AT BED
TIME

The little people are usually afraid of the dark, and a light bed room gives them confidence.

Put a bed room lighted by open flame methods takes away from the secure feeling of the parents. Use electricity for light and there will be no danger of fire to the tiny ones.

They can turn it off and on without danger. Send for the man NOW.

Depth of the Atlantic.
It is now possible to assert that in but few places has the Atlantic a depth exceeding 3,000 fathoms, or three and one-quarter miles. Its greatest depth is about a hundred miles north of the Island of St. Thomas, where it reaches a depth of 3,875 fathoms, or about four miles and a quarter.

Alaska.
Alaska is in the same latitude as Sweden, Norway and Finland, has a much better climate, more fertile land and is much larger than all three of these countries put together.

Among the Churches.

SCIENTIST.
Christian Science services are held every Sunday morning at 11:00 in the lodge-room, second floor of the G. A. R. building. Sunday-school at 9:45 A. M. All interested are cordially invited to attend these services. Subject for Sunday, July 23, "Truth."

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.
Rev. Horace N. Aldrich, pastor. Sunday School 10:30 a. m. Morning Service at 11:00 o'clock. Theme: "Acquaintance with God." Epworth League devotional service at 7:15 p. m. Subject: "Losses More Valuable Than Gains." Evening service at 8 o'clock. Subject: "Two Great Evils." You are invited to worship with us.

BAPTIST.
Sunday school at 10:00 o'clock a. m. Morning service at 11:00 o'clock. Evening service at 8:00 o'clock. Yourself and friends will be welcome at all these services.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH.
Sunday school at 10 a. m. Morning service at 11; subject, "The greatest need of the church." Christian Endeavor at 7 p. m. Evening service at 8; subject, "The culture of courtesy."

We desire to announce to the public that the pews in the church have been repaired and will be safe for use by Sunday.

Rev. Ernest, pastor.

The Real Reason.
Adam sat down. "I am the greatest man in the world," he said to himself, "the wisest sage, the biggest financier and captain of industry; I hold all the records from the hundred yard dash to the Marathon; my wife is the best dressed woman in the world; I am the best dressed man. Gadzooks, I am too good to be true; I will eat of the fruit of the tree of evil."—Life.

The Baby General.
[The infant emperor of China has been given supreme command of the army.—News Item.]

When a baby heads an army
Can he dodge the cannon balls?
Better put him in the navy;
He's an expert on the squalls.
Still the infantry might like him;
He can sound alarms at night.
But suppose he got the colic?
There would never be a fight.
—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

In Proportion.
Wife—I want a cap, please, for my husband.
Shopkeeper—Yes, madam. What size does he wear?
Wife—Well, I really forget. His collars are size 16, though I expect he'd want about size 18 or 20 for a cap, wouldn't he?—Philadelphia Press.

The Hobbler Shoe.
Have you seen the latest thing
Which the advertisements sing—
The hobbler shoe,
Brief vamp, tight toe
And heels so altitudinous?
They're wearing them right now.
Wish you'd tell me how
They got about,
Made lean and stout,
These hobbler multitudinous.
—Atlanta Constitution.

Wise Man.
"Decided where you'll spend this summer?"
"No. I'm going to let my wife decide this year. She used to wake me up in the middle of the night last summer to remind me that I picked the place out."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Good Old Days.
Sing me a song of the good old days,
The days when men could mix,
Could laugh and joke and go their ways
And not talk politics.
—Denver Post.

Sing me a song of the good old days,
The days when dames could chat
And not devote each word and phrase
To gown and wrap and hat.
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Heard Downtown.
"S'pose my face is dirty," said the office boy in the elevator, "what business is it of yours? You ain't my dad."
"No," replied the elevator man, "but I'm bringing you up."—Boston Transcript.

Made to Order.
Thrice blessed the smile of the face sincere,
But what will the spirit damp
Like the face that smiles with a smile
That seems
Put on with a rubber stamp?
—Puck.

The Cause.
"There hasn't been a death in our family for thirty-five years," said the rich old curmudgeon.
"I have often wondered why your near relatives were so fearful and impatient."—Chicago Record-Herald.

An Observation.
How happy are the pessimists!
A bliss without alloy
Is theirs when they have proved to us
There's no such thing as joy!
—Lippincott's.

Where Is Romance?
The Poetical Gent—You are the inspiration of my best poems.
The Practical Maid—You owe me a per cent of your royalties then. Let's talk business.—Toledo Blade.

His Preference.
"I wouldn't have a aeroplane."
Said little Robert Dunn
"If I was anxious to go dead
I'd borrow grandpa's gun."
—Chicago News.

The Spell Was Off.
"So your daughter jilted the school-master?"
"Yes. He corrected her simplified spellings."—Meggendorfer Blatter.

A Life Lesson.
This lesson take to heart, my son:
It's each life some rain must fall.
It's better to have loved and won
Than never to have loved at all.
—Judge.

CENTRAL POINTERS.

Miss Ina Austin left for Seattle Tuesday evening for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Louella Quist.

A daughter was born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Suhr, who reside in the southeast part of the city.

