

Local and Personal

Dr. E. Davis, dentist, over Hatfield's store.

J. J. Houck, of Gold Hill, was in Central Point the forepart of this week.

E. A. Bissell and family, of Table Rock, left Thursday for a visit at their old home at Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Ruby and son, of Smith county, Kansas, visited her father, G. W. Jeffers, during the week.

Mrs. K. H. Sickafosse left Monday evening for a visit with friends in the Willamette valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, of Klamath Falls, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Clemens for several days last week.

FOR SALE—Household goods cheap. C. E. Wolverton, Ash street Central Point

Supt. J. Percy Wells, of Jacksonville, paid the Central Point schools an official visit on Tuesday of this week.

It is understood that active work will be resumed on the Cascade coal mine, east of town, within a few days.

The ladies of the Christian church will serve a chicken dinner on Thanksgiving day in the Town Hall. 24tf

H. T. Findlay, the well known orchardist, with interests at Table Rock and near Medford, was in town Monday morning.

Mrs. A. P. Gillet returned Friday from Canyonville where she has been for the past month. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. Du-bell.

D. H. Brown, of Roseburg, has leased the building formerly occupied by the Central Point Meat Market and has opened a fish market therein.

C. W. McDonald, formerly engaged in the shoe business in Medford, was here Tuesday looking over the future possibilities of Central Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold, relatives of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Norcross, are here from Iowa visiting and enjoying the scenic and other attractions of the valley.

LOST—A silk watch fob with gold trimmings, Masonic emblem engraved. Finder please return to F. F. Cooper and receive reward.

Miss Eva Norcross, a successful teacher whose home is here, has returned to Eola, a suburb of Salem, Oregon, where she holds a position in the public schools.

In the list of new buildings already completed and in course of construction here this year the new dwellings of H. J. Gardner and W. E. Alexander were inadvertently overlooked, and there are probably others.

Roy Ross mixed in a football game on the school grounds last Friday and came out with a broken arm. The fracture was reduced by Drs. Anderson & Polnitz and "Toad" was able to enjoy the practice game Sunday afternoon as a spectator.

The sale of the Albert confectionery business and property on Pine street to Mrs. Cecelia Lemeister, of Medford, which was reported in our last issue, was made through the office of W. F. Whiteside, the well-known real estate dealer.

D. E. Blackburn arrived here last Saturday from Woodville to take charge of the local Southern Pacific station as agent. Mr. Blackburn is a railroad man of considerable experience and has for some time been in charge of the company's business at Woodville.

A fine shower visited this section Friday afternoon and evening during which more than one-fourth of an inch of rain fell. The shower was of great benefit to the country in putting the dust out of business, quenching the forest fires and clearing the smoke-laden atmosphere.

J. O. Inneson, James Shields and H. F. Poart returned Sunday from a hunting trip on Elk creek. Mr. Inneson reports that while their success was not shining he is convinced that the next trip will be all that could be desired, as they found out to a certainty just where the deer will be when they take another trip up that way.

V. Beatty, who resides at the old O. Jara place near Toke, will hold public sale Saturday, October 3, when a large number of horses, farming implements, vehicles, household goods, etc., will be sold. Geo. L. Neale is the auctioneer and it is understood that everything is to be sold. For full particulars see bills which will be posted in a day or two.

W. P. Twomey, the expert gardener, has the world beaten this season for big su flowers. A specimen he furnished Medford exhibit building Monday measured 22 inches in diameter or 66 inches around and he has another still growing in his garden which is several inches larger than he is saying to put on exhibition in Central Point as soon as it gets growing. Mr. Twomey has demonstrated the benefit of plenty of water on garden land here, having his own well and pumping plant on his property on North Fifth street. The big su flowers are only earnest of what his berries and vegetables are.

Rev. T. J. Hazelton and family arrived last Friday from Kalispel, Mont., where he has formerly been engaged in pastoral work with the Methodist Episcopal church of that place. Mr. Hazelton has received the appointment to the work at this place and has already entered upon his duties. He will hold regular services in the M. E. church here next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and will preach at Gold Hill in the evening of that day.

