LANCASTER & PATTISON, PUBLISHERS
S. A. PATTISON, EDITOR
J. E. LANCASTER, BUSINESS MANAGER

An independent local newspaper devoted to the interests of Central Point and the Rogue River Valley. Published Every Thursday. Subscription price, $1.50 per year, in advance.

Entered at the postoffice at Central Point, Or., as second class matter.

THURSDAY, JULY 12, 1906.

ALL SHOULD ATTEND

THE meeting of the Rogue River Valley Development league, to be held at Ashland Tuesday, promises to be the greatest meeting of its kind ever held in southern Oregon.

Central Point citizens should be as much interested in the work of the league as the people of any other town in the valley and an arrangement should be made among the business men by which all places of business would be closed on that day and everybody turn out en masse and go to Ashland. Central Point is in a position to profit greatly by the advertising which this league proposes to give the entire valley, because of its central location and large amount of fine land as yet held in large tracts, and the business men of the town can well afford to show an appreciation of this fact by giving the work of the league their hearty moral and material support. This can best be done at this time by turning out a big crowd for Ashland next Tuesday. Let's all shut up shop and go.

W. J. BRYAN has announced that he will "go up against it" again if his friends should decide that it is necessary to save the country.

A SEATTLE youth has killed a superior judge because he was in love with the judge's niece. Another instance going to show that Eve's daughters are the cause of lots of trouble in this vale of tears.

S. A. D. PUTER, king of the Oregon land thieves, has been sentenced to jail for two years. By dropping the periods from between his initial letters he becomes "Sad" Puter, and that, probably, is no dream.

In spite of the hot weather many more or less prominent citizens of Oregon who have been mixed up in timber and other land steals, have suffered from a chill during the past week. The reason is obvious: Heney has returned.

MAYOR MARTIN has "put on the lid" at Klamath Falls and the road of the tin-horn and poker sharp is to be made rocky. It is not likely, however, that an enforced idleness on the part of these gentlemen (?) of the green cloth from their accustomed occupation will make any appreciable difference in the shortage of harvest hands in eastern Oregon.

The lone bandit who held up and robbed fifty-one tourists in the Yosemite park the other day may have been a ministering angel in disguise. The dispatches state that from all these people the unfortunate robber secured only $200 in cash, an average of less than four dollars each. If that was all they had with them and they expected to live for a few days at a park summer hotel there is grave danger that they might have starved to death or been obliged to walk home. After being robbed, however, in the regulation frontier style, instead of by more modern methods, the stage company had to take care of them and see that they got their regular meals and were sent home. It is thus that sometimes people unwittingly entertain angels unawares.