Wm. Normile, timekeeper for the Jacobson-Bade Co., was quite sick a few days last week but resumed work Monday.

W. E. Kahler came down from Ashland Thursday where he is putting in part time attending the Chautauqua meetings.

Mrs. Joe Holmes and daughter, Miss Audrey, went to Ashland Sunday to remain for the closing exercises of the Chautauqua.

Mrs. W. E. Price and daughter, Miss Helen, and guest, Miss Henderson of Oakland, went to Ashland Sunday for a few days outing.

Central Point was strongly in evidence at Ashland Sunday, there being six tables at a popular restaurant filled at one time by Central Pointers.

Probably the most popular man in the city during the recent hot wave is W. J. Nossaman, because, forsooth, he is the ice man and who could live without him.

A. W. Moon and family expect to leave tomorrow evening for Crescent City on a camping trip going via Grants Pass by auto. They will be away for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Webb, who returned from Portland on their bridal trip Thursday, were welcomed by a number of their friends at their country home near this city Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Swallow and son, Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Hoagland, Mrs. Ingram and daughter, Miss Edna, went to Coe, near the California state line, Tuesday for three weeks' outing in camp.

Messrs. and Mesdames Wm. Scott, P. F. Klein and Jack Hollingsworth spent Monday and Tuesday fishing at Happy Camp. They met with fairly good success as to the number of fish caught and brought home a salmon weighing 30 pounds when dressed.

When you feel lazy, out of sorts and yawn a good deal in the daytime, you can charge it to a torpid liver which has allowed the system to get full of impurities. HERBINE cures all disorders produced by an inactive liver. It strengthens that organ, cleanses the bowels and puts the system in good healthy condition. Price 50c. Sold by Mary A. Mee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Harrigan, of Marshfield, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Grieve, of Jacksonville during the week, having come over to take a trip to Crater Lake. With Mrs. Grieve they were callers in this city Tuesday morning. The Crater Lake trip was interfered with, however, by the receipt of a telegram from Seattle advising Mr. Harrigan of the serious illness of his aged father in that city.

A. C. Chittenden, the well known fruit and berry grower, whose place is on the "desert" 2-12 miles north of this city, was in Friday with some of his product. A sample of his everbearing strawberries which he left at this office are as fine as can be imagined. From a very small patch of these Mr. Chittenden markets two crates a week and from one acre in assorted berries he markets 15 crates a week. His Lawton blackberries are particularly fine and are just beginning to ripen.

George Gregory met with a painful accident while returning from Medford last Thursday evening. When opposite the Bedford confectionary one of the traces dropped and as he was getting out of the rig the horse started up and he was thrown out, striking on his face among the rocks in the street. His face was badly cut and bruised and he was rendered unconscious for a few minutes. A physician was summoned and the wounds were dressed, and George will soon be in shape to resume his task of disseminating hot weather concoctions for the benefit of thirsty mankind.

While all previous records for hot weather were broken last Sunday when Prof. O'Gara's official weather stick registered 109 1-2 above, nobody was seriously disgruntled at His Nibs attempt at hilarity and by common consent ice water and other cooling concoctions had the call over hot beef tea or whiskey slings, and some otherwise exemplary citizens passed up the pleasure of attending a Sunday morning church service the while they hugged the shadow of the family refrigerator on the back porch at home and wished for the night. The day was such as William Shakespeare would have called a hum dinger, if that term had been invented in his day and applied to the real thing in the Good Old Summer-time line, but, fortunately for William's fair name as not an out-of-the-ordinary being in the profanity line, it wasn't. Summers and various four-bit theorists in Central Point are reported to have beaten O'Gara's government glass to a frazzle, as high as 118 being reported during the afternoon. The excessive torridity, however, is believed to be local and is attributed by some to sun spots and by others to the sewer and paving question.

Her Harem Skirt.

I have a brand new harem skirt
Of satin rich and black,
With beaded gimp around the legs
And buttons up the back
Each day I take it from the box
In which it folded lies
To gaze upon its sable sheen
With fascinated eyes.
I shake it out and smooth it down
On sofa, chair or bed.
Its shining, bifurcated length
Admirably I spread.
Then for its narrow box again
I mournfully prepare it,
Because I haven't got the nerve
To put it on and wear it.

Site of London.

London originally stood in the center of marshes, part of which extended over the area of Southwark and Battersea.

Choosing a Puppy.

In order to make choice of a puppy from among a number of others it is best to leave the choice to the mother herself. In carrying them back to their bed the first the mother takes up will always be the best.

Izaak Walton.

Izaak Walton's treatise on the art of angling was published in 1653. That patient fisherman died in 1683 at the advanced age of ninety years.

First Coach Passenger.

A woman—the queen of Charles of Anjou—was the first person to ride in a coach. In 1280 she entered Naples in that manner.

Herring Fisheries.

The earliest mention of the herring fishery dates from the year 700.

Prescott, the Historian.

William Hickling Prescott, one of America's most eminent historians, was afflicted with imperfect vision at the age of twenty. His "Ferdinand and Isabella," "Conquest of Mexico" and "Conquest of Peru" were written under most trying circumstances, owing to his partial blindness.
