VALEDICTORY.

With this issue we sever our connection with the Republic. During our brief editorship...

OUR SCHOOLS.

Mt. Tabor school is the largest in Multnomah county outside of Portland having 400 pupils. The other day Prof. W. W. Sibray was elected to the principalship...

While our list of subscribers has steadily increased from the first, with a single exception, we trust that the public may accord Mr. Kellogg the greatly increased patronage he will doubtless deserve.

It is with no little regret that we depart the editorial sanctum and bid adieu, perhaps for aye, to the faithful "servant of our thoughts." But writers and thinkers will not fail our cause.

While we enjoy editorial work, and feel that time and experience would enable us to correct mistakes and enter other and perhaps more useful fields of thought in connection herewith...

DIRECT LEGISLATION.

The referendum would have the immense advantage of disentangling issues, separating one great question from the many minor questions with which it may be blended.

It is sad to think that all this ceaseless work, and much more, is being done, much of it by aged women, because some inhuman wretches called men ever and anon cast some poor, unfortunate, or thoughtless girl from somebody's home upon the cold charities of the world.

On seeing so many cars standing on the side track and groaning as it were under their burden of mammoth combined harvesters, each representing $2000, Mrs. Hoxter remarked to us that she hoped the farmers would save a little of their money for her when she comes this fall.

in this work, there is no doubt but what Sherman county's business men and farmers and their thoughtful wives, who are quite generally so much enlisted in every good work, will donate to this worthy cause most liberally.

THE SENATE DEAD AND ALIVE.

It is simply astonishing the number of persons in and about the United States senate. According to an article by senator Peffer in the North American Review...

Every body seems to pay the war tax cheerfully. No one can think of the glories of Manila bay, or the wounded and dead at Santiago, and ever murmur at the slight tax for so just a war.

STARVING ITALY.

It is a significant fact, that, in the same number of the North American Review containing the article by Senator Peffer so severely criticized by the editor of the Oregonian not long since, there is also another article telling in a most distressing manner of millions of half starving Italians who live on bread made of clay and acorns...

THREE—BUT THREE TOO MANY.

We have heard of only three Spanish sympathizers in our county,—one a Scotchman, one a German, and the third a Spaniard. We hope, for the sake of our country, our county, and the brave boys far away at Santiago and Manila, especially our dear heroes, these men's real feelings are on the side of their adopted home and on the side of humanity.

HARVEY SHOULD SHUT UP OR SUE FOR LIBEL.

The last man on earth who should talk about any person's dishonesty is Harvey Scott. The Gazette has documentary evidences in its possession which show that his connection with the Portland custom office only ceased when forced to resign by General Grant...

In an article by Major-General Nelson A. Miles on "Military Europe," in McClure's War Number, in which he speaks of the Turkish soldiers as "among the most effective in the world," Gen. Miles says: "Their religion has three elements which contribute largely to their soldierly qualities. First, it teaches them to believe in an absolute despotism; second, it enforces simplicity of life and strict temperance; and, third, it promises them unending pleasures in heaven as a reward for their endurance on earth."

President Andrews of Brown University, who gained no little notoriety two years ago by being requested to resign the presidency on account of his free silver views, was elected a few days since president of the Chicago schools.

Every body seems to pay the war tax cheerfully. No one can think of the glories of Manila bay, or the wounded and dead at Santiago, and ever murmur at the slight tax for so just a war.

Others, to tell what miserable failures two of our conspicuous detractors in Sherman county have made of themselves. Suffice it that one of them after bringing a young girl to an untimely grave fled the county two years ago.

Had there been less monkeying with flags of truce and more co-operation between Gen. Shafter and Admiral Sampson in the campaign against Santiago, the Washington officials would not now be nearly frightened out of their wits by the appearance in the field of Spain's long expected ally, "Yellow Jack."

While our army and navy were waiting for the Spanish army in Santiago to surrender, the Spaniards were hurrying refugees out of the town into our lines, with the knowledge that some of them would be certain to carry the yellow fever along with them. It was probably owing to the panic in which some of the officials were thrown by the news that the yellow fever had made its appearance in our army and that it was allowed to become public. But not one word can be had officially as to the extent of the outbreak or in what portion of our army it is, further than the admission that there are fourteen cases in the field hospital and some additional cases elsewhere.

BE CAREFUL WHERE YOU SPIT.

Portland's council has made spitting upon the sidewalks a misdemeanor. Spitting upon the walks of that moral city and your pocket-book will flatten. We mention this so that our country friends will not be bamboozled when in the metropolis. Keep a tight grip on your spitter. Be careful to expectorate upon the street at any rate, and you will be safe. There will be officers in citizen's clothes watching and waiting to catch you unaware, my brother, and they will "do you up" to employ a slang phrase—if you are caught napping. When the desire to expectorate comes over you like the shadow of a buzzard in a clear sky, do not voluntarily and instantly obey the summons, but step aside to the near or off side of the walk and easily deposit your gum-juce or your tobacco fluid into the minions of the law, and come off more than conqueror. This is the age of bunco laws. They are made to catch us country folks with their octopus tentacles and mulets us. Let us be on the alert and teach our city cousins that we are not green like the grass, nor foolish like the fool.—Independent Salem.

Rutledge Items.

Rev. Wright preached at the Wesley Chapel, to a large congregation Sunday evening. El and Iva Vanlandingham are quite ill. Mr. Vanlandingham went to Moro to get medicine for them. Messrs McGillis and Walker and Mr. Smith have purchased new headers. Phil Ruggles is going to Woodworth to fix up his threshing outfit. Mrs. W. C. Rutledge is preparing to go to Portland on account of her health which has been quite poor lately. The work on the new houses of Messrs Dierk and Callaghan is going on rapidly.