J. E. Foster, and family, former residents of this section, arrived from Philadelphia, Penna., last Saturday, where they have been residing for the past four years, and have resumed residence on their farm on Rogne River. Mr. Foster is a native Oregonian and a four years residence in the east served to make him a greater admirer of the Rogne River valley than he had ever before been. He was amazed at the rapid growth of Central Point since he went away, as well as the entire valley.

T. M. Jones, proprietor of the Central Point Furniture Store, is the busiest man in town this week getting ready to remove his big stock of house furnishing goods into his new quarters in the Rostel building. Mr. Jones will have one of the neatest and best appointed stores in the valley when once settled in his new quarters and will be able to display his big, new stock of goods in a manner never before attempted in Central Point. The new store will afford about 2500 feet of floor space on which to display his stock.

Too much booze injudiciously handled in a dry town was the cause of trouble Saturday evening, when two young men apparently looking for trouble created a disturbance at a quiet dance in a local hall. When the owner of the building requested them to leave the hall a mixup occurred, in which the aggressors were landed in the street and later were haled before the city recorder and fined. Prohibition of the local option variety does not always remove the evils aimed at when other towns within easy reach can supply the shrewdly to put men in a condition to raise Cain.

School Notes.

The Central Point schools opened Monday, Sept. 6th, with an attendance of 249 pupils, that is increasing rapidly.

Miss Mary Hanley has returned from her mountain home and has entered the Eighth grade.

Within the next week or so baseball will take the place of tennis.

Prof. Cooper is expecting another teacher to relieve him of some of his responsibilities in teaching.

Prof. Cooper has just begun his tennis playing. He has good luck.

Merritt Meariman and Arthur Marshall are considered the champions at tennis this year. Some few have been trying to start football but cant make it as tennis is too popular.

Frank Atkins, a former member of the High School has just left for Corvallis.

Francis Shields was absent from school Monday on account of lagrippe.

Tennis has been stopped on account of rain.

Football has been stopped on account of two boys getting hurt, one getting his arm broke.

This week the first monthly tests are being held.

"Greenawn-n-n-n!"
Along the quiet city streets
The hawker wends his way.
He loudly cries his green supplies
From dawn till close of day.
How often has he wearied us
Till on this early morn
When on his round he made resound:
"Greenawn-n-n-n! Greenawn-n-n-n!"
Away with huckleberries now!
Away with peaches too!
Away with cantaloupes and pears
And berries black and blue!
Thrice welcome now the hawker's voice,
Though he is close to dawn!
How sweetly falls each plaintive call:
"Greenawn-n-n-n! Greenawn-n-n-n!"
—Boston Herald.

A Decorative Essential.
"I guess we'd better sell that cow," said Mrs. Corntassel. "She doesn't give any milk."
"No," answered her husband. "But we dasn't sell her. Every summer boarder asks if we keep a cow, an' I've got to be able to say 'Yes.' I'm blest if I see what city people find so confounded ornamental in a cow."—Washington Star.

A Mystery Revealed.
I said to him, "O wisest one
Of all that dwell
On sands, why shunnest thou the world
Within thy shell?"
"Go to!" he cried. "I see that thou
Where breezes blow
Hast never lingered. Broken vows
Thou then shouldst know
And vanity. Of summer girls
I will not brag,
But, bribe, they have made of me
A hermit crab."
—New York Herald.

Defined.
Mrs. Jones—This paper speaks of a "lobbyist" as if it was a term of reproach.
Mrs. Plagore—Of course. A lobbyist, I take it, is one of those devilful men who sneak out between the nets for a drink, claiming they are merely going into the lobby.—Philadelphia Press.

Up to Date.
There was when I have longed for wings
And thought how truly grand
"I would be to be an angel
And with the angels stand."
But now I long for earthly things
And such more strenuous motion.
I'd rather have an aeroplane
And fly across the ocean.
—New York Telegram.
