VOL. 2.

CENTRAL POINT, OREGON, THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1908.

NO. 47

Local and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wetzel were down from Meeford yesterday.

Mrs. Fred H. Hopkins was indisposed for a few days during the week, but is now much improved.

FOR SALE—Two dozen good laying hens. Market price. First buyer gets them.—Dr. J. L. Rawhouser. 46tf

R. F. Nichol's recently sold his 100 acre farm on the slope of Table Rock for $4000. The name of the purchaser has not been learned here.

E. O. Bissell was in from Table Rock yesterday to see Mr. Green and family, who arrived from Chicago to make their home on the Grisham farm at Table Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Hendricks, of Elgin, Oregon, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kahler. Mrs. Hendricks is a sister of Mrs. Kahler.

CHMAP LANDS—For the best and cheapest lands in Oregon, enquire of Harness & Thornton, Real Estate dealers, Yoncalla, Oregon. 43tf

The Rebekah ladies will hold a Bazaar in the Murry building Saturday, March 21st, to which all are invited. This will be one of the greatest events of the season.

EGGS FOR SETTING—Full blooded White Leghorn eggs, 50 cents for 15 eggs. One white Wyandotte rooster.—Mrs. I. J. Hanson, Central Point, R. F. D. No. 1. 47tf

Mrs. J. H. Gay was seriously ill during the early part of the week suffering from violent hemorrhage from the nose. She is better, however, at this writing.

The Rite of Baptism was observed Sunday at Bear Creek by the Baptist Church of this city. Six persons were baptized by Rev. Jacquemin and received into the Church.

J. M. McJimsy has sold two lots in the northwest part of town to E. C. Wagner, the consideration being $300. Mr. Wagner will build a good home in the near future and otherwise improve the property.

Christian Science services are held every Sunday morning in the lodge room on the second floor of the opera house. All are cordially invited to attend these services. Subject for next Sunday, "Man."

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Mowry, of near Saratoga, Wyoming, arrived Tuesday and expect to locate here for a permanent home. They are more than pleased with this valley, and find the Spring weather we are now enjoying an agreeable change from the bleak Wintriness of Wyoming.

Postmaster Tex has added a lot of new lock boxes to the post office fixtures and already almost all the new boxes are taken. Mr. Tex reports a steady increase in postal business which in one of the very best indexes to the growth and prosperity of any community.

Allen C. Sanders, of Seattle, was here Sunday the guest of Mr. Hopkin at the Snowy Butte orchard. Mr. Sanders was in the valley looking for investments in fruit lands and had examined the Patterson farm, near Talent, before coming down here. He is very much pleased with the valley and expects to return within 30 days to make some heavy investments here.

A fine 10-pound daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hanna last Sunday morning and Mr. Hanna is so pleased with the Rogue River valley that he is contemplating disposing of his Portland property and becoming a permanent resident here. Mrs. and Miss Hanna are getting along nicely and J. L. has been able to be down town without a guardian since Monday afternoon.

J. E. Ross, who was recently offered a lucrative position with the Peters arms company as a traveling demonstrator of the value of the Peters arms and cartridges, has returned from San Francisco and reopened his barber shop. Mr. Ross is an expert with the rifle and while practicing the other day he struck 15 marbles thrown in the air with a 22 rifle without raising a shot.

W. T. Grieve, the well known timber man of Prospect, came in yesterday and is busy shaking hands with his many friends here. Mr. Grieve is out for the republican nomination for County Assessor and with apparently good prospects for landing the nomination and election. He is a former Central Point boy and has many friends all over the county who have confidence in his ability and integrity if elected to the office.

J. D. Parker arrived from Saratoga, Wyoming, Monday and Mrs. Parker is expected to arrive in a few days, she having stopped at Roseburg for a short visit with friends. Mr. Stanley, who purchased the Aikin farm on Rogue River last Fall, is somewhere en route with two or three cars of stock and household goods and is expected to drop in any day. Mr. Parker is more than ever pleased with Central Point and has already got his coat off and is busy early and late boosting the best valley on earth.

HOPKINS IS MAYOR

By an Overwhelming Majority.

Result a Victory for Progressive Element.

At the city election held Monday Fred H. Hopkins was chosen the first mayor of the new Central Point by an overwhelming majority. The total vote cast was 116 and of these Mr. Hopkins received 91 and W. Warner received 23.

