

Only a few more days to get that extra few winks in the morning. Daylight Saving Time begins Sunday... pity us poor sleepy heads!! And I warn you parents... you may have some pretty ornery young ones running around. After all, they will be missing 2 hours sleep each night. They go to bed one hour later and get up one hour earlier. I still can't understand why they start this business before school is out....

Another thing grumping me this week... seems the country has all kinds of money to play around sending things off in the vicinity of the moon... BUT.. the great scientists can't seem to figure out a satisfactory way to heat orchards without smogging up an entire valley.

Oh yes... don't forget folks, Saturday, April 23 is the last day to register to vote!!! And you can't vote without being registered. See the list of registrars in the story on page 1.

ON POLITICS...

Retired editor Giles French of Moro surveyed the 1966 political scene recently for the Oregon Publisher. His comments:

- If Howard Morgan is elected we'll come about as close to having two Moses in the Senate as we could get.

- About Morse's first campaign: Many voters thought of Rufus Holman, because of the Holman Mortuary in Portland as "that man who buries people." They thought of Morse as the man who invented the telegraph. Neither was true. So the election was decided not on the issues, but as is usually the case, on prejudices of the voters.

- About Robert Duncan: He says he supports Johnson's Viet Nam policy but I don't know how he found out what that policy is.

- Hatfield is the best politician of the three. Nobody knows what he thinks of Viet Nam, and I predict nobody will find out.

- Tom McCall is a rather conservative fellow with well advertised liberal tendencies.

- About Bob Straub: I don't know exactly how to define him, but would say he always speaks very ably before he thinks.

This week we are trying something new for the ladies. Recipes! On page 7 you will find a new column, Kitchen Korner, in which our readers may submit favorite recipes for publication. We know all you gals have special recipes you may wish to share with others. Write them down, sign your name and mail or bring them to the Times office. We'll be happy to share ours, and we'd like to try yours too!

The following people have been nominated: Mrs. Howard Anderson, President; Mrs. Claude Lewis, First Vice-President; Mrs. Arthur Van Leuwen, Second Vice-President; Mrs. M. E. Jannuach, Secretary; Mrs. Jerome Martin, Treasurer.

Nominations will also be taken from the floor. It is hoped as many parents as possible will attend.

"The Sound Of Music" Reviewed

THE SOUND OF MUSIC

On Monday night, "The Sound of Music" by Rogers and Hammerstein won the Academy award, as being the outstanding production of the season, and in our own small community, last weekend, "The Sound of Music" received its own academy award, by the standing ovation given the cast of Crater High School's presentation of the Broadway production.

The show, presented by the Music Department of Crater, was directed by Mr. Norman D. Carothers, Director of the music department. The Orchestra, led by Mr. C. Scott Phillips, gave a wonderful background to the lovely voices of the Advanced Girls Choir, who in turn backed up the beautiful voice of "Maria", played by Cheryl Lewis. Mr. Sid Yarnell acted as Choreographer for the play.

The entire Cast was very well chosen and beautifully portrayed their roles with a reality that was hard to believe came from amateur actors. They showed the extent to which their director inspired them, and with his faith in them and theirs in him, they gave a beautiful and successful rendition of a very famous production.

The voices of Cheryl Lewis and Dan Leonard as stars of the show, were exceptionally good. The Girls Advanced Choir, who also portrayed the Nuns in the Abbey scenes, sang a lovely accompaniment to The Mother Abbess, who was played very aptly by Eileen Kell, as she sang "Climb Every Mountain". The seven young children in the cast, who were brought in from other schools, showed a poise very seldom seen in pupils of that age.

Ronda Rosecrans as Elsa Schraeder, whose lovely soprano voice has been heard in all the Crater Concerts, played her part exceptionally well, as did Joe Wilcox, as Max Detweiler, and their voices blended beautifully as they sang, "No Way To Stop It" and "How Can Love Survive."

Frau Schmidt, the housekeeper, played by Kevin Rainey, was very well done. All in all, the play was a wonderful example of what a "Small Duck in a Big Pond", so to speak, can really accomplish, with the faith, insistence, and patience that was evident in director, cast, orchestra, chorus, and production staff, as a whole, and backed by the Administration of Crater High School, it was a sure "Hit".

All due credit goes to Mr. Charles A. Meyer, Supt. of Schools, Mr. Arthur L. Strauss, Principal of Crater High School, and Mr. James L. Tacchini, Vice Principal of Crater High, for their support. Also, Mr. George Range, who accompanied the orchestra, is to be much commended for his Piano renditions, as well as Mr. Harry Meyers on the string bass. Without the help of Connie

Fellers Attends Counselors' Meet

Dr. Alvin L. Fellers, dean of students at Southern Oregon College, attended the annual convention of the American Personnel and Guidance Association April 4-7 in Washington D.C.

The 8,000 counselors who attended discussed the challenges presented them by disadvantaged youth, problems of elder citizens, the emotionally disturbed, and the need for new approaches to vocational education in a changing technological society.

