

Your handwriting AND YOU....

as analyzed by GEORGIA WHITE

Dr. Donald Krug

By Georgia White

The emotional structure here is one of wisdom, the judgment is above reproach. Deeply loyal to subjects and ideals, your beliefs are those of the contemplative and have been arrived at only after deep and serious study of the beliefs involved.

The mind is a combination of many composites that of the logic, that of the analyzer, the skeptic and the intuitive thinker this makes for an exceptional intelligent individual.

The imagination is vivid in both the area of the world of the abstract and the world of materialism. This is unusual in the field of theologians, most of them are notorious for the frequent reminding of the laymen duty to give to the divine, but few are blessed with the know how to make money or the ability to get the most out of what they receive.

The strongest talents are in the realm of the scientific, though. This is very strong giving the indication that the call of your profession must have indeed been overwhelming or the field of theology would never have won your interests.

You are by nature a perfectionist, this has its trials and struggles for we live in an imperfect world and the perfect world and the perfectionists are doomed to suffer in this environment so contradictory to the desires of those who strive for the ultimate. Discouragement is often felt and this is the cause. Patience is one of your strongest asset. Completely devoid of temper you accomplish your aims in a more objective manner, you are poised and calm, with a desire and need to help others, you will usually yield, this is somewhat offset by wisdom, making you aware that others are some times helped faster if they are required to row their own boat.

You imbrace society in general with no reservations, the outlook is universal acceptance of the grace of God, the dignity of man, thereby gaining and maintaining a better tomorrow.

The nature is receptive, secrets are kept and confidence are not betrayed. You show a remarkable degree of inventiveness, a vivid imagination which could indicate creativities in many ways.

You choose the work of God and to this end your life will be dedicated, for you are prepared with the wisdom, strength and loyalty of character. But you must still suffer for the trials and tribulations of this load is indeed a heavy one of you.

Dedication of purpose has many paths, may the easier of God, make yours an easier one, lighted by the touch of peace, guided by the angles tread, and beauty wrought by magic of the Saviour's wane, make for the glorification of God, yesterday, today and tomorrow. Endowing you with renewed inspiration of the duties of your faith.

YOUTH ACTIVITIES

BOYS SCOUTS WILL MEET

There will be a regular meeting of Troop 40 at 7:30 p. m. in the Scout hut behind the C. K. Olsen residence at 3648 Bursell Road on Wednesday, January 26.

Interested parents are cordially invited to attend.

Boy Scout Troop #40 is very fortunate in having the Cub Scout hut for Troop 40 made available to the boys rent free with lights and heat furnished. The hut is approximately 20 ft. by 20 ft. and is adequate for scouting purposes.

The reorganization of Troop 40 is progressing satisfactorily with the most pressing need being underlayment for the floors, a troop flag and floor covering.

The soliciting of funds is also progressing satisfactorily and next week we will have another list of donors who have contributed.

Interested persons may call Mr. Olsen at 664-1409 or Scoutmaster Fuller at 664-1373 for additional information.

Submitted by George Fuller, Scoutmaster.

CUBS TOUR AIRPORT

The Cub Scouts of Den 2, Pack 45 of Central Point went to the airport Monday. They toured the weather bureau, control tower and a United Airlines airplane.

The trip was enjoyed by all. Those making the trip were Jack Fletcher, Gerald Gascon, David Hammer, Tim Martin, Wesley Martin, Loran Smith, Mitchell Smith, David Spradling, Mike St. Arnold, Vernon Thornton and Douglas Trough, Accompanying the boys were Den Mother Mrs. Lucille Martin, assistant Den Mother, Mrs. Julia Fletcher, Mr. John Martin and Mrs. Spradling. Mr. Martin and Mrs. Spradling helped with transportation.

INSPECTOR RESIGNS

Thomas R. Bailey, Jackson County dairy inspector for the Oregon Department of Agriculture since 1956, has resigned to accept the position of plant superintendent for the Superior Cheese Company, Myrtle Point.

