

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

Gold Hill Society Note.

S. W. McClendon has been induced to withdraw his libel suit against the News and once more peace reigns supreme in our office. The alleged libel was supposed to have been committed in our reference to the number of feet Sam saw on the sidewalks of Gold Hill one morning. Apropos of things being settled quietly we will say that Sam and Johnnie Reed have both been exonerated on the charge of stealing a turkey, as their innocence has been clearly established and the blame shifted onto those justly deserving it. We will not indulge in personalities in this matter, but one of the fellows is called "Howard."—News.

For that Dull Feeling After Eating.

I have used Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for some time, and can testify that they have done me more good than any tablets I have ever used. My trouble was a heavy dull feeling after eating.—DAVID FREEMAN, Kempt, Nova Scotia. These tablets strengthen the stomach and improve the digestion. They also regulate the liver and bowels. They are far superior to pills but cost no more. Get a free sample at Mary A. Mee's drug store and see what a splendid medicine it is.

Observation Cars.

On and after November 15, 1907, the observation cars between Portland and Oakland California, on trains Nos. 15 and 16 will be carried through instead of being cut out, as heretofore, at Roseburg.

Southbound, under this new arrangement, passengers holding proper transportation and Pullman accommodations may occupy these cars on the night leaving Portland until reaching Eugene at 12:32 a. m.

Now is the Time to visit

California

When summer has passed in these northern states, the sun is only mild under the bright blue skies of Southern California. This is one of nature's happy provisions—eternal summer for those who cannot endure a more severe climate.

California has been called the "Mecca of the winter tourist." Its hotels and stopping places are as varied as those of all well regulated cities. Visitors can always find suitable accommodations, congenial companions, and varied, pleasing recreations.

Southern Pacific Company

Will be glad to supply some very attractive literature, describing in detail the many delights of winter in California. Very low round trip excursion tickets are on sale to California. The rate from Central Point to Los Angeles and return is $47.60.

Limit six months, allowing stop-overs in either direction. Similar excursion rates are in effect to all California points.

In Memoriam.

Fred Floyd Kincaid, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Kincaid, who passed away on the 13th inst., was a native son of Jackson County. He was aged 21 years, 10 months and 7 days at the time of his death, and since he was eight years old he had been an invalid. At the age of 16 years, however, his health mended for a time, and despite his ailments during his boyhood days, he had so improved his time that he was able to enter the Ashland Commercial College for their regular course, but, before finishing, disease again claimed him, and from that time until the end he was almost a constant sufferer. All that could be done in the way of the best medical treatment was secured for him, but it was all without avail, and, although his own faith in ultimate recovery never wavered, his relatives and friends realized that all that was left for them was to minister to his wants with tender care and to mitigate his sufferings to the least possible extent. He was most patient through all his long illness, and his memory as a dutiful son and a true friend will always be sacredly cherished by those who were nearest and dearest to him during his time on this earth.

"Dearest Fred, thou hast left us,
Here thy loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God that hast bereft us,
He can all our sorrows heal."

Beware of Frequent Colds.

A succession of colds or a protracted cold is almost certain to end in chronic catarrh, from which few persons ever wholly recover. Give every cold the attention it deserves and you may avoid this disagreeable disease. How can you cure a cold? Why not try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended. Mrs. M. White, of Butler, Tenn., says: "Several years ago I was bothered with my throat and lungs. Someone told me of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I began using it and it relieved me at once. Now my throat and lungs are sound and well." For sale by Mary A. Mee.

Music in the Air.

The band boys have received their new instruments, and gave their first open air concert Sunday afternoon. They marched to the depot just before the afternoon train came up, with the intention of giving the passengers a free concert, but on account of their extreme modesty they got cold feet when they heard the whistle blow and scattered. Just the same, however, the new band has the right stuff in its membership to make a fine organization with practice and the people of the town may expect some rare treats in the music line within a few months.

It is a Wonder.

Chamberlain's Liniment is one of the most remarkable preparations yet produced for the relief of rheumatic pains, and for lame back, sprains and bruises. The quick relief from pain which it affords in case of rheumatism is alone worth many times its cost. Price, 25 cents; large size 50 cents. For sale by Mary A. Mee.

