Eggs Given as Gifts For Thanksgiving Dinners

Five thousand needy families of Cleveland, Ohio, offered up prayers of genuine gratitude on Thanksgiving Day. Their thanks were due to the generosity of a prominent Cleveland physician and business man who, through the Associated Charities, supplemented their Thanksgiving menu with a gift of what he considers the virtually perfect food—a carload of eggs.

"The egg has been a staple article of diet for so long that it has come to be one of those things that are simply taken for granted," Dr. Smith was quoted as saying. "Few people realize that eggs rank with milk as our most nearly perfect food. Eggs contain everything that the body needs for development and because of this they form an especially desirable food item for our poor families."

Home Wedding at the Geo. Hennigan Home

Thursday afternoon at one o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hennigan, six miles east of Moro, occurred a most pleasant home wedding, when Mrs. Frances Anderson was united in marriage with Mr. A. O. Ekstrom of Gresham.

After the ceremony and the usual felicitations the company sat down to a most delicious wedding dinner, which was also the annual Thanksgiving feast.

The occasion was a real homecoming affair. All of Mr. and Mrs. Hennigan's family, both children and grandchildren, were present except the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hennigan of Wasco, who had been left at home because of the bad weather.

The groom's parents Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Ekstrom of Gresham and their family were also present. The day was of greater interest, being the forty eighth anniversary of the landing of Mr. Ekstrom in Portland. At that time there was no railroad into Portland and it was necessary to come to San Francisco and from there by boat.

There were none present but the immediate families of the contracting parties as follows: Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Ekstrom, Miss Alice Ekstrom, Miss Frances Ekstrom, Miss Margaret Ekstrom, Mr. Clifford Ekstrom, Mr. Carl Ekstrom, all of Gresham, Oregon; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hennigan, Master Hal Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Kenny and five children, and Geo. Hennigan Jr., Moro; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Williams and three children from Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hennigan, Wasco; Miss Sadie Williams of Moro.

All Oregon Counties Have Students at State College

Every county in Oregon, 25 other states, 3 territories and seven foreign countries are represented by students at Oregon State college this year, a recent report shows. Of the 3321 students in regular courses this fall, 2843 come from the 36 Oregon counties. Multnomah, Benton, Marion and Clackamas counties lead in numbers, while Wheeler, Jefferson and Curry counties have the least with three, four and five respectively.

Buttermaking Short Course Announced by Oregon State

Another step in preparing Oregon to become known as a center of high quality butter is announced in plans for the annual buttermakers' short course at Oregon State college January 19-27. This course is intended for men with some practical experience in creameries.

The lesson-sermon topic for the service next Sunday morning will be "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced."

Golden Text: Romans 12:21. Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good.

Responsive Reading: Isaiah 51:3, 4, 7-11.

Reading room open daily where all authorized Christian Science literature may be read, borrowed or purchased. The public is cordially invited to attend the church services and visit the reading room.

The Full Gospel Assembly "The our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day." 2 Cor. 4:16.

We take good care of the "outward man," give it three good meals a day; see it is protected from heat, cold, etc. But alas! how few pay attention to "the inward man," the soul that shall never die! It is ignored, the hunger that God alone can satisfy, is denied it, and every attempt to feed it on the husks of pleasure and vanity, only leave it more shriveled and starved.

Usual Sunday meetings. Sunday School at 10:00 a. m. Preaching follows at 11 and again at 7:30 p. m.

Bible Study at the home of R. J. Ginn Thursday evening at 7:45. J. D. and Mrs. Miller, pastors.

Methodist Church Notes Church School Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Preaching next Sunday evening at 7:30.

The Ladies Aid Society meets every Thursday afternoon at 2:00. The theme of the sermon Sunday evening is "Seeing Stars."

Sometimes we are asked "can God bless those who continually sin against Him?" The Bible tells us that God is a merciful God but that he will not always chide neither will he keep his mercy forever. If we live right today tomorrow and the future will care for itself.

Today's Path. "The path I've trod today is not for me again; The morn will bring new scenes, New visions to my eyes; Each leaf and twig, each tiny blade of grass Will greet the day a little older grown and changed.

I cannot tread this path again Help me dear Lord, That deeds of kindness, thoughts of love, and tender words, May fill each day and vain regrets may never come; My path leads on, I cannot tread its maze again.

The church with a cordial welcome. F. A. Ginn, pastor.

Presbyterian Church. The Woman's Missionary Society will have charge of the services at 11:00 a. m. The program will be a group of pantomimes entitled "Steward's Progress."

PROGRESS? YES, PROGRESS! Admittedly strange, during this period of depression, yet a fact. And why? Simply because members of the Keystone class, individually and collectively, insist on it.

This class thinks progress, believes it, talks it, acts it and realizes it. To-wit: twenty nine persons gathered at the Forrest Peets home last Sunday night to have a part in the mission study course. This is the best attendance record so far and all enjoyed the clever leadership of Mr. W. H. Ragsdale. Earlier in the day, this class had a splendid Sunday school session, considering a wealthy ruler, and was ably guided in the study by Mrs. C. H. Larson.

But, speaking of the study class—you who enjoy Spanish literature, how much do you know about Garcia Godoy? Toussaint L'Ouverture—how many remember when a girl, representing the Moro schools, won a gold medal in the county contest with an oration about this great man? The political situation in the Antilles; how much sugar Cuba produces; the racial characteristics of the different Islanders—all these things we are learning.

The moral? Affiliate yourself with a group who are forging ahead in every good way. Mrs. Avery Martin will have charge of the class next Sunday night, and the subject matter deals with Santa Domingo, the cradle of America. The meeting place is the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Larson.

Mrs. Margaret Peets will direct the class next Sunday morning, when the will consider "the business man."

Hard-Bolled Small Jane was having dinner with her grandparents, and her grandfather was serving her hard-bolled eggs in halves. He had warned her not to drop the yolk. When he fixed the second egg she piped out: "Be careful, grandpa, and don't drop the set out."
