THE ISTHMIAN CANAL.

The Venezuela and Alaska situations exemplified talent of the highest order in the settlement of critical foreign questions. But, to many minds, the crowning achievement of Mr. Roosevelt and his administration has been the removal of all the series of vexatious obstacles that lay in the way of beginning the construction of the Isthmian Canal. No man in the United States has been more strongly impressed for many years than President Roosevelt himself with the necessity of keeping the Isthmian Canal under the political sovereignty and control of the United States Government. His views on this subject were frankly expressed and highly influential in the final shaping of the negotiations with England for the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty. When it seemed best to give up the Nicaragua route, President Roosevelt stood firmly for a proper measure of American jurisdiction over the Panama zone. At every step of the negotiations, first with Colombia and then with Panama, his course was marked by good faith in the highest degree and disinterested statesmanship without a flaw or strain. The final outcome, that of an independent republic at Panama closely allied with the United States, was the best solution, probably, that could have been found, whether for North America, South America, or the commercial nations of Europe; and the citizens of Colombia itself are already perceiving that this was the best solution for them, and that they are now certain to have all the benefits of a canal on the most favored terms, without any of the dangers, costs, or responsibilities. With his characteristic foresight and intelligence, the President has already provided for the thorough sanitation of the canal zone, has appointed a splendidly qualified board of commissioners to construct the canal, and has arranged for the effective policing and government of the ten-mile strip. If reelected, he will astonish the world by the vigor, efficiency, and essential economy with which he will prosecute this greatest of all engineering tasks.

THE CONTRAST.

Thomas E. Watson clearly shows the contrast between Judge Parker and President Roosevelt in the following extract from his speech at Albany, N. Y. last Saturday. He said:

"Why is it I have to take up more time in discussing Judge Parker than in discussing Roosevelt? Because Parker lacks boldness, and frankness which Roosevelt possesses, and backs and fills and trims and dodges and evades and beclouds all the issues of the campaign in the effort not to face these issues; while Roosevelt comes out plainly, clearly, flatfooted, and says to all the world, this is what I stand for and this is what you are going to get if I am elected."

As time goes on, the chances of bringing Bryan and his followers into the Parker fold of the Democratic party grow slimmer and slimmer. The Bryan vote has been the subject of great solicitude to Parker and his followers. Bryan is speaking lightly of the Democratic party where ever he goes, and has already conceded the electoral vote of his state to Roosevelt. It was hardly thought probable, at the time Bryan was sent out in Parker's interests, that every time he made a speech he would simply be making new votes for Roosevelt, but that is what he seems to be doing. When prominent men of the party, like Bryan, are continually speaking lightly of their candidates, how can it be expected that the people will vote for a man for president who does not even command respect from his own party leaders?

To the young men of these great United States, President Roosevelt sets an example of the value of a sound mind in a sound body. His career helps them to see the practical worth of industry, of system, of temperate living; and helps them to perceive that faith in the highest public and private ideals still holds sway in our places of highest honor and power. Therefore, it is President Roosevelt who will receive a larger majority of the young men's vote than any candidate for the presidency has ever yet received.

Some Seasonable Advice.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by all Druggists.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage also used this wonderful medicine and to day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung disease yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for coughs and colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by Wasco Pharmacy. Trial bottles free.

How to Cure Corns and Bunions.

First, soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it; then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily, rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn a few days to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled. For sale by all Druggists.

For Sale.

600 acres of land, near town, for sale. Fred Meader, Wasco, Oregon.

A Love Letter.

Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed salve for sores, burns or piles. Otto Dodd, of Ponder, Mo., writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Bucklen's Arnica salve cured me. It's the best salve on earth. 25c at Wasco Pharmacy."

For Rent.

Two sections of the best wheat land in the Horse Heaven country, about six miles south of Prosser, Wash. Plenty of water on the land. Fencing material furnished and all of the first crop, with liberal terms thereafter. About 100 acres of the land is broken. Call on or write at once to M. Z. Donnell, The Dalles, Oregon. A good proposition to the right party.

Broke Into His House.

S. Le Quinn of Cavendish, Nt., was robbed of his customary health by invasion of chronic constipation. When Dr. King's New Life pills broke into his house, his trouble was arrested and now he's entirely cured. They're guaranteed to cure, 25c at Wasco Pharmacy.

Notice.

To whom it may concern; you are hereby notified that I will pay no bills contracted by my wife, Marie E. Draper, or be responsible for her contracts in any way.

Norman Draper.

I am at a loss to know why Mr Draper has published the above notice as I never run bills in my life for him to pay. I have paid all my bills even before he deserted me. My life will stand any investigation and I dare say Mr. Draper can find no fault with me unless it is because I would not give him my last dollar that he might spend it as he has spent so much money.

Mrs. Marie Draper.

In addition to the other properties, I have for sale the W. A. Murchie house and property in North part of town. C. J. Bright.