Mischievous Boys.

(To the editor.) On Christmas eve some boys, old enough to know better, entered the entrance of the Baptist church while the Christmas tree exercises were in progress and from several lanterns which had been left there, including my own, they removed the wicks, making the lanterns useless to light our steps homeward. We did not discover the loss until at the close of the program, when we tried to relight the lanterns. These boys should be severely reprimanded for such mischief. Yours respectfully, SUBSCRIBER.

For Eczema, Tetter and Salt Rheum.

The intense itching characteristic of these ailments is almost instantly allayed by Chamberlain's Salve. Many severe cases have been cured by it. For sale by Mary A. Mee.

Farm, Field and Garden

PLOWS AND PLOWING.

Wing's Adaptation From the French, In Use In Alfalfa Sod.

Four years ago, when first I went to study French farming, their plows made me smile, they looked so crude, with their immense wheels and beams, so awkward in design, says Joseph E. Wing in the Breeder's Gazette, Chicago.

This year I spent more time in France and studied their plows more carefully and at work. I now consider the French plow, with its two wheels, its rigid beam and all, as being a wonderfully effective tool and think it does its work easily for the horses as well. I took hold of the handles of these plows and found that they ran with extraordinary steadiness.

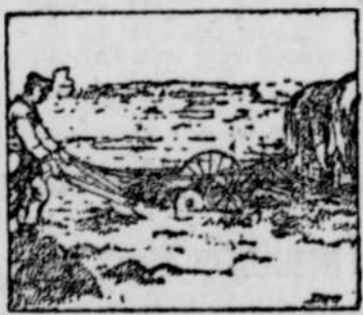

Last fall we had sixty acres of alfalfa sod to plow, and alfalfa sod is notoriously hard stuff to manage. It takes a good plow, a good team and a good plowman to plow alfalfa sod at all. We learned that a walking plow is best for alfalfa sod. We really never had much success with a riding plow in such use, but we had learned that a wheel under the beam steadied the plow and was quite a help. The wheels furnished by the plowmakers are about seven inches in diameter—too small, but useful. We started three plows, and one had no wheel. It occurred to me to adjust an old wheel from a sulky plow. Our blacksmith did this for me, and then came a further thought. Why not put on two wheels, as the Frenchmen do? I found two that matched well, one about thirty inches and one about eighteen inches in diameter, and the smith and I rudely adjusted them to a bit of one and one-quarter inch shafting for an axle. A 4 by 4 inch block went on this, and iron stirrups connected it to the plow beam. Thus one wheel could go in the furrow, one on the land, and it ought to steady the plow nicely.

I put the thing in the buggy and hastened to the field, eager to test it. We fastened it to the plow, and I eagerly watched for results. The horses started, a rod was turned, and Frank looked around with an astonished expression on his face. "Why, it's all right!" He went a few rods farther and called back, "Finest thing I've ever seen!" The long and short of it is that we are using that plow today. It has turned now about sixty acres, and much of the time it has been used by an old man who could never have endured holding an ordinary plow in alfalfa sod. The work of that plow is perfect. It matters very little indeed whether one holds to the handles or not, it runs along and does business just the same. We made another carriage better in that the one and one-quarter inch axle has turns in it that make the wheels set on cranks, so that

WING'S FRENCH PLOW IN USE.

It is readily adjustable to depth, and this works with a lever. The plow goes along as exactly as a big plane.

Now, it seems to me that plow manufacturers should take a hint from this. Such an attachment as I have adapted ought to be sold for less than $10 and, added to the already very good plows, would make for perfect work.

If the manufacturers will not do this, one can usually find old wheels either on his own farm or in the junk shop to make his own plow carriage. We find only one difficulty in adjustment. It is to keep the plow level, rather running a little on the land side, especially in tough alfalfa sod. This we manage by inserting a thin wedge of wood under the beam when clamping it down. There is a better way. One wheel might be arranged to be raised or lowered independently of the other.

Where Orchards Are Small.

In portions of the country where individual orchards are small, but situated close together, a central cooking plant may often be used in co-operation or by an individual who supplies the lime-sulphur wash during the spraying season to the orchardists of the community. The practicability of this plan has already been demonstrated.
