

CENTRAL POINT HERALD

S. A. PATTISON, PUBLISHER.

An independent local newspaper devoted to the interests of Central Point and the Rogue River Valley. Published Every Thursday. Subscription price, $1.50 per year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class Matter, May 4, 1906, at the Post Office at Central Point, Oregon, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

"5,000 IN 1912"

BETTER MAIL SERVICE NEEDED.

The different towns of the Rogue River Valley should make a united effort to have a change made in the present afternoon north-bound mail service. Under the present arrangement mail from the south does not reach Central Point until 8:49 P. M., after the office is closed and the mail cannot be distributed and delivered to patrons until the following morning. If the mail was carried on No. 16, which reaches here at 5:34 P. M. it would be delivered to patrons by 6:00 o'clock and if necessary replies could be mailed in time to go south on the Shasta limited the following morning, a saving of some 10 hours. Again, mail addressed to Portland and mailed after 9:00 A. M. does not leave here until 8:49 P. M. and does not reach Portland until 11:00 A. M. the following morning, too late for delivery until after noon. If carried on No. 16 it would reach Portland at about 7:00 A. M., be delivered before noon and the answer could be mailed that evening and reach this place early the following morning. Southern Oregon is entitled to a better mail service than this and if the commercial bodies of the different towns would go after it it could be secured.

The south bound trains are very satisfactory. Portland afternoon papers now reach here early the following morning, instead of 10:20 as formerly and an early edition of the morning Oregonian reaches here at 3:16.

An automobile enthusiast is arranging to leave Beverly in an auto at the same time President Taft leaves on his special train for his western trip and will try to beat the president's special to Seattle. If he succeeds and his auto was a steamboat and if President Taft was Teddy Roosevelt the fellow might lose his license as the Mississippi pilot did.

Best Treatment for a Burn

If for no other reason Chamberlains Salve should be kept in every household on account of its great value in the treatment of burns. It allays the pain almost instantly, and unless the injury is a severe one, heals the parts without leaving a scar. The salve is also unequalled for chapped hands sore nipples and diseases of the skin. Price 25 cents Sold by Mary A. Mee.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

TAKE care of what common sense you may possess, for the world's stock of that commodity is low.

School children are in accord on one subject. If they were to make the history they would scatter fewer big words through it.

Any one who thinks that too much can't be said on some subjects hasn't had the privilege of listening to the feminine contingent.

We often hear a man say that he is doing the best to do his worst.

Often after we have toiled all day for our daily bread we have to toll half of the night for occasional butter.

Twins create a great deal of admiration, but somehow seem to cause very little envy.

It is most exasperating not to find anybody to blame for your ill temper.

We really are practicing self denial when we so carefully withhold our most excellent advice.

Lots of people get busy too often. What they most need is to keep busy.

Putting up a good imitation of likin' work is also a good long stride toward success.

The Sixteenth Amendment.
Alabam, which comes first on the roll call of national conventions, is also first in passing the income tax amendment to the federal constitution. If her unanimous approval of the measure is any criterion the amendment is certain to be adopted. Another favorable omen is that no change in the constitution has ever been proposed by congress that was not ratified by the states. The method of amendment laid down in the constitution itself requires a two-thirds vote in both houses of congress and an affirmative action by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states. In the case of the income tax the vote in the two houses of congress was practically unanimous. An additional good omen for the success of the sixteenth amendment to the constitution has been brought out in a canvass made by one of the New York newspapers, the first ten amendments having been virtually agreed to by the constitutional convention itself and having been adopted on bloc soon after. As approximately 120 years have passed since the instrument went into effect, it is thus seen how few and slight the alterations have been. Hardly a greater example of stability is to be found in the history of nations, which is all the more remarkable because of the popular character of our institutions and the consequent instability that fact is usually thought to imply.

It has been forty years since the last amendment to the constitution was proposed and thirty-nine years since its adoption. As a matter of fact there have only been about five changes in our national charter, the first ten amendments having been virtually agreed to by the constitutional convention itself and having been adopted on bloc soon after. As approximately 120 years have passed since the instrument went into effect, it is thus seen how few and slight the alterations have been. Hardly a greater example of stability is to be found in the history of nations, which is all the more remarkable because of the popular character of our institutions and the consequent instability that fact is usually thought to imply.