Fields, V. Salmon of maintenance, Rulon Taylor who is shop instructor and provided a crew of students for the settings and scenery; Mrs. Frances Willett, Home Economics Teacher; E. Mayes and Carolyn Evers of the office staff, the wonderful success of the "Grande Finale" would not have been possible.

Mr. Carothers said, "The pressure of a tight schedule required tenacity and the insistence that every detail be accounted for. There was, of course, nothing to ever hint that the show could ever become a reality, other than faith."

SOC Review On Stands

Publication of the fifth annual edition of the Southern Oregon Review, Southern Oregon College's literary and creative art magazine, was announced this week by Edward Huggins, advisor and instructor in English at the college.

The publication contains stories, short sketches, a drama, and poems, most of which came from the Creative Writing Class. Huggins said. Most of the art work came from art students.

The Review will be on sale in the college bookstore and at Mac's Newstand in downtown Ashland.

PATRICK ELEMENTARY HOLDS SPRING MUSIC FESTIVAL

30 Per Cent

Road Budget Passes $2 Million

The county budget committee spent the morning Monday going over the road department budget which accounts for more than 30 per cent of the entire expenses of running the county.

County Engineer Robert Carstensen submitted a budget of $2,032,226 as compared with $1,958,768 last year. Carstensen told the budget committee he has 178 employees and maintains 912 miles of road. He asked for new equipment in the new budget which will cost $337,500. Included in the request for equipment was a rotary snow plow to cost approximately $45,000.

Budget member John Boyle questioned the expenditure for the snow plow by saying "What in the world do we need a rotary snow plow here for?"

Request Defended
County Judge Earl Miller defended the request by declaring it was "vitaly important" to keep the Mt. Ashland ski road open. He said the county was unable to keep the road open.

Miller also pointed out that recreation in the county is becoming more and more important. He said that in addition to the ski road the county could keep Dead Indian Road open as well as some roads in the Prospect area if it had a plow.

Budget Chairman E.H. Singmaster also said he was for the snow plow as did Commissioner Rodney Keating. Boyle finally shrugged his shoulders and laughed as he commented that he was getting no support from anyone.

New Policy
The committee established a new policy on employees in the road department.

All new laborers will henceforth be hired at a rate of $2.14 per hour and will not be eligible for any raises until they have worked for at least six months. Carstensen said it was his policy to attempt to have men work up to higher jobs within the department. He also said he tried to keep his men busy the year around and often shifted men from one job to another. The committee gave all permanent employees a two-step pay raise in accordance with previously established policy.

In the new budget was a request for an assistant county engineer, a new position. The county engineer asked to be authorized to offer up to $10,152 per year for the new man. He said he would attempt to get a man for less if he could find one who was capable. In the new budget, Carstensen will be paid $11,580. Boyle strongly suggested that Carstensen hire a registered engineer and commented that while young college graduates were hard to find, "there are some old cripples around who are still good."

Neill Letter
The budget committee received a letter from Mayor Richard Neill of Ashland asking-ing that it appropriate $10,000 again this year for improvements at the Ashland Airport. Each year recently the county has appropriated funds for both Ashland and Medford airports and in addition this year is sponsoring an $832,000 bond issue to improve the Medford airport.

Laura Porter of the American Red Cross also submitted a letter to the committee today asking that the county give the Red Cross $2,000 for the year to aid in indigent care.

Clarence H. Redmond, Medford advertising man, today was appointed to the county budget committee to replace Gordon Hudson, who resigned for business reasons.

Mike Drake Hi Overall At Shoot

Mike Drake of Medford Gun Club brought home Hi-overall honors Sunday by breaking 231 of a possible 250 clay targets. This was very fine shooting considering wind, rain, and the worst the weather man could do.

Class D, 16 Yd. trophy was won by Roland Washburn of Gold Hill by breaking 98 out of 100 targets. Washburn also earned his 75 straight award in this event, by running 84 targets before a miss.

Fam Bryant of Central Point brought home Hi-Lady trophy in the 16 Yd. Event breaking 90 of 100 targets with good shooting in the windy weather. Larry Washburn of Gold Hill won Junior trophy in this 16 Yd. event breaking 95 of 100 possible targets.

In the Handicap Event Larry Washburn earned his second Junior trophy of the day by breaking 89 of 100 targets. Larry was the only shooter the Medford Gun Club to bring home two trophies.

Velma Anderson of Glendale brought the Hi-Lady trophy home in the Handicap event by breaking 91 of 100 possible targets.

The Klamath Falls shoot was well attended by Medford shooters and everyone enjoyed the shoot despite weather conditions.

Gold dollars were struck at the Philadelphia mint every year from 1849 to 1889.

Owners, Trainers Of Hunting Dogs Asked To Beware

Dog owners and dog trainers are requested by the game commission to keep canines under tight control during the next few months.

The nesting and rearing season for upland game birds and waterfowl is now getting under way and will continue through August in many parts of the state. Dogs allowed to run wild can cause severe game bird nesting losses.

Although it is illegal to molest game bird nests, it is permissible to train dogs in the field throughout the year. The commission pointed out that gun dog handlers use care in selecting sites where nests and young birds are not likely to be molested.