Bailey took over his new position early this month. The department of agriculture is recruiting now for an inspector to fill the vacancy.

Oregon Leading Nation In Several Crop Areas

Oregon farmers again led the nation in value of snap beans for processing, filberts, several kinds of caneberrries, and many types of seeds during the 1965 crop season.

The state's crop output reached a record high last year in both tonnage and value, reports Mrs. Elvera Horrell, Oregon State University extension agricultural economist.

Reports indicated a total harvest of 5.8 million tons with a farm value of $281 million. This meant a 7 per cent tonnage increase and a 5 per cent gain in value.

Substantial increase in field crops, tree fruits and nuts, and vegetables more than offset declines in seeds and berries.

Hay was the leading crop in terms of value in 1965. The other nine crops making up the "top ten" included, in order: wheat, potatoes, pears, barley, snap beans, strawberries, ryegrass seed, cherries, and green peas. Green peas just nosed out oats for tenth spot.

Estimates Values quoted are derived from estimated production of crops and season prices received by growers based on sales made up to Dec. 1, with an

Applegate Family Search For Gold Told In 'Call Number'

The colorful tale of how the sons of the Oregon pioneer Applegate family joined the gold rush to Idaho's Clearwater and Salmon rivers over 100 years ago is told in the fall issue of The Call Number, semi-annual publication of the University of Oregon Library.

"Ventures and Adventures of a Party of Webfoot Miners," a series of diaries, was included in the Applegate Papers presented to the University of Oregon Library by Mrs. Anne A. Kruse in 1954. It has been published unedited in the Call Number.

"We propose to write this book," noted the Applegate boys, "in the form of a history of our travels and adventures ... With the hope that it will prove to be of more interest to our kind and gentle readers than the writing is to the writers, we submit it to you for perusal."

The lively account includes various comments on the areas through which they trekked, and on their own condition. "It was very interesting and new to me, walking through the streets of such a lively place as was there, and see the many devices used to lure and loose change from a fellow's pocket," writes Bob Applegate of the Portland, Ore. in 1861.

As the group neared the end of their journey to the placer gold fields, one admitted, "We are all ragged and dirty as Indians."

Nor was the trip too lucrative, for the book's concluding report by Bob Applegate contains this lament: "As for coming home this winter and being satisfied with mines, for myself I say that if I had money enough to come ... I would start this morning well satisfied never to return to this country."

Martin Schmitt, curator of special collections at the University Library, and E. C. Kemp, acquisition librarian, are co-editors of The Call Number.

SOC Professors Attend Conference

Three Southern Oregon College science professors attended the annual American Association for the Advancement of Science Conference at the University of California Dec. 26-31. Dr. Irene Hollenbeck, professor of science and education, announced this week.

Attending the meetings were Dr. Hollenbeck, Dr. Franklin W. Sturges, associate professor of biology, and Stephen P. Cross, assistant professor of biology.

Special feature of the conference was a report on the Gemini flights by astronaut Edward H. White, who walked in space during his Gemini mission.

Dr. Hollenbeck attended sessions on school programs in outdoor education and interpretative visitor's information centers in the West. She said both sessions were pertinent to the college's projected program for a master's degree in conservation and outdoor education.

Red Bluff Round-Up Dates Set

The 1966 Red Bluff Round-Up has been scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, April 16 and 17. J. N. Froome, Jr., president of the Round-Up Association announced today.

Plans and preparations are now under way to present the 45th annual showing of what has become known as "America's Biggest Two-Day Rodeo," Froome said.

Although the heavy rains and storms over Round-Up weekend last year resulted in a financial loss, present plans for the 1966 Round-Up indicate that once again rodeo fans will see more world champion professional cowboys competing for the biggest purse ever offered at any two day rodeo in the nation, he said.

In addition to the full program of rodeo events, another gala celebration of special events, including a parade and cowboy golf tournament will be held in Red Bluff on April 16 and 17.
