

CENTRAL POINT HERALD

S. A. PATTISON, PUBLISHER.
An independent local newspaper devoted to the interests of Central Point and the Rogue River Valley. Published Every Thursday. Subscription price, $1.50 per year, in advance.

Entered as Second-class Matter, May 4, 1906, at the Post Office at Central Point, Oregon, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

THIS PAPER is kept on file at the DAKA ADVERTISING AGENCY, Inc., 425 South Main Street, Los Angeles, and 779 Market Street, San Francisco, where contracts for advertising can be made for it.

"5000, IN 1912"

The recent revival held in Ashland was so successful that it "skunked" all other efforts of that nature yet held in the valley.

Ashland wants a tourist Hotel and many there are who desire to invest in such an enterprise in that beautiful city, but refuse to do so with Carrie Nation attachments.

Nature could have done no more for Southern Oregon than she did, simply to empty her lavish horn all in one spot, and it is only the moss covered slug-gard who will trample these blessings under foot.

You can take the good Lord good devil newspaper man and place him in an ordinary thimble and then have as much room as a saint in eternity, but the fruits of his labors will be knotty and warty and wormy to boot.

The resource development of Southern Oregon is only in its infancy. Give the plow of enterprise a little more land, raise the clevis pin and let the point go a little deeper and it will turn up the rich soil of unqualified success.

The "Knocking Bird" is a native of every community in every clime. You can tell him easily by both his plumage and his verbiage. His feathers are always ruffled the wrong way and his twitter the spontaneous outburst of a diseased imagination.

No man is the whole thing, it takes a lot of men to build up a good prosperous community. The man who comes to believe that he is the Alpha and Omega of the whole shebang, generally wakes up and finds that he is only 30 cents worth of dog meat.

Drop your little petty strifes and pull together for Central Point. Don't pull down your own town to air your foolish anger, and when your tongue burns with stinging vituperations and vitriolic verbs, don't let it loose my pet, but "put it on ice a while, put it on ice."

The Oregonian discovered last week that there is such a place on the map as Southern Oregon. That worthy publication actually mentioned Medford in an editorial and hinted that some fruit is being grown in the Rogue River Valley. Harvey Scott is not such a bad old boy after all.

Rich in horticulture, agriculture, stock raising and mining. Such is Jackson county Oregon, and it does not require a Lick telescope to enable one to see the many advantages to be gained in locating here. Wealth shows golden croppings at every mile post and its development only awaits the touch of the hand of enterprising husbandry.

Some of the folks in the beautiful city of Ashland are not fond of that particular brand of ecclesiastical perfumery tendered to Dr. Oliver last Saturday evening. The aroma, however, was not so preponderously obnoxious, by several degrees as the language used by the learned evangelist about mothers who allow their daughters to dance.

John D. Robafeller is making strenuous effort to hand Uncle Sam a loaded cheroot along with his "foundation fund." The luxury rose of petroleum finance will have a chance before many years to form a trust in a warmer state than Florida, somewhere in the dominion of his Satanic Majesty in the proverbial sulphuric valley.

Rogue River Pruning Knife, is the name of a new publication to be issued by the Farmer-Frazier Printing and Engraving Co., on July 15th. "The paper will be established in Ashland and devoted entirely to horticulture and its kindred pursuits," writes Mr. Farmer who is now in the east purchasing machinery and material and consulting his partner, Henry W. Frazier an expert engraver. The publication will be the most elaborate of the kind in the state.

Capital is a good thing when used to develop the resources of the country, but when it is hidden in a sock and buried beneath the debris of a miser's greed, it becomes as dormant as the stones which stud the rock-ribbed hills, and as useless as a hazelsplitter hog would be on the gold-paved streets of the New Jerusalem. Dig up that old sock and invest its contents in Central Point property and enjoy its fruits while you live. You will be a long time dead and besides, our particular brand of filthy lucre will not be accepted in payment of transport charges across the Jasper sea.

The development of the resources of a community, a county, a state or a nation, depends almost entirely upon the public spirit of its citizens. Enterprise will flourish like unto the laurel and the bay, but mossbackism grows but a poor crop on the best of land and the crop is invariably prodigal in a yield of retrogression. Twentieth century business cannot be transacted with tenth century methods. We are living in an age when the good seed of enterprise must be sown if we desire to reap the bountiful harvest of progress.

For Constipation.

Mr. L. H. Farnham, a prominent druggist of Spirit Lake, Iowa, says: "Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are certainly the best thing on the market for constipation." Give these tablets a trial. You are certain to find them agreeable and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. Samples free, or sale by Mary A. Mee.

La Fuerza.

The oldest inhabited dwelling in the western hemisphere is said to be La Fuerza, in Havana, built about 1538. Other forts and some convents in Santo Domingo antedate it, but they are all broken ruins now, while La Fuerza is of service still as a storehouse and barracks for the rural guards.

Our First Public Library.

Peterboro, in New Hampshire, established the first free public library in the United States in 1833, and as early as 1849 a general law authorizing taxation for library purposes was passed.

Eminent Authorities say that out-door exercise is needed by the American people. That's all very well, but how can people with rheumatism follow that advice? The answer is very simple—use Ballard's Snow Liniment and the rheumatism will go, leaving you as spry as a colt. Gives quick and permanent relief from rheumatism, neuralgia, lame back and all pains. Sold by Mary A. Mee.

No Change.

"Married life is apt to grow monotonous."
"I don't know. My wife is as kind to me as the day we were married."
"That is something to be thankful for."
"Oh, I don't know. She hit me over the head with a broomstick the first day."

A KNOCKER

is a man who can't see good in any person or thing. It's a habit caused by a disordered liver. If you find that you are beginning to see things through blue spectacles, treat your liver to a good cleaning out process with Ballard's Herbine. A sure cure for constipation, dyspepsia, indigestion, sick headache, biliousness, all liver, stomach and bowel troubles. Sold by Mary A. Mee.

A Fearful Earthquake.
One of the most destructive earthquakes in the world's history was that which occurred in Tokyo in the year 1703, when 100,000 people were killed.

Street Organs in Verviere.
Organ grinders in Verviere, Belgium, must keep their instruments in tune. Every morning they are required to go before the police superintendent and play their instruments. The organs which chance to be out of tune must be set in order before a license to play on the streets will be granted.

Our admirable old pedestrian, Edward Payson Weston, is certainly a delight. Not satisfied with having walked across the continent after he had reached threescore years and ten, he now proposes to turn face and "hike" back again, doing the distance in 100 days.

That mysterious earthquake of New Year's day may have been the shivering of Central American dictators over the sudden strenuousness of Uncle Sam.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.
It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak" the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.
To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.
In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.
Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."
