

A Hundred Years Ago to be Repeated Next Saturday Evening

The remarkable success that attended the production of the Old Folks Concert at its initial performance here February 19, and the repeated requests of many of those who witnessed that very meritorious production to have an opportunity to enjoy it once more, has caused the management of the Y. M. C. A. to arrange with Mrs. Babson, the accomplished director, for a reproduction of this musical farce on Saturday evening, March 8, in Central Hall.

Many new features will be introduced and several novel ideas added to make this splendid attraction even still more enjoyable. After the performance arrangements have been made to serve lunch free to all up stairs in the banquet room where a social hour will be enjoyed. It is expected that a large number will be present as it certainly will be a most pleasant occasion, and the low price of admission, only twenty-five cents for both concert and lunch, ought to again fill the hall.

Remember that the proceeds go towards carrying on the work of the local Y. M. C. A.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lovern, Mrs. W. D. Lewis and Mrs. Kellerman motored to Medford Wednesday afternoon.

NEW PRESIDENT IS INAUGURATED

The Usual Ceremonies Attend Induction Into Office of Woodrow Wilson

Washington.—Woodrow Wilson became the 28th president of the United States Tuesday, amid imposing ceremonies and tumultuous scenes of popular greeting. Standing at the historic east front of the capitol he took the constitutional oath of office, and in his brief inaugural address made a fervid appeal to all patriotic men for counsel and aid.

The program arranged for the pageant and ceremony was virtually the same as that of other inaugurations of recent years. The two big features of the day were the induction of the president and vice president into office at the capitol and the parade that followed these ceremonies.

At 9:45 A. M., Mr. Wilson and Mr. Marshall, accompanied by the congressional committee, began the short drive to the White House. The party whirled up the drive to find President Taft waiting to welcome the incoming president and vice president on the front portico.

At 10:17 o'clock the ride to the capitol began. In the first carriage were President Taft and Mr. Wilson, Mr. Taft occupying the right hand seat. With them were Senators Crane and Bacon. In the second carriage Mr. Marshall sat at Senator Overman's right; and with him was also Representative Rucker. In the third carriage came Representatives McKinley and Garrett.

President Taft and Mr. Wilson were at once escorted to the president's room, where Mr. Taft at once took up the work of signing bills. Mr. Marshall went to the vice president's room accompanied by members of the committee.

At 11:30 o'clock committees from the house and senate waited on President Taft in the marble room and gave formal notification that congress was ready to adjourn.

WOODROW WILSON.

The President Who Will Rule the Nation for the Next Four Years.

At 11:45 o'clock Vice-President Marshall, accompanied by the congressional committee, was ushered into the senate chamber and given a seat in the front row, facing the presiding officer, and when all the guests were assembled he stepped up to the desk and at 12:34 o'clock took the oath.

The march from the senate chamber to the east front of the capitol where the oath of office was administered followed. President Wilson was led by the senate sergeant-at-arms. Behind them came the justices of the United States supreme court wearing flowing judicial robes over their overcoats. Wilson and Taft, walking, followed. Wilson removed his hat to test the weather and a gale of wind quickly disarranged his hair. He replaced his hat immediately.

At 2:05 o'clock the new president entered a four-horse carriage and returned to the White House. He took the right hand seat. To his left rode William H. Taft, the retiring president. Opposite Wilson sat Senator Bacon of Georgia and opposite Taft sat Senator Crane of Massachusetts. Crane and Bacon were members of the congressional inaugural committee.

Behind the presidential party came troops of cavalry, infantry and bands. Mrs. Wilson and her daughters also occupied carriages in the triumphal march from the capitol to the White House. The trip up Pennsylvania avenue was one continued ovation, with President Wilson, holding his silk hat in his hand, bowing to right and left. Retiring President Taft sat back solemnly in his seat, looking stolidly at the crowd.

The inaugural parade was declared the most pretentious of any in history. In length, numbers, and novel features it was unique. For nearly three hours it wended its way through Pennsylvania avenue.

WILSON HONORED AT HOME

People of Princeton Wish President-Elect God Speed.

Princeton, N. J.—Thousands of the home folk of Princeton and with them the students of Princeton University, gave Woodrow Wilson a farewell demonstration as they bade him god-speed to the white house.

It was a unique tribute to the man who, after 27 years of residence in the historic town, had been elevated to the presidency of the United States, in that both students and townsfolk joined in cheering him.

A brass band, a glare of fireworks, and continuous cheering brought the president-elect to the door of his bungalow. The streets were muddy, but the marchers trudged merrily along. When they reached the Wilson home a great cheer went up. C. S. Robinson, a Republican, and A. S. Leigh, a Democrat, bore a silver loving cup. Colonel David M. Flinn presented it in a brief speech.

MOB OBSTRUCTS SUFFRAGE PARADE

Washington.—Five thousand women, marching in the woman suffrage pageant Monday, virtually fought their way foot by foot up Pennsylvania avenue through a surging mob that completely defied the Washington police, swamped the marchers and broke the procession into little companies. The women, trudging stoutly along under great difficulties, were able to complete their march only when troops of cavalry from Fort Myer were rushed into Washington to take charge of Pennsylvania avenue. No inauguration has ever produced such scenes, which in many instances amounted to nothing less than riots.

Later, in Continental Hall, the women turned what was to have been a suffrage demonstration into an indignation meeting, in which the Washington police were roundly denounced for their inactivity, and resolutions were adopted calling upon President-elect Wilson and the incoming congress to make an investigation and locate the responsibility for the indignities the marchers suffered.

The parade, in itself, in spite of the delays, was a great success. Passing through two walls of antagonistic humanity the marchers for the most part kept their tempers. They closed their ears to jibes and jeers. Few faltered, although several of the older women were forced to drop out from time to time.

A band of yegmen blew open the safe in the general store of Langlois & Catsforth, at Riddle, and robbed it of $75, and escaped.

The United States Geological Survey has published as Water-Supply Paper 311, its annual volume for 1911 showing the results of the measurements of the principal streams of the Pacific coast in California. The field work has been carried on by the Federal Survey in cooperation with the state of California, and gaging stations were maintained during the year about 200 points. These records of the year, and year after, are of the utmost importance in the consideration of all projects related to the development of water supply for irrigation power, etc. A copy of the report may be obtained free on application to the Director of the United States Geological Survey at Washington, D.
