Two fine driving horses, the property of Harleigh Glass, were lost from a barn at Biggs on Monday of this week. Ben Mitchell drove the horses from the barn in Wasco to Biggs on Sunday, unhitched and tied the horses in a barn at that place. The next morning they were gone, how or when or where, is not known. From the fact that the halters were not taken with them, it would appear that they had broken loose and strayed away. But as late as Thursday no trace had been found of the animals, and from this it would appear that they had been lead away. During the week Ben Mitchell and Harleigh Glass have been searching the country around Biggs and Wednesday Sheriff McCoy was out, but as we go to press no trace of the horses have been found.
