50,000 to be raised by the woman's clubs of Oregon.

The gift to Mrs. Frankel from the Moro Woman's Club was a picture taken near Metolious. All appreciated "Sing Along" and "Amaryllis" which were special numbers arranged by Mrs. Martha Cope and sung by Mrs. G. C. Akers, Miss Margaret Scruggs, Mrs. Harry Pinkerton and Mrs. J. J. Schaeffer. A delicious lunch was served by the camp fire girls the proceeds of which was added to their fund.

Weather Affects Prices of National Wheat Markets

The United States department of agriculture has a dispatch of April 7th from representatives at Shanghai, saying that more than half the mills in China are idle waiting for the new wheat crop, which will be available next month; that weather conditions in the Yangtze valley has been favorable and prospects are for a good crop.

The department says of conditions in the United States: "Wheat markets strengthened materially during the week ending April 5, influenced principally by less favorable crop prospects and an improved demand. Reports of deterioration in the winter wheat areas as result of dry weather was the principal strengthening factor. Moisture is badly needed in Oklahoma and in the southern and western portions of Kansas and marked signs of deterioration are appearing in these areas. Additional moisture is also needed to put the ground in good condition for spring seeding in the northwest and in the Canadian provinces. Seeding is started in southern Minnesota and some South Dakota points, but seeding operations in the spring wheat areas have been generally retarded by the cold weather."

Eastern Oregon is short of moisture and in many places there will be a short crop unless a plentiful rain comes in the near future.

Moro School Notes

The local declamatory tryouts will be held at the schoolhouse on the evening of April 29. On this same day an exhibit of work done by the students during the school year will be displayed for the public.

The Sherman county typing contest will be held at Wasco on April 18. The winners will go to Pendleton the next day, April 19, to enter in the Eastern Oregon contest.

In the recent Curtis publishing company contest, the "reds" captained by Lamer Sayers and Josephine Johnson, won the week's battle over the "greens." The winners sold 31 subscriptions and the losers 21. Lois Bryant and Harold Thogerson proved to be the best salesmen, each having made ten sales.

Dr. D. V. Poling from the extension service of Oregon State College spoke to the high school student body for about thirty minutes Wednesday morning on a topic suggested by the season of the year—Time Wasters. Dr. Poling stressed the fact that high school students should get into the habit of working first and playing afterward and that this habit would be especially valuable in college years, when there are so many distractions from study. Since this is the spring fever season, Dr. Poling's message was especially pertinent.

One day last week the seventh and eighth grades, under the supervision of Mr. Adams, school board member, set out a large number of trees on the school ground. The grounds are to be further improved soon by the seeding of the space between the schoolhouse and the sidewalks around the building.

Miss Cole's room won the banner last week with perfect attendance.

The seniors have set May 25 as the date for baccalaureate services, and May 29 for commencement exercises. A speaker has not yet been selected. The fairgrounds will be the scene of a track meet between Wasco and Moro on Saturday, April 12. On April 19 Moro is sending a team to the Mid-Columbia relay meet at Hood River.

Growth of Electrics

Electricity is the greatest power ever harnessed by man, says Multnomah (Ore.) Citizen and its electric effects are felt in every phase of our social and industrial civilization. In all probability, the achievements of the past 20 years are but a prelude to future successes.

The electric industry, great as it is, is but at the beginning of its development. In 1913 there were 8,000,000 customers for electric service and now there are over 19,000,000. Electric service has been extended to 4,000 communities in the past seven years. There are 150,000 miles of high voltage line in the nation, 14,000 miles of which have come into existence in the past five years.

Over half a million farms now receive electric service and the number is growing rapidly as economic and construction problems are solved. American industries gained 10,000,000 horsepower in motors in a decade.

The full benefits of electricity are just beginning to be felt. A vast field for future growth exists. It is said that few homes are completely lighted. Electric refrigerators, stoves and other such time and labor saving appliances are just coming into popular favor. Farm electrification is in its infancy. New uses for increased amount of power in industry are being found daily.

News Items From Kent

Gerald Kelly is now chief assistant in the J. E. Norton store and Post-office.

A reunion of the members of the Guyton family was held at the home of W. C. Guyton Sunday.

William Mitchell has been in Grass Valley the past few days moving a house for J. S. Newcomb.

J. L. Davis left Sunday for Spokane to attend the regional meeting of the grain growers.

Mrs. W. F. Guyton left for Oregon City Monday, and will spend a few days at that place before going to California.

Word was received here Monday morning that Howard Wattles was instantly killed while working on a high voltage line near Maupin. He was well known here a few years ago.

The Kent school baseball team drove to Wapinitia Sunday to take the long end of a 6 to 5 score with the team there. A return game will be played here later. The exact date is not yet known.

Material is now on the ground for the Shell Oil Co. plant and the men in charge came Monday and have the ground staked out. It will be rushed to completion they say. It will occupy the space between the hotel and the railroad, and will be a great improvement in Kent.

Three Crop Pests That Are Believed To Be Serious

A warning to Oregon farmers to be prepared to combat three old pests which early indications show will likely be troublesome this year, has just been issued by Dr. Don C. Mote, entomologist of the Oregon State college experiment station. These three are the tent caterpillar, the garden cutworm and the various species of grasshoppers.

While these will not all be serious in all sections, early reports coupled with known favorable conditions for their development make advisable precautionary measures, says Dr. Mote. Bait traps last fall captured an unusually large number of cutworm moths, while the long dry fall was unusually favorable for grasshopper egg laying. Some early reports have already come in concerning tent caterpillars.

Methods of control for all these pests have been worked out and are explained in available circulars or bulletins obtainable from any county agent or direct from the college. Counsel with county agents about local conditions is the best practice, says Dr. Mote.

Penny Fuse is Destructive

Two pennies placed in a fuse box when standard fuse-plugs blew out, caused two children to be burned to death, says a Las Vegas, Nev. Mexico dispatch. Short-circuit, caused by insertion of the coppers, started a fire that destroyed the home.
