THE BURDEN BEARERS

The United States has entered into the World War. The burden of war will be shared by each and every one of us, whether we will it or not. While many of us are bitterly opposed to war, believing that we have reached the point in civilization's progress when war is neither right, necessary or justifiable, yet we can't escape its burden. Common sense tells us that the better way out of a bad situation, though brought upon us by influences beyond our control, is to make the best of a bad situation and see it out. It is not for us to say that we were opposed to our country getting into this European trouble, and do nothing. We MUST do something. Our own security and the perpetuity of our own democracy compels us to act—to do our part. And there is service that each and every one of us, man, woman and child, can do—must do—to "see it out." The personnel of the army is only a part of the great machine upon which the success of democracy, both at home and abroad, depend.

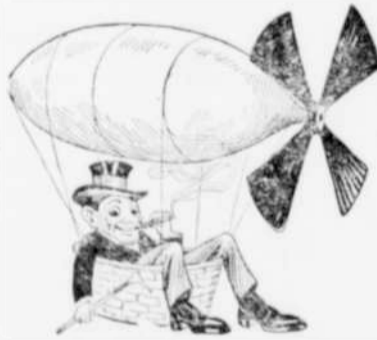

The tillers of the soil compose another big unit of the great war machine. And there are the helpers, who may or may not belong to the latter arm, that form another very essential part of the wonderful machine that must be built to insure, not only a victory for democracy, but a more speedy and less costly victory. Many of us can not enlist in the first two important units, but scarcely any of us can justly claim exemption from the last named unit. And by holding off, by being "slackers" now, we will only make for ourselves a harder position in the not distant future, and will as surely be "drafted" into service in some manner or other as we are sure that we are in the war; for funds must be raised for carrying on such work as the Red Cross is doing. If we do not offer our "bit" voluntarily, we will have to do it by force later on—by further increase in "war taxes," and by taxes on more of the necessities of life, or by conscription of our incomes, or possibly of our farms and other property as well. We are certain to have to pay for the waging of the war to a successful issue. And being "hard up" does not constitute an excuse. We are in the war and we MUST DO OUR PART, THOUGH IT DOES MEAN A SACRIFICE.

This is the week for the great Red Cross campaign. Let us all prove our patriotism by being among the first "volunteers" to enlist in this branch of the service of Uncle Sam and for Universal Democracy that will spell PEACE!

U. S. Civil Service Exam.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that an examination for stenographer and typewriter, Field Service, will be held in forty different cities throughout the Eleventh Civil Service District, June 30, 1917. Both men and women will be admitted to this examination. There is an urgent need of male stenographers and typewriters for all branches of the service in the Eleventh District, but particularly in the Quartermaster Corps of the United States army, at an entrance salary of $1,000 per annum. Typewriters without a knowledge of stenography are in demand and every eligible on the male typewriter register willing to accept an entrance salary of $1000 per annum will be appointed. Male typewriters willing to serve their country under the conditions named should apply for this examination. Application and full information will be furnished by the local secretary, Board of Civil Service Examiners, Post Office, at any of the offices where the examination will be held, or by the District Secretary, Room 303 Post-office Bldg., Seattle, Wash.
