THE NEW COURT HOUSE.

Sherman county's court house is now an assured fact. And while we have so far gotten along very well without it, the time has arrived when the need of a public building begins to be felt. Any country so well fixed as Sherman county has no excuse for being without a house of such kind. And our present county court should be complimented on their success in the matter. It would be impossible for a better plan and a better promise of a substantial building to be had. It will cost $6,665 $665 is subscribed by the people of Moro, and the $6,000 by the county.

The plan was drafted by Architect Chas. H Burggraf, of Salem and he has taken care to make it very convenient. The first floor is where the county officers may be found, and care has been taken to arrange them systematically dependent on each other, so they could not be more convenient. The upstairs is where court will be held, and is supplied with good, comfortable side rooms arranged most handy.

Mr. C. A. Peterson, of Corvallis, has the contract for building, and his reputation is above reproach. He will give Sherman county a building she may well be proud of.

The temperance people of East Portland and those of Wasco seem to look at things differently, and to take different methods of fighting the fiend alcohol. At home the council is asked to and did pass an ordinance closing up everything on Sunday. A man might be ever so anxious for a temperance drink, yet he must wait till Monday, while in East Portland the temperance folks have started a lemonade stand in opposition to the grog shops. Under such circumstances a man may have no excuse whatever for using grog. He has abundant opportunity to obtain refreshment that is healthy and invigorating, and that will not rob him of his wits. Verily, the people of East Portland have had experience enough that they should know the better way. And knowing it they are certainly broad minded enough to follow the broadest pathway.

The reports from the banks of Oregon and the Pacific Northwest show a very large aggregate of money on deposit—over $10,000,000 in Oregon and about $26,000,000 in Oregon, Washington and Idaho—which is both a good and a bad indication. It is good as showing that our people have been making a great deal of money and saving a good portion of it; and it is bad as showing further that this money save is idle, or only drawing bank interest, instead of being put to work developing our resources and building up needed manufactures. It is money invested in industries, not lying idle, that makes a country great.—Telegram.

Notwithstanding reports to the contrary, President McKinley has not given up his Western trip, but some time during the season we will be permitted to welcome him. In this trip the president acts very sensible. No man should be placed at the head of the nation without a thorough knowledge of it. And the proper way to acquire it is by seeing it personally.

Governor Geer announces his confidence in being able to raise another regiment for Philippine service. Doubtless he is right. While the experience of those who have tried it may not have been the most pleasant, yet Oregon people never shirk their duty. There is no doubt about Oregon boys never failing to do their share.

A French naturalist asserts that if the world should become birdless man could not inhabit it after nine years' time. In spite of all the sprays and poisons that could be manufactured for the destruction of insects, the bugs and slugs would simply eat up all the orchards and the crops.—Ex.

The employes of the Columbia Southern Railway are to be complimented on their ready response to the call for funds to build a monument in memory of Oregon heroes. Their share looms up prominently in the list, and gives us opportunity to feel proud of them.

The engineers on the proposed road down the Washington side of the Columbia have gotten well down to Vancouver. Verily, it will look prosperous when one can see a train on either side of the river.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson has announced that he will visit the Pacific coast. He is wise. Every man who accepts such an office should travel over the country he labors for.

Reports from the Philippine islands say that Spanish commercial men are selling out their property there, mostly to English capitalists. Which means that in case the United States does not give place to the Islands and protection of property—which can be given only by staying there and suppressing the Tagal rebellion—England will step in and do the job.—Oregonian.

Otis is wise in not sending any more volunteers home till he is furnished with more regulars. Such people as those Filipinos are only to be trusted when a superior force is over them.

Begins to look like trouble in Cuba. A royalist party is being formed, and if not squelched right away, will cause an undesirable rupture

The young men comprising the base ball nine that played the Goldendales desire to thank the boys of that city for the royal treatment they received at Goldendale on the Fourth. They also extend a challenge to the Wasco boys who were not with them across the river, the game to come off at any time the challenged party sees fit.

Persons troubled with diarrhoea will be interested in the experience of Mr. W. M. Bush, clerk of Hotel Dorrance, Providence, R. I. He says: "For several year I have been almost a constant sufferer from diarhoea, the frequent attacks completely prostrating me and rendering me unfit for my duties at this hotel. About two years ago a traveling salesman kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Much to my surprise and delight its effects were immediate. Whenever I feel symptoms of the disease I would fortify myself against the attack with a few doses of this valuable remedy. The result has been very satisfactory and almost complete relief from the affliction." For sale by Marsh & Medler, druggists. j

Fourth of July Picnic.

By invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Madden a number of friends spent the 4th in their delightful grove. And while the gentle western zephyr fanned the general landscape with sufficient force to run a sawmill, the shelter and protection was so complete that the wind scarcely rocked the many hammocks hung promiscuously about in the shade and comfort and happiness reigned supreme.

A bountiful picnic dinner was spread by the ladies of the party, and lemonade, delicious cakes and all the good things usual on such occasions gladdened the hearts of all. There were sports, too, to bring the old back to youth again, and the merry laughter of happy ones rang through the trees as the eggs fell from the spoons under the unskillful guidance of the runner, or at the very graceful lighting of the boys in jumping from the trapeze. Even the colonel made a flying leap from the pendant rings that could not be surpassed by the best athlete in Ringling Bros' circus.

As evening drew on, all departed for their homes, thanking Mr. and Mrs. Madden for making it possible for them to spend so pleasant a day.

ONE OF THE PARTY.

United Brethren.

The United Brethren held their annual conference last week at Philomath. The session one year hence is to convene in Portland. Philomath college received a large share of attention. Council Proceedings.

Monday evening, July 3, 5899.

Report of Marshal C. A. Akers read and approved, and a warrant ordered drawn in favor of marshal to satisfy his claims for impounding stock.

Resignation of marshal read and accepted.

An amendment to Ordinance No. 22 was read, discussed and laid on table till next meeting

N. Draper was then placed in nomination for councilman. Vote resulted in a tie, and was decided by mayor, candidate being elected.

Bill of Mary Booth of $31 25 was read, and with city attorney's bill of $50, was referred to the finance committee.

Committee on council room reported that Wm. Barnett offered to furnish room next to Ellis', painted inside and out, and furnished complete with desk for books, for $40 per annum. Offer was accepted.

Charley Jones Heard From Again.

To those needing machine extras, such as castings, leather, rubber or link belting, or anything in the way of repairs, if they will hand me their order and let me send to my factory for them, I can sell them these goods much cheaper, simply because I have nothing invested. The sooner you hand in your orders the better for all concerned. I have a stock of extras on hand for combined harvesters, the Hodge and Randolph headers, also Jackson self feeders. Very truly,

CHARLES E. JONES.

To Exchange.

I have about $1500 of Portland suburban property to exchange for young horsea weighing 1150 to 1200 lbs. This property is in a superior location Now is your opportunity.

WING MOVEMENTS OF BIRDS.

Well Marked Characteristics of Those with Sustained Power of Flight.

All birds of great and sustained powers of flight have one well marked characteristic—they have long wings, with sharply pointed ends. And the general truth of this will be at once admitted if the rule be applied to species celebrated for rapid flight. Another point is worthy of notice. The apparent speed of flight to an unpracticed eye is most deceptive. A heron, as it rises and flaps languidly along the course of a brook, appears not only to progress slowly, but to use its wings in like manner. And yet the duke of Argyll has pointed out, and every one may verify the statement by his watch, that the heron flaps its wings at a rate of not less than from one hundred and twenty to one hundred and fifty times in a minute. This is counting only the downward strokes, so that the bird really makes from two hundred and forty to three hundred separate movements a minute.

Our short-winged game birds fly with incredible velocity, and any attempt to observe or count their wing movements leaves but a blurred impression upon the eye, whilst in some species so quick is the vibratory movement as to prevent it being seen. Driven grouse, flying "down wind," have been known to seriously stun sportsmen by falling upon their heads. A grouse does not move its wings as rapidly as a partridge, though a man was once clean knocked out of a battery by a grouse which had cannoned and killed another bird in midair; and colliding is not an infrequent occurrence. As illustrating the above qualities of flight, the case of the kestrel, or windover, may be taken. On a summer day one may frequently see this pretty little falcon standing against the blue, in what seems an absolutely stationary position, as though suspended by an invisible silken thread. But let a meadow mouse so much as move and it drops to the sward in an instant.

PLAGUED WITH BACILLI.

French Town Which Has Come Into a Heritage of Consumption.

It has long been a cause of controversy among physicians as to whether consumption is contagious or not, and one of the strongest arguments, says the New York Journal, that it is that has yet been produced is the story of the fate of the villagers of Mentone. Forty years ago this place was one of the healthiest villages in France, whose inhabitants were of superb physical development. It was discovered about this time that the climate of Mentone was remarkably beneficial in cases of lung diseases, and people afflicted in this way flocked thither from all parts of Europe. The natural result was that the people who had hitherto been engaged in farming one and all betook themselves to ministering in various ways to the throngs of invalids. The strong and healthy women of Mentone became laundresses and washed, without taking the least precautions, the consumptives' clothes. The place is now described as being a "bacillus pest hole." The very soil and air are said to be contaminated.
