Entered as Second-class matter, May 4 1906, at the Post office at Central Point, Oregon, under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

THIS PAPER is kept on file at the DARR ADVERTISING AGENCY, INC., 427 South Main Street, Los Angeles, and 779 Market Street, San Francisco, where contracts for advertising can be made for it.

"5000, IN 1912"

SPURS OF THE MOMENT.

Knocking will never unearth the pay-streak of prosperity.

Do a little good every day and you will wind up with a much larger bank account of good deeds in the exchequer of the Master, than you will by periodical spurts of piety.

"Thou Shalt Not Kill," but if you do, for the sake of progress kill a mossback and throw yourself on the mercy of the court. Your trouble will go no farther than the coroner's inquest.

Central Point has quit baseball and gone into the Fire Department business. Home runs don't count any more, but the opportunity for climbing the ladder of fame presents itself in a more subtle form.

The laws of the land have just about put an end to gambling, such as poker, faro, craps, roulette, monte, blackjack, dice and bucket shops, but the hallelujah shell game is busy and many are the lambs that are being shorn.

Harvey Scott of the Oregonian is unfriendly to the Crater Lake road. That's nothing. Harvey is unfriendly to any earthly thing that does not empty its treasure into the coffers of Portland. Harvey will kick on the fountain of life in the New Jerusalem when he finds out that it is not the source of the Willamette river.

Many people leave Central Point only to return again to invest permanently. All Oregon and all the Pacific coast is beautiful, but the Rogue river valley is the flower garden in this great empire of peace and plenty and when it comes to settling down in life's last cozy corner, "there is no place like home," when it is in the vicinity of Central Point.

"Where am I," gasped the frightened maiden. "No need to scream, my pretty Amazon," replied the coarse villain, who bore her in his burly arms, "you are in a mossback store that never advertises and no one will hear you. You are in Ashland, dearie."

The vinegar bottle of auction sale harness did not catch any great number of rural flies at Central Point last Saturday. God bless the citizen who has sense enough to pass up the punk peddlers of eastern auction goods for the good reliable article which can be purchased just as cheaply from home business men.

If you are unable to have everything just as you want it, just consider that other people have ideas and rights as well as yourself. The man who will concede nothing to his fellowmen is a baccilic, billious and blue idiot, whose ideas are no higher than those of a brickbat. A man elected to office by the people, is a servant of the people and not a dictator nor Czar upon whose head the constituency must place a coronet. Leaders of men are necessary, but the power of the slave-driver died at Appomattox.

Local and Personal.

Central Point is not "booming," but it is making a substantial growth which will cause the other towns of this country to sit up and take notice.

The plasterers have finished their work on the palatial home of A. W. Cowley on East Pine street and the workmen are busy with inside finish and decorations.

Mr. R. B. Hawley of Creswell, Oregon, who was here last week visiting friends, is more than pleased with Central Point and says were it not for the fact that he has invested heavily in Creswell, he would not hesitate to put up a cement business block in this town.

The Caldwell family, who left here some two years ago for Yoncola, where they invested in real estate, returned to Central Point and will locate here permanently. The investment made by them at Yoncola was a good one as they sold their holdings there some time ago at an advance of 100 per cent. over the price paid. James Caldwell, his mother and sister, arrived last Thursday afternoon on No. 13, Frank came a day or two later with a car of stock and household goods and Steve came through overland with a team and several head of horses. They liked the Douglas county town pretty well, but are glad to be back in the Rogue River valley which they look upon as the ideal place for a permanent home.

Ashland is now shedding crocodile tears over the momentous question as to whether dogs and horses shall be allowed to quench their thirst at the Carter Coat of Arms.

A town does much for some people who never do anything for the town. We have lived in towns where men have grown rich in a business way, but should they pass away they would leave nothing as a monument to their memories but a board shack. Every man who makes his fortune in a town should endeavor to leave some respectable mark to his memory, some building, park or fountain at which his children and friends can point with pride.

Rev. E. M. Coen has taken charge of the pastoral work for the Presbyterian church of this city and in the future services will be held every Sunday morning in the A. O. U. W. hall, corner Second and Fine streets

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, In Plain English; or, Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, paper-bound, sent for 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only. Cloth-bound, 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
