The choir of the Methodist church will give an entertainment entitled, "The New Minister" on Friday, April 17th. The members of the choir and friends are working faithfully and promise you a real treat. Some of them are saying that this will be the best entertainment of its kind ever given in Central Point. Remember the date and make no other engagements Friday, April 17.

The Southern Pacific has put into effect a Sunday excursion rate from Portland and intermediate points to the Rogue River valley, according to John M. Scott, general passenger agent, who made a trip through the valley the first of the week and was so favorably impressed with the beauty of the blooming orchards and the lovely weather that he wired back instructions to road officials to make a special rate for a Sunday trip to points in this valley.

William Gerig, consulting engineer for Jackson county, who examined the bridge across the river at Rogue River at the request of the county court reports that the pier on the west side has been undermined by the water and that it should be repaired during the low water period this summer. It seems the pier was set on loose rock instead of being put down to bed rock and the current has washed away the support to a considerable extent. The engineer reports, however, that the structure is safe for ordinary travel until the damage can be repaired. He also recommends that the bridge be painted and the bolts and rivets tightened at once.

Within less than a month after the Portland Commercial Club and allied organizations throughout the Northwest started a campaign for an extension of parcel post provisions, the Postmaster General has issued an order that in future seeds, bulbs, cuttings, roots, scions and plants, in packages exceeding four ounces in weight will be subject to parcel post zonal rates. In packages weighing four ounces or less, a flat rate of one cent per ounce will apply.

J. W. Brewer, in charge of the farm lands department of the Oregon State Immigration Commission, is traveling through the eastern and central parts of the state gathering data for the next issue of the Oregon Almanac, the official publication of the commission. This data, when completed, will give full information as to location of lands, size of tracts, crops best adapted to certain sections, prices at which it can be purchased and terms. It is expected this will be of great help to the homeseeker in finding just the location he wants and save expense of traveling from one part of the state to another in search of suitable land.

Singler for Sheriff

In accepting the appointment succeeding my brother for his unexpired term as Sheriff, I did so for the benefit of his widow and family. The office has had an honest and efficient administration.

With the same objects and purposes in view I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the Republican nomination at the primaries May 15th, 1914.

High School Notes

The ten senior members of the teachers' training department took the afternoon of Wednesday off and visited three of our rural schools.

Misses Lenore Barnett, Ina Austin, and Audrey Holmes visited what is known as the West Side school.

Misses Theresa Tieknor, Ella Hay, Blanche Miller, and Grace Miller visited at district 100. While Louise Ellstad, Bertha Martin and Martina Neal visited the Oak Grove school on the Medford-Jacksonville road.

They all reported pleasant visits and the best of consideration from the teachers of these schools. This class is now studying and discussing rural school problems. Some day in the near future they intend to visit one of our city schools and make a thorough study of the school plant and system.

Friday was "picture day" at the high school. About twenty pictures were taken of the different classes, athletic teams and official bodies to be put in the annual and the work proved very satisfactory. Mr. Miller returned Monday and took several pictures in the Domestic Science and Art Departments.

At three o'clock on Friday afternoon a baseball game between the first and second teams was called. The game was a very good one for the first of the season, the score being 12 to 7 in the first team's favor.

A number of tennis courts have been laid out on the campus and that popular game is well under way.

GRADE NOTES

The second grade is taking up the study of birds and has joined the Audubon Society. They will study the birds best known near home, their characteristics, their natural enemies and how they help the farmer, etc. The children are very much interested already and we hope their eyes and ears will be trained to notice things which they haven't heretofore.

First grade was glad to welcome Edgar Robinson of the Medford schools.

The little folks are delighted with their pictures, taken Monday.

The boys and girls have made a Holland Saddle Table, which is very real to them, with the dolls in Dutch dress windmills, tulip beds, cows, canals and other characteristics of that country.

Forest Notes

The stringent requirement of the forest service that all sheep be dipped before entering the national forests has practically eradicated scabies on those areas.

The lumbermen of Maine in 1900 originated in this country the use of mountain lookout towers with telephone connection for the prompt location and suppression of forest fires.

A California firm is selling eucalyptus charcoal at $24 a ton, as against $20 a ton for oak charcoal. Since most of the California-grown eucalyptus do not make good lumber, uses for other products of the tree are being sought.

Fifteen small sawmills are cutting timber from the Powell national forest in southern Utah, more than 100 miles from the nearest railroad. They are run by settlers during time that can be spared from the crops, and supply local needs since there is no opportunity to ship timber in or out.
