Leslie Ossman, a popular young man of Medford, decided that the beautiful evening of Monday would be just right for a spin in the machine, so drove up irl. Upon arriving at his destination he attempted to turn his machine around on the road, made a miscal culation and the machine landed in the deep mud beside the road. After about an hour and a half of patient but unavailing effort on the part of the unchants happened along in an auto and succeeded in extracting the mired car from the ditch. Leslie enjoyed his
