Larrabee Farm Sold.

The Larrabee farm, better known to old timers in the valley as the old Leever homestead, was sold last Tuesday evening to A. J. Dunlap, who had arrived only a day or two before with his family and a carload of personal property from Olney, Illinois. The consideration was $16,000.00. The place is fairly well improved, with about 30 acres already in fruit. Mr. Dunlap was here last August looking over the country and while he did not buy anything at that time he satisfied himself that this country suited him and when he got his affairs arranged in Illinois he loaded bag and baggage and came to Central Point.

The Larrabees bought this place two years ago for $6,000.00 and the advance at which they sold is not unusual in the Rogue Rivey Valley during that time.

Big, Beautiful Nuggets.

N. Jerry, the well-known mining man, was exhibiting a small cabinet of big, beautiful nuggets, from the Willow Springs district, in town Monday morning that is by far the handsomest collection of big chunks of virgin gold the writer has seen in many years. The collection weighs $1522.00, and gives something of an idea of the mineral riches of that district. Mr. Jerry expects to leave soon on another Eastern trip on business connected with the development of mining properties near Central Point and it may be added that he and his associates are doing great work along that line.

Table Rockets

Revs. McHenry and Shield, the temperance campaigners, lectured in the schoolhouse Wednesday evening. A large crowd was present to hear them denounce the saloons, which they did to a finish. The Anti-Saloon petition was signed by nearly all the voters present, and if they make good at the election in June, Table Rock will be so dry our women folks won't be able to get alcohol for their camphor bottles. But men don't always vote as they pray.
