VOL. 1.

CENTRAL POINT, OREGON, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1906.

NO. 28

Local and Personal

Mrs. W. R. Byrum, of Table Rock, was in town yesterday.

Frank R. Neale, a sheepman of Big Butte, was in town Tuesday.

Big consignment of lard cans just arrived at Leever's, the hardware man.

Mrs. Dubell and children, of Canyonville, are here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Gillett.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Grieve, prominent citizens of Prospect, were in town on a shopping trip during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ross, of Gold Hill, were here Monday visiting her mother, Mrs. Stidham, who is seriously ill.

Watches and all kinds of jewelry at the Central Point Pharmacy. New stock just received. Call and see them. 11-1f

O. R. Ball, manager of the American Type Founders Co., of Portland, was in town Tuesday in the interest of his firm.

C. S. Sanderson & Sons recently finished some porches and other conveniences on Mrs. Gibson's snug new cottage.

LOST—Small, red enameled back, open face chatelaine watch, with bead fob. Finder please leave at J. W. Merritt's store.

The ladies of the Christian Church will give a dinner and bazaar at the Christian Church on Thanksgiving day. Your patronage is solicited.

Chas. Burch, a former resident of this place, now engaged in the sheep business in Warner Valley, came in a few days ago to spend the winter.

Clinton Bowers, of Ashland, who owns a fine farm on Rogue river five miles from Central Point, left last Thursday for a business trip to Texas.

C. S. Sanderson and his two sons, Bridane and Charlie, returned Tuesday from a deer hunt on Evans Creek in the vicinity of Captain Short's ranch. No catch 'em.

W. G. Miller, Will Miller and John Williams returned last Thursday from the Grieve ranch, near Prospect, where they spent a week hunting. They report very good success.

G. H. Wamsley of Eagle Point sends in some whopping big white carrots for the HERALD exhibit window. One of them looks to be big enough to winter a small family or an ordinary cow.

Select a present for your wife or sweetheart from the jewelry stock at the Central Point Pharmacy. New and up-to-date. 11-1f

The best colored Spitzenberg apples yet reported come from John Daley's orchard, at Eagle Point, to the HERALD window the other day. The specimens are absolutely perfect in colorings, and in size they are no slouches.

A. H. Rayton and wife, of Chehalis, Wash., who have been visiting their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Emerson, of this place, left Monday morning for Chico, Cal., where they expect to spend the winter.

Mrs. Louella Wright, of Great Falls, Montana, accompanied by her little son, arrived Saturday evening to visit her mother, Mrs. J. H. Gibson, and her sisters, Miss Elizabeth Gibson and Mrs. I. C. Robnett. She expects to remain here about two months.

A complete line of watches has just been received at the Central Point Pharmacy. Call and examine this stock before placing your order. 11-1f

Kelly Duncan, recently of Grass Valley, Sherman County, where he was engaged in the drug business for a number of years, is here visiting his sister, Mrs. T. M. Witten. Mr. Duncan has disposed of his drug business at Grass Valley and is looking for a suitable business opening in Southern Oregon.

Jasper Force, of Talent, aged 106 years, was recently issued a hunter's license by the county clerk of Jackson county. The Rogue River Valley leads Oregon and the Pacific Coast in many things, but it is believed safe to challenge the whole United States to produce an active hunter with more years to his credit than Mr. Force claims.—Ashland Tidings.

FOR SALE—A six-room dwelling in Central Point, in good repair. Barn, good water, some fruit. A bargain. Inquire at this office.

H. Corum, who recently completed a cottage in the north part of town, has sold the property to Mrs. Fredericks, of Ashland, the consideration being $1250.00. It is understood Mr. Corum will remove to the Willamette Valley.

Chas. W. Stanley and Miss Ethel T. Brown were married at Jacksonville yesterday by County Judge Dunn. After the ceremony the happy couple drove over to this place, and took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Gillett. They will reside in Medford.

Mrs. W. F. Krueger and little daughter, Susie, of Niagara, North Dakota, arrived Sunday evening to spend the winter in the Rogue River Valley, where blizzards are unknown. For the present they are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. Hatfield. Mr. Krueger, who is a prominent farmer of North Dakota, will probably follow his family to Southern Oregon later and locate here.

Thanksgiving Ball.

Central Point lodge, No. 193, I. O. O. F., will give a grand ball in the opera house on Thanksgiving evening, which promises to eclipse anything in the terpsichorean line ever given in Central Point. The best music in the valley will be furnished, the floor will be put in finest condition and nothing will be left undone that is necessary to add to the enjoyment of the occasion. Invitations will be sent to neighboring lodges and a large attendance is expected from all sections of the valley.

Local Option Law Held Valid.