The right of congress to levy an income tax was evoked during the civil war and was never questioned until 1895, when by a five to four vote it was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court. The present proposed constitutional amendment is the result of that decision. J. A. EDGERTON.

The Aviator's Chief Problem.
The general view is that the greatest difficulty in the way of the aeroplane lies in overcoming air currents. Aviators themselves do not agree with this opinion. To them the navigation of air currents, except in unusual winds, has become comparatively simple. They agree in the statement that their chief problem is one of motor power. An examination of the recent accidents to aeroplanes shows that nearly every one of them was due to a failure of the motor. This it was that caused the two disasters to Hubert Latham in his attempts to cross the English channel. It also occasioned the first slight mishaps of Orville Wright at Fort Myer.

The same problem has been present in automobilism and motorboat navigation. The failure of a motor with these, however, usually occasions nothing more than a stoppage of the machine and a more or less tedious delay. In the aeroplane the case is more serious. The stoppage of the motor here means necessarily an immediate descent, with the attendant danger of accident. The problem is also complicated by the necessity for lighter motors and the consequent elimination of some of the important parts of the engines. Glenn H. Curtiss and some other aviators have succeeded in contriving surprisingly light motors, but in sacrificing weight they have also sacrificed efficiency. On the other hand, the Wright brothers have retained the heavy motors and depended on their machines to lift the greater weight. Yet even with them the failure of the engine at critical times has caused a few more or less serious mishaps. It is plain that aeroplane inventors should henceforth turn their attention to the perfecting of a suitable motor and that with their success the aeroplane problem will be solved. With a reliable engine the aviator can fly at greater heights, can cover longer distances and can be practically insured against accident.

A bunch of waitresses at a summer resort have gone on strike because they were not allowed to flirt. After all, waitresses are but women, and since they saw all the other women flirting what could the poor girls do?

Why Druggists Recommend Chamberlains

Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy
Frank C. Hanrahan a prominent druggist of Portsmouth, Va., says: "For the past six years I have sold and recommended Chamberlains Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is a great remedy and one of the best patent medicines on the market. I handle some others for the same purpose that pay me a larger profit but this remedy is sure to effect a cure, and my customer so certain to appreciate my recommending it to him that I give it the preference." Sold by Mary A. Mee.

A Sprained Ankle

As usually treated a sprained ankle will usually disable the injured person for a month or more, but by applying Chamberlains Liniment and observing the directions with each bottle faithfully, a cure may, in most cases, be effected in less than one week's time. This liniment is a most remarkable preparation; try it for a sprain or a bruise or when laid up with a chronic or muscular rheumatism, and you are certain to be delighted with the prompt relief which it affords. Sold by Mary A. Mee.

LOOKING ACROSS GEYSER BASIN AT HORTICULTURAL HALL.

No fairer scene can be offered any place than the outlook from the foot of the Alaska Monument on the grounds of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. Standing directly in front of the great building of the United States Government, the enormous golden eagle on his towering perch of northern gold keeps watch and guard over the most perfect exposition city that has ever been reared. Under his eye are gathered the rarest collection of man's examples of skill and art ever assembled, and these find shelter in a magnificent group of permanent and temporary buildings, whose architectural design and clever construction exemplify the very highest of man's inventive ability.

At night when the long twilight of the northern latitudes close down, the manifold beauties of the spot show their greatest charm. With the fading of day comes the romance of evening and the millions of lamps, made brilliant by electricity, flash their rainbow tints over a land such as fairies might have builded. The rushing, tumbling torrents of the Cascades pour their enormous volume over a bed covered by electric bulbs, and from the quiet pool of Geyser Basin are reflected as in a mirror. Electroliters of French design are lavishly scattered beneath the trees, and from their clear rays the fields of flowers are seen in added hues.

A Poor Weak Woman

As she is termed, will endure bravely and patiently agonies which a strong man would give way under. The fact is women are more patient than they ought to be under such troubles. Every woman ought to know that she may obtain the most experienced medical advice free of charge and in absolute confidence and privacy by writing to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for many years and has had a wider practical experience in the treatment of women's diseases than any other physician in this country. His medicines are world-famous for their astonishing efficacy.

The most perfect remedy ever devised for weak and delicate women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

The many and varied symptoms of woman's peculiar ailments are fully set forth in Plain English in the People's Medical Adviser (1008 pages), a newly revised and up-to-date Edition of which, cloth-bound, will be mailed free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. Address as above.
