To Newspaper:

If possible, use the following as an item of news:

The second series of pictures of the county stereopticon circuit have arrived and are being shown in the schools this week.

The freshmen will entertain the student body with a relay program at the Y. M. C. A. building this evening.

Three pairs of spikes arrived early this week and the track smoothed up a little, so if the weather permits and that vaulting pole gets here we can begin track practice in earnest.

The Honor Roll for the 5th six week's period is rather short. The fortunate ones are: Mildred Carlton, John Ellestad, Katherine Nealon and Delila Stevens.

Mr. Stanley was unable to be at school Monday on account of illness.

Miss Jessie Chauncy and Miss Rose Neale of the teachers Training Course accompanied Sust. Ager, Tuesday on his visits to several rural schools for observation in rural methods.

We'll have to have a picnic some of these fine days.

Mr. Franklin visited our school Monday afternoon and gave a short talk in the high school as well as the grades explaining the educational department of this paper. We hope the students will be encouraged to contribute their compositions, stories or poems and other school news.

Soldier Homesteader's Rights Protected

All Homestead entrymen who have not made proof on their entries, and who enlist in any branch of the army or navy of the United States, while a state of war exists, should notify the local land office of that fact, designating the branch of the service they have entered. This will enable the land office to protect the entryman against contest of his entry for failure to make proof, if Congress shall grant relief from residence while in the service. It is customary for Congress to protect homestead entrymen who absent themselves from their entries to serve their country in time of war.