Judge George H. Burnett of the state circuit court for Marion county, sitting for Judge Hamilton in a case from Coos county, rendered an opinion which is in effect that a city by the enactments of its charter has no power to abrogate or set aside the provisions of the local option law. Coos county voted "dry" under the local option law. The town of Coquille, in Coos county, secured a charter according authority for the regulation of the liquor traffic to the municipality, and the council granted license to sell liquor to an individual who when he began plying his business was arrested under the state law and charged with a felony and fined. Judge Burnett's decision, which will doubtless be passed upon by the supreme court, before the question is finally settled, confirms the supremacy of the state law.

County Sunday School Convention.

The annual convention of the Jackson County Sunday School Association will be held at the First Presbyterian Church in Ashland, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 6th and 7th, and all Sunday schools in the county are expected to have representatives in attendance. Rev. C. A. Phipps, field worker for the Sunday schools of Oregon, will be in attendance as principal instructor. An interesting program has been prepared which will be of value and interest to all workers.

Bring Us Your Job Printing.

A new paper cutter has been ordered from the American Type Founders Co. for the HERALD office and will be here in a few days. The rapid growth of our job business has made the installation of a paper cutter a necessity, and as the HERALD is now a firmly established proposition it proposes to keep fully up with the times in the matter of equipment in order that we may always be prepared to give our patrons quick and satisfactory service. We are now better prepared than ever to handle all classes of job printing, and we ask the people of this community to remember, in placing their orders, that the HERALD is a strictly Central Point proposition, and as such, is entitled to the patronage of Central Point people.

Send the HERALD to your friends.

INSTITUTE NOTES.
Prof. Chas. H. Jones will have charge of the music.

Monday evening a reception will be given to the teachers by the Central Point people, at Woodman Hall, with music and a short program. An address of welcome will be given by T. M. Jones, and all interested in education are invited.

The reception committee is composed of Prof. A. J. Hanby, Mrs. Stella Purkeypile, Miss Elizabeth Gibson, Mrs. A. J. Hanby, Miss Carrie Martin.

The instructors for the institute include: State Superintendent J. H. Ackerman, B. F. Mulkey, president State Normal at Ashland; Superintendent R. F. Robinson of Multnomah County; W. F. Cameron, Superintendent Ashland city schools; Miss Cornelia Marvin, State Librarian; M. B. Signs, Superintendent Medford schools; Chas. H. Jones, editor Oregon Teachers' Monthly; J. Percy Wells, Superintendent Jacksonville schools; Superintendent Lincoln Savage, Josephine County.

All teachers in the public schools of Jackson County are required to be present at the annual institutes.

Milking by Machinery

The following letter written to the New York Tribune and Farmer by a practical Eastern dairyman may prove of interest to many HERALD readers in view of the attention now being directed to the dairy and creamery business in this locality:

"I have never been very enthusiastic about machine milking, for I have found it would be a most difficult matter to get a machine that would be simple and thorough. Last Winter a visit to a dairy using one of the power outfits convinced me that the time was near when we could milk by machinery. While the work was not perfect, it was good, and the fact that not a few large dairies are using them shows practicability. However, the cost of equipping a large stable (from $500 to $700) with machines at $75 each, piping pumps and power is more than the ordinary man can afford, and more than most care to invest in so untried a device as a milking machine. I had seen the advertisement of the 'calfette' but had supposed it to be a cheap, small affair, and not a practical thing for a large dairy. I was, however, agreeably disappointed, for the machine is very simple as well as capable. The teat cups are made of aluminum, that will not rust and is light. The rubber suction inside easily adapt themselves to the teat of any size, and no harm seems to result from too long milking. The cows, for the most part, readily take to it. The cups set very close to the udder, thus preventing foreign substances from getting into the milk. A web girth holds the milking tubes in place. This was quickly adjusted, and to my mind was an advantage, as with it the machine must stay in place. I noticed with the large machines referred to that they used a surcingle. The air that creates the suction does not come in contact with the milk, for the pressure is wholly outside the rubber.

"The piping is free from joints and complicated valves, thus easy to keep clean. I was told that a machine in use in Buffalo in an ordinary stable was producing milk with only 1900 bacteria, which was sold for baby food at 13 cents a quart. The machine is operated by a suction pump bolted to a plank, easily moved about the stable, one machine milking two cows at a time. I found the pump to work easily, the operator standing erect.

"Above all, it is sold for $35, a price in reach of any and not great enough to entail any serious loss should it be found impracticable by any. Two machines will allow two men to take care of thirty or forty cows more quickly and easily than by hand. That this machine and price appeal to the farmers was evidenced by the fact that several machines were ordered right after the exhibition by practical farmers. Another advantage is that these same hand machines can at any time be equipped for power at a cost of $15 each.

"In answer to a query as to obtaining a machine, I was told the company was several weeks behind in its orders, so much greater has been the call for them than anticipated there would be for a new machine."
