AN IMPORTANT ITEM

There is one portion of the ballot at almost every election which the general public does not study enough. In fact there are probably few people who realize that at the November election there will be at least thirteen measures and constitutional amendments for the people to vote upon. These measures are very important to the people of the state of Oregon. There are some which are bad and some which are good and others which might be either good or bad. They deal with everything from the closing of the Rogue to commercial fishing to the prohibition of the sale of cigarettes or the makings of a cigarette even to the importation or giving away of the cigarettes or the makings within the state. Among the other measures are an Income Tax measure, an amendment to provide for the election of Lieutenant Governor, the Cabinet form of government amendment and various and sundry others.

From a careful perusal of the acts we feel that the people of our state have some food for thought between now and the date of the election. Besides choosing a candidate who will properly fill each vacancy in our state government we must place ourselves on record on the measures and amendments which will be found attached to the ballots.

For the convenience of our readers we will attempt to place at their disposal, in the columns of this paper between now and the Fall elections a summary of the different measures and we may take occasion to express our own opinion on some of them editorially. We will entertain any constructive communications pertaining to these measures from our readers during the next two months.

NOT SO LONG

UNTIL SCHOOL BELLS RING

"It won't be long now," is an appropriate expression as applied to the opening of the county schools. Within two weeks most of the county schools will be in operation and within three weeks all will be in operation with the possible exception of some extreme cases.

The summer's vacation has faded fast and the bogie of school days again faces the younger folks, but they will be ready to go back to the routine and discipline which the schools exact for they have had an opportunity to enjoy the pleasures and joys of the great outdoors. Their minds may be a little slow and their memory a trifle rusty at first but a few days and everything will assume their normal state and the teachers will then divide time with the parents in the care of the district's children.

AIMEE AND MOTHER

QUARREL

It has been some time since Aimee McPherson or Ma Kennedy has made the first page so they staged a bout down in Los Angeles from which they both emerged with more or less mutilation. Aimee was said to be blind in one eye which report was refuted but her physicians claim she is suffering from a nervous breakdown. Ma is nursing a broken nose as a result of the fisticuffs.

What a host of sins are committed in the name of Christianity. What are the followers of these women going to think of their display of brotherly love.

With all their claim of inspiration they still follow the brute instincts of the profane.

SARDINE CANAPES

Prepare circular slices of toast. Have ready a paste made from picked up sardines which have been separated from bones. This paste should be moistened with softened butter and seasoned with Worcestershire sauce and cayenne. In the center of each round of toast place a stuffed olive. Arrange a layer of sardine paste around the stuffed olives and surround each canape with a border of finely chopped egg whites. In preparing canapes one should be very careful not to have them too large. They should literally be small enough to be held daintily with the fingers, making a knife and fork unnecessary. Their purpose is to serve merely as an appetizer, and therefore, each canape is not expected to provide more than two or three mouthfuls.

OMELETS

Never was any emergency dish better than an omelet. Almost always there are eggs in the house and if there are not it is not difficult to buy them at the last minute. And your omelet can be quickly made.

Once having mastered the essentials of omelet cooking it is not difficult to vary them in a great variety of ways. Moreover, there are sweet omelets as well as unsweetened omelets so that an omelet may be made to fill in the gap in any part of any meal. You can use omelets as users-up of inconsiderable trifles left over from yesterday's dinner. A few vegetables may be chopped and added to an omelet to give it flavor and variety. A few vegetables may be chopped and added to an omelet to give it flavor and variety. A few mushrooms go a long way in an omelet. A slice or so of canned pineapple, that could not be possibly divided among several, may be cut up and added to the middle of an omelet before it is turned to form a delightful dessert or luncheon dish.

DANISH OMELET

A Danish omelet has a foundation cream sauce of three table-spoons of butter, three of flour and two cups of milk. In the mean time break macaroni in inch lengths and boil it in salted water until it is tender; then drain it. When the cream sauce is cool add six egg yolks, two at a time, beating the mixture five minutes after whites stiff, fold them into the yolk each yolk addition. Beat six egg mixture, sprinkle with pepper and salt and pour the omelet over the macaroni, which has been arranged in the bottom of a buttered baking dish. Bake the omelet in a steady hot oven for thirty minutes and serve at once. Beaten butter is used in Denmark with this omelet, which is simply butter cream with a taste of sugar.

Built Upon Maize
Archaeological excavations have shown that the most elaborate of the early civilizations developed in the western hemisphere were all supported by maize. Doctor Morley of the Smithsonian Institution showed how the decline and fall of the civilization of the Mayan empire was caused in part by the decline in the production of maize. The high cost of living, as he called it, was operating then and now.

Endurance Gives Out—On One Side—

By Albert T. Reid

"SHE WALKS IN BEAUTY"

By Lord Byron
She walks in beauty, like the night
Of cloudless climes and starry skies;
And all that's best of dark and bright
Meet in her aspect and her eyes
Thus mellowed to that tender light
Which heaven to gaudy day denies.

One shade the more, one ray the less,
Had half impaired the nameless grace
Which waves in every raven tree
Or softly lightens o'er her face;
Where thoughts serenely sweet express
How pure, how dear their dwelling place.

And on that cheek, and o'er that brow
So soft, so calm, yet eloquent,
The smiles that win, the tints that glow
But tell of days in goodness spent,
A mind at peace with all below,
A heart whose love is innocent!