Mr. Hopkins was the regular nominee of the People's caucus, and as no other caucus was held, a few citizens who imagined they were opposed to his election prevailed on Mr. Warner to allow his name to be used as an independent candidate by giving him assurances that he could easily be elected. The result shows that their reasoning was not a safe proposition to bet on.

Councilmen elected were as follows: L. Hatfield, J. W. Jacobs, Robert Kyles, G. S. Moore and S. A. Pattison. T. M. Witten was elected treasurer, and T. M. Jones and Fred Parker tied on the office of recorder.

The result of this election is considered a signal victory for the friends of progress in making Central Point a bigger and a better town and it is also looked upon as an index of the result of another election yet to be held on the proposition of bonding the town for an up-to-date water system.

The apparent belief on the part of a few people that they can keep the town from going ahead and thereby retard their own and their neighbors' best interests, received a severe setback Monday, and it is now assured that Central Point is about to get a "move on" which will reclaim at least a part of the losses she has sustained as a town during the past 25 years.

Girls' Leap Year Dance.

The social dance given by the Girls' Leap Year Club last Saturday evening was one of the most pronounced successes of this or any other season. This testimonial is not given particularly for publication but as an evidence of good faith of the Herald to the girls of Central Point. Central Point is the best town in the Rogue River Valley and the Central Point girls are the very best feature of the town. More than this they are the best and prettiest lot of girls in southern Oregon, or, for that matter, on the Pacific coast, and the Herald is willing to stand or fall to that assertion.

Revival Meetings.

Fvangelist McConnell of Eugene is conducting a series of meetings at the Christian church. Mr. McConnell has converted more people in the past five years than any other one man in the Northwest. All should make use of this opportunity to hear one who has done so much good. Services begin at 7:30 and last one hour and fifteen minutes. Come and help us to make this a great meeting.

ELDERS OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Boosting the Town.

The Herald job press has been running overtime during the week getting out letter-heads and envelopes for practically every business man and woman in Central Point, every sheet of which carries a lot of good boost stuff for the town and community. The stationery is designed to draw attention to the cheap colonist rates now in effect from all eastern points and to emphasize the fact that tickets may be purchased from any railroad station in the east direct to Central Point. Attention is also directed to the unexcelled advantages of the Central Point section and there is no doubt but that this advertising will result in much good to the town and community. The following business people are using this stationery: W. C. Leever, Cranfill & Robnett, C. S. Sanderson, Guy E. Tex, J. W. Merritt, L. Hatfield, Herald, Dr. Rawhouser, Mary Mee, Warner & Son, J. H. Gay, Jacobs & Ford, W. E. Kahler, Freeman & Wiley, A. P. Gillett, G. S. Moore, T. M. Jones, Lewis & Sons, F. A. Hawk, W. C. Green, Central Point Hotel.

Electric Road Company Organized.

The incorporators of the Electric road for the Rogue River Valley met Tuesday afternoon and perfected their organization. The officers of the new company are as follows: F. C. Page, president; Capt. F. L. Evans, vice-president and general manager; F. E. Minnick, treasurer; S. A. Nye, secretary. These men together with A. S. Bilton and J. E. Watt constitute the board of directors. Judge Hale of Grants Pass was elected attorney for the company.

The company proposes at once to sell enough stock in the valley to pay for right of ways, water rights, sites, preliminary surveys, and like matters. The work is to be undertaken immediately, the company expects to have a portion of their lines in operation by next winter.

The new electric line will circle the valley on both sides from Grants Pass to Ashland, and it is expected to eventually extend beyond Ashland to Soda Springs. The Applegate and Illinois valleys will also be tapped eventually. —Medford Mail.

Business Law for Business Men.

A comprehensive reference book for business men, farmers and everybody who wishes to know something of the laws of the State of Oregon as they are related to daily business affairs. The work is compiled by A. J. Bledsoe, a competent attorney, and is recommended by such eminent jurists as Chief Justice R. S. Bean of the Oregon Supreme Court; W. W. Cotton, general attorney for the O. R. & N. Co., and others. Price $4.00. Orders for this book may be left at the Central Point Herald office. 47tf

Portland Men Here.

