GREATEST CRIMINAL OF THE AGE.

Whatever the conclusions of courts and lawyers in the Standard Oil case, there are certain indisputable facts which are well known to the American people. These facts carry home the conviction to every unprejudiced mind that this corporation is the greatest criminal of the age. Its crimes have been flaunted to the world. Its long continued defiance of the law, its inhuman indifference to the rights of competitors, its dishonesty its cruelty and its manifold violations of every principle of commercial integrity are familiar as household words. Standard Oil is the greatest living exemplar of the old legal adage that "a corporation has no soul."

In the minds of the people at large there is no shadow of doubt that in the case tried before Judge Landis this corporation was morally if not legally guilty. For three years the corporation enjoyed a secret rate of six cents per 100 from Whiting, Indiana, to St. Louis, while independent operators were forced to pay the published rate of 18. During the period, the corporation piled up profits of $200,000,000. The rebates were utter and wanton violation of the country's laws, and the officials know it. The pretense that they did not know it is shallow humbug.

Proceeding on the theory that the laws are for the poor and not for the rich, they ignored statutes, courts and all the ethics of ordinary citizenship. The corporation ran riot in a carnival of organized plunder, but held up its hands in holy horror if workingmen asked for equal rights before the law. It founded and endowed universities and hospitals, but by use of its enormous power and secret fiscal system, drove into bankruptcy and early graves men who dared to cross its path. It endowed churches with one hand, and with the other reached into the pocket of every oil consumer in the world. It prated publicly of heavenly things, but violated the laws of humanity, the laws of the commonwealth and the laws of the Almighty.

The trail it has traveled in its business operations is strewn with the wreckage of men's careers, their homes and their business enterprises, all because these men sought to earn an honest living in the oil business. Its example, by use of secret rebates and other unlawful devices, has been ruinous to the citizenship of the country who saw in it positive proof that the easiest way to swollen wealth is by unfair and unlawful methods. Its act, by a policy of strangulation and secret conspiracy, in wringing countless millions from those who were instruments and integers in the production of that wealth, is treason to morality, treason to humanity and treason to the world.

In the opinion of a federal court of appeals, the fine imposed by Judge Landis was excessive, and the guilt of the defendant corporation was not established in accordance with the rules of evidence. We do not undertake to review the reasoning by which this conclusion was reached, nor to pass upon the technical accuracy of the appellate court's interpretation of the law, but we do say unhesitatingly that a fine of $100,000,000 would not be an excessive punishment for the known crimes which lie at the door of Standard Oil. It is a national calamity that this huge corporation, this hardened and inveterate criminal, should escape unwhipped of justice. In the outcome, the prosecution of the Standard Oil has resulted in the grossest miscarriage of justice that this generation has witnessed.—Portland Journal.

Over Thirty-five Years.

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentery and cholera infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment and has for thirty-five years maintained its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by Mary A. Mee.
