CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS

THE FEDERATED CHURCHES
J. M. Johnson, Pastor

"World Peace Through Mutual Understanding" is the title of the lesson we are studying this week. The references are in Isa. 2:2-4; 11:6-10; 19:23-25; Acts 17:22-28; Eph. 4:4-6; 13:19; John 4:20, 21. Is the world making real progress toward peace? If not, then why not? Be in your place to help discuss these things, please.

Christian Endeavor young people will study the subject; Uprooting The Causes of War in their devotional services at 6:30. All young people are invited to these services.

"Getting Ready For Pentecost" will be the theme for the Sunday morning sermon; and "The Church: Its Message" will be discussed in the evening service. Good singing will help us worship God. A good hearty welcome and warm fellowship await you.

MEN'S BROTHERHOOD MEETING

Another meeting of unusual interest will be held by the men of the Brotherhood on Tuesday evening, Nov. 12th. The general subject before the meeting will be "Cooperation." The five minute speeches will be given by four of our men will introduce the different phases of the subject. E. C. Faber will speak on Cooperation of the men of the town with the men of the country. Dr. W. H. Heckman will urge the need of cooperation of parents with the health authorities of the school and county. A. H. Webster will speak of the needed loyalty to the established institutions of the town; and Theo P. Tollefson will sum up the whole matter.

This will be a popular meeting and the ladies and children are invited. There will be a song fest time also, and all the young people are expected to take part. The program will begin at promptly 7:30 p. m.

PIONEER BOYS ENJOY SPLENDID PARTY FRIDAY

The weiner roast held by the Pioneer Boy's club last Friday evening on the banks of the Rogue just below the Gold Ray dam was an event to be remembered by the boys. Just forty boys were present, and that number fully assures a live time. The six men who drove the cars that carried these fellows, and helped them eat the weiners and buns, had just as good a time as did the boys. We did not find out just how many knives were lost in the rush to get weiner roasters; but we do know that forty good, husky appetites were out of commission for the time being, as one of the results of that feed.

Around the fire that had roasted the meat, the lads gathered and listened to some short talks by the men. Mr. H. P. Jewett spoke of the evils of profanity. Mr. Robert Merritt spoke of the aims of the club work. Mr. Olaf Severson encouraged the boys to do the things which would bring them really good times. Mr. Casad, who has had experience with the operation of trains, pointed out the need of danger markers, and other designations which people will read and judge from. Mr. Johnson spoke of the need of cooperation of all the boys in putting over the programs of the club, and urged the need of the gang spirit in its greater application. Mr. Ayers used the long special train that is operated in this section, testing brakes, etc., as an object lesson to the boys to have the "brakes" in first class condition, and know when to put them into action.

Games were played in the light of the cars. A really good time is the verdict.