A party of Portland capitalists and business men visited Central Point Tuesday, the guests of Mayor and Mrs. Fred H. Hopkins, at the Snowy Butte orchard. During the afternoon they drove in automobiles to Jacksonville, Medford and the Lewis and Burrill orchards and other points of interest in the valley, enjoying the ideal weather and the scenes of beauty and riches of the valley of the Rogue. The members of the party were: John C. Lewis, A. D. Carleton, A. G. P. A. Northern Pacific; H. C. Bowers, manager of Portland Hotel; John D. Wilcox, Fred S. Morris and H. O. Stickney, of Portland, and Ben Norman, proprietor of the Tacoma Hotel, Tacoma.

Wild Boars in Jackson County

There is a certain portion of Jackson county that can boast of something that probably no state west of the Mississippi river, other than Texas, can claim. And that "something" is a band of wild boars.

J. W. Thorndyke, a prospector, was in Jacksonville last Sunday and brought with him a pair of vicious looking tusks which he removed from the carcass of a huge boar after shooting the animal three times with his rifle. Mr. Thorndyke stated that the band of wild hogs consisted of about fifty or sixty and that as soon as they saw him approaching they ran into the forest. A well-directed shot brought one of them to the ground and with its agonized squealing the entire band returned and began to bite the wounded animal and gore it frantically with their sharp tusks. Mr. Thorndyke was fearful lest the enraged band turn their attention in his direction, so he climbed to the summit of a nearby pile of rocks and shot several times at the wounded hog, finally succeeding in quieting it. When its struggles ceased, the band ran away.

Mr. Thorndyke thinks the boar which he killed will weigh within the neighborhood of 300 pounds, and certainly the tusks show that it was no dwarf. The tusks, however, were so curved that they would probably have been useless.

No one seems to be able to account for this band of wild hogs. In all probability the original herd escaped from some farmer's pasture in the early days when Jacksonville was the only trading center between Roseburg and Redding. Judge S. J. Day of this city lost some hogs along in the sixties or seventies and while this may or may not have any significance so far as this particular band of wild hogs is concerned, yet it shows that such could be the case. Mr. Thorndyke describes the wild hogs to be taller than the domestic animal. It says they are covered with coarse black hair or bristles which stand up along their backs like a huge brush.

This band of hogs was seen in the vicinity of the Oregon Belle mine where the timber is very heavy and where there are few human habitations. —Jacksonville Post.

Ashland Normal News Notes.

Field meet between the Juniors and the school occurred March 6th, the result being a tie.

Lucy Crawford, of Pullman, Wash., entered the Normal Monday.

At the business meeting of the Congressional Society the following officers were elected: Alphens Cole, president; Wilbur Van Pelt, vice-president; Robt. Bagley, secretary, and Bert Peachy, treasurer.

The Y. M. C. A., under the leadership of Stanley Wood, at the last meeting discussed "Giants in the Pathway of the Christian."

Professor A. C. Joy had the misfortune to run a rusty nail into his foot one day last week, and although he is able to attend to his duties, he suffers a great inconvenience from it.

The department of music under the direction of Mrs. Neil and Miss Silby will give an entertainment at the opera house on March 11th, the proceeds of which go to defray the expenses of that department.

Rev. J. N. McConnell, state evangelist of the Christian Church, visited chapel again Wednesday and delighted his hearers with his excellent discussion of "Training the Will."

We are pleased to say that Ethel Osborn, member of the class of '05, has received a position, with a good salary, as teacher in the schools of The Dalles.

Y. M. C. A., led by Miss Case, discussed the subject "Womanhood" and brought out a great many thoughts helpful to the building of a perfect character. At the close of the discussion Orra Patrick and Eva Norcross rendered a duet in a very pleasing manner.

Professor A. C. Joy in his chapel talk last Monday compared the laws of the United States with those of European countries, and it made us feel that there is room for a great deal of improvement in our system.

The election class under the direction of Professor H. T. Sutton gave a recital in the chapel last Thursday evening. The selections were well rendered, showing the result of careful training and diligent practice.

The meeting of the Athena literary society was postponed until March 13th on account of the field meet.

Prof. H. T. Sutton presented the Normal with two volumes of his works entitled "Tragedy of Judas" and "The Temptation"

Friday morning Prof. Mellinger read an article on "Mathematics as a Factor in Character Building," which was much appreciated by all.
