SEX

The headmaster of a preparatory school came to see me, and we talked about boys.

"What do you do about this sex business?" I asked him. "Do you have a course of lectures for the boys, or do you and the other masters talk with them individually? Or what?"

He shook his head.

"No lectures," he answered.

"I am on the black-list of all the Welfare Organizations and Social Hygiene Bands and Uplift Groups. They are always wanting to send speakers up to us, and I refuse to let the speakers come, because for reason or other, they all seemed to be cracked on this subject of sex.

"The last seaker who slipped by me talked about the Great Mysteries of Life, and the Terrible Mistakes which boys make, and the Awful Penalties they incur. It was essentially a smutty talk, sweetened with moral prune juice. You could almost hear his lips smack as he delivered it.

"When he had gone, the boys appointed a committee to visit me.

"They said: 'Sir, we know all these things. We are gentlemen, and we are uncomfortable when they are talked about. Please do not embarrass us with any more such speakers.' "

If you were to get all your information from looking at motion pictures or attending Broadway shows, or listening to Social Uplifters, you would conclude that the United States has gone sex-crazy.

As a matter of fact, I am convinced that the two following statements are absolutely true:

First: Contrasting the United States with England under Henry, the Eighth, which was only four hundred years ago, Greece or Rome, which represent the highest civilization of ancient times, there is no question that life today is a hundred time cleaner, more wholesome and freer from dirt.

Second: The two great interest of this country are business and sports. Compared to these two, sex is a very weak third.

The longer I live the more confidence I have in the natural ingrained decency of men and women of boys and girls. And the more I dislike the folks who are so professionally eager to guard, correct and improve them.

sin and impurity. Sometimes it is only an office boy or a page he has for an audience.

The other day a more kind hearted studio manager took pity on the old fellow. He took him to an empty studio, carefully disconnected the mike and then got an announcer to announce the old boy. For two and three quarters hours he gave his message to the world and then went home—at last happy and contented.

The Amos 'n' Andy influence is now affecting the textile industry. Recently, several mills in Gastonia, N. C. granted an unusual request in changing the working hours so that the operatives could get home in time to hear the pair.

DID YOU KNOW—

That Georgie Hicks, newest NBC announcer, keeps a dummy mike beside his bed to practice with!

That Rudy Vallee's newest contract calls for a salary of $22,000 a week?

That Will Rogers, never met the announcer, David Ross, or the orchestra leader, Freddie Rich, of his radio hour until he broadcasted from the New York studios of CBS recently?

Combining two figured materials in one ensemble is a difficult business, not because in theory the idea is not sound, but because of the difficulty of getting two figured fabrics whose tones are all in harmony. It is like serving two elaborate made dishes in the same course at dinner. It can be done but it is difficult to get just the right combination of flavor, in both concoctions.

One way to achieve good results in combining the two sorts of figured materials is by using two different sorts of fabric in the same design and color, and in most store where material is sold by the yard it is possible to buy chiffon and crepe de chine to match which may be used in a variety of ways.

Chiffon and taffeta printed in matching colors and design may be used for evening ensembles—the chiffon for the dress and the taffeta for the short jacket or cape, which is such an indispensable addition to spring and summer evening clothes. The picture shows such a combination.

FULFILLMENT

There is a curious old chap that hangs around the various broadcasting stations. Grey haired, with watery eyes, and a broken nose, he resembles an ex pug, long past his prime. He is obsessed with only one idea—that through the tremendous power of the radio he will be able to get his message to the world. A message of peace—of abstinence from strife. He intended to give his own life, his experiences as an example. Of course they can not let him have even a second on the air.

And there he sits in the waiting rooms day after day. When an official appears he begs for a chance to broadcast his message that will redeem the world from

A Solution of Farm Problems

It is frequently said that "We must find some way to keep folks on the farm." If we are to keep folks on the farm we must make farm life as comfortable as life in the city. The farmer and his family have become too well educated to put up with farm life of fifty years ago.

ELECTRICITY WILL GIVE THEM THE COMFORT THEY DEMAND

The up-to-date farmer now insists that his farm be efficiently operated. Electricity will pump water for the farm and the dairy barn, milk the cows, cut your feed, saw your wood, irrigate your land and do countless other tasks on the farm and in your home at a nominal cost.
