

CENTRAL POINT HERALD

LANCASTER & PATTISON, PUBLISHERS
S. A. PATTISON, EDITOR
J. E. LANCASTER, BUSINESS MANAGER

An independent local newspaper devoted to the interests of Central Point and the Rogue River Valley.
Published Every Thursday.
Subscription price, $1.50 per year, in advance.

Entered at the Postoffice at Central Point, Or., as second class matter.

THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1906.

EUGENE had a "clean-up" day last week, in accordance with a proclamation of the mayor to that effect, and the Guard says the town looks very much more attractive in consequence. Central Point might take a "tip" from this item.

WHEN we have our clean-up day if we should run short of work before night the mistletoe on the oak trees in the park and the streets should receive some attention. In a year or two, when we want to improve that park block and make it a modern and beautiful resting place, we will be mighty sorry if the fine shade trees are all dead. A few whacks in time will save the trees.

NEXT Monday will be election day, for which blessing let us be truly thankful. Not that the results will make any particular difference to the people generally but it is like having a boil or the grippe—a good thing to get through with. Once it is settled who are to enjoy the offices for the next two or four years the partisan newspapers and all citizens can settle down and boost Oregon and the Rogue river valley and Jackson county and their own town early and late. That's a better stunt than politics, anyhow.

Now that Central Point has landed a bank and a creamery, and is to have a new school house, and is getting new buildings every week, let us consider what to do next. What's the matter with having a bakery and a dentist and a canning factory? There is a fine opening for every one of these enterprises here and it is well for persons who are looking for such propositions to understand that the first man on the ground, if he can "show" the town that he is all right, will get in on the ground floor. The banking proposition lay open for years and only two or three months ago bankers who should have known better were busy declaring that the idea of a bank at Central Point was absolutely ridiculous; but, just the same, within the last two weeks no less than four conservative, practical bankers have been eager to get in with a bank, but only one of them got here first. So it will be with the propositions above named. The first man on the ground gets the plum. Now, gentlemen, please don't all speak at once.

Agate Nuggets

Ad Helems is in Agate on business and pleasure.

All crops are looking well and growing splendidly.

Frank Clute, the Agate hustler, has been plowing on the county road with his steam plow, but he had a breakdown lately and is now using mules and horses on the work.

D. L. Grigsby has secured the contract for the hauling of 40 cords of wood for William Peninger. The wood is for use of the engine which is grading and rolling the road near Agate.

There was a little excitement in Agate the other day when it was reported that a large black bear had been seen in the neighborhood. Ira and James Grigsby, two old bear hunters, with a number of dogs, started out after Bruin but did not succeed in running him down.

We had a fine rain and every farmer has a smile on his face not bad to look at.
