SAVE THE REDWOODS OR BANKRUPT A COUNTY???

Three cheers for our neighbors to the south in Del Norte County who turned out en masse last week to protest President Johnson's proposed Congressional Resolution to close down the Miller-Rellim Redwood Company's extensive lumbering and logging operations south of Crescent City.

The campaign against the resolution was triggered when the shocked people of Del Norte County learned that President Johnson, Secretary Udall and U. S. Senator Thomas Kuchel were sponsors of a joint resolution to stop the Miller-Rellim Redwood Company from its logging operations until October 15, 1967, while Congress studies whether or not to adopt the President's preferred plan to locate a redwood national park in the county.

This proposal would virtually ruin the economy of the entire area. The backbone of the area is the Miller-Rellim Company. According to an independent economic consultant, Del Norte County is 90% dependent upon the lumber industry.

Oh, but we must save the redwoods you say? Well folks, what LBJ and his sob sister park supporters have NOT told you is that some 113,000 acres of coast redwoods have already been set aside in the north coast California counties and that approximately 16,000 acres of such parks are already in Del Norte County. It makes no difference to them that 73 per cent of Del Norte's lands are already owned by the state and federal government and 14,000 acres of national forest in Del Norte County is in the redwoods. Yes, the redwoods, as we see them, would still stand. No "timber barons" are going to slash down all the redwoods.

The redwoods which the Miller-Rellim Company have been cutting have been on their own land. Yes, their own, privately owned land. And, LBJ has asked Congress to adopt a penal resolution ($50,000 per day fine, and/or up to one year imprisonment) specifically against a private individual for continuing work on his own land. To my knowledge, never before in history has a President of the United States proposed a National Park that would confiscate thousands of acres of private land and put a major industry out of business, and a penal resolution mentioned above to stick a man from working on his own land. All in the name of national parks! Nonsense.

So, the people decided to do something about it, and we hope they get somewhere. Those folks down there are a hearty breed. They have suffered many natural disasters. The area has been racked by earthquakes, hurricane force winds, tidal waves and floods. Crescent City had its entire business district wiped out by a tidal wave following the Alaskan earthquake in 1964. In that same year floods completely destroyed the entire town of Klamath in Del Norte County.

Citizens of Crescent City have worked together in rebuilding a city torn by tidal wave destruction. Now, at a time when the rebuilding process is at its peak, this new threat hangs over them like a pall. Their reactions vary from apprehension to cold fear, . . . and some got their dander up but good. Fortunately, they are not people who sit on their rears and do nothing. Even though five of the county's mills have "voluntarily" agreed to shut down operation because of governmental pressure, we think the folks down there will make it.

SURPRISE OF ALL SURPRISES.....

In looking over the names of candidates who have filed for positions in city government, one name didn't ring a bell with me at all. Dan Hadley. Who the heck, I thought, is Dan Hadley???? Well, later I sauntered down to Faber's to pick up a roast for our Sunday feast and got into a discussion with "Dan, the Meat Department Manager". He mentioned something about political advertising, and come to find out HIS last name is Hadley. Put two and seven together, and my poor ol' tired noggin came up with the surprise of all surprises, the meat man! That fellow who stands down there and orders cuts, wraps meat and barbecues chickens is running for city council position, Ward 2. My lands, . . . learn something new every day!

JUST IN CASE....

Some of you folks may not know all of the candidates either, the Times plans to run a biography on all candidates a little later. So, fellas and gals, if you have a picture we can use, bring it down or send it in. This bit you will get free. . . . news stories you know. The rest of your "advertising" will be at the usual rate.

UNCLE MASON SEZ....

Just think, if it hadn't been for Thomas Edison, you'd have to watch TV by candle-light.

Note found under a windshield wiper: "I have just smashed into your car. The people who saw the accident are watching me. They think I am writing down my name and address. They are wrong."

NOTE TO LYLE.....

The last one and this one are old ulcer herself. And, if she shapes up, I will follow your advise and not throw her in the Rogue as I threatened to do. Otherwise, I certainly will, even though the Rogue would back up into Crater Lake and I would be blamed for ruining one of the scenic wonders of Oregon. I get blamed for all sorts of things anyway. Why, today, Chief of Police Zander even accused me of swiping his camels. . . .

GRANDPA MASON SEZ....

OKAY, knock it off, NJ. You know we have a short paper this week!

Albany Here Tomorrow for Season's First Grid Tilt

Chet's Phillips 66 Sign Goes Up

For those of you who weren't aware of it, Phillips 66 Petroleum Co. has purchased the Flying "A" service stations in Oregon from Tidewater Associated. It has meant a lot of changing around. Just the signs alone was a big project. So, Chet's Flying "A" has now become Chet's Phillips 66 Service.

WE'RE PROUD OF OUR TEAM!!!!

The Crater Comets coordinated their program Sweet Home last Friday night in their first game of the season and coming from behind, literally swamped their opponents 34-6.

Tomorrow night (Friday), our boys will be fighting another Willamette Valley team when they meet Albany here. It is too early in the season to venture how Albany will compare with Sweet Home but after tomorrow night, you can bet your bottom dollar (if you've got one!) we'll all know a lot more.

Speaking for all the Crater fans, after last Friday, we are proud of you--and whether you win or lose tomorrow night, we'll still be--and we shall back you all the way.

From all of us, to all of you, the best wishes for a very successful season--
COACH AND TEAM!

CORDY URGES ANJOU SPRAY

Next years Anjou crop may be increased by applying a post harvest 2, 4, 5, -TP hormone spray, according to C. B. Cordy, county extension agent. The crop increase will be less on heavy producing trees. Cordy said growers should use 7 1/2 ppm 2, 4, 5-TP as a soluble salt. The spray should be used only on Anjou trees. While a modest drift will not damage other varieties, the drift should be kept to a minimum particularly onto Bartlett's.

Steve Richard Sabin, 20, of 220 Snowy Butte Road, requested a lawyer be appointed. He is being held in lieu of $1,000 bail. Pending in Ashland Justice of the Peace court against him is a charge of larceny of an auto. The charges involve the theft and burning of an unmarked 1966 Chevrolet state police vehicle on August 27. Sabin was arrested on the highway by state police Monday afternoon.

A Medford youth, Richard Craig Bush, 20, 521 1/2 S. Riverside Avenue, is also involved in the same case. He is charged with receiving and concealing stolen property and arson. Medical Advice To Discharged Veterans Given Veterans hospitals throughout the nation have been directed to admit any recently discharged veteran without waiting for an eligibility determination if the man thinks he may be suffering from malaria.

The VA advises such veterans who have been home for 100 days or less to be on the alert for any symptoms of this disease. The Medical Departments of the Armed Forces have found an increase of malaria in personnel returning to the U. S. from duty in Southeast Asia.

A large number of these cases are a type of malaria known as falciparum. This particular form of malaria does not present the usual symptoms of chills and fever. The symptoms may be so mild that they may readily be missed.

Use of a new antimalaria drug may cut in half the number of men stricken by the disease, the Army Surgeon General's office has announced. (The drug is DDS diaminodiphenylsulfone.)

The drug also cuts length of illness and helps to prevent relapse.

Prior to return to this country, personnel are given medication to help prevent the disease. They are instructed to report to a doctor if they become ill and to let him know that malaria should be considered.

Cooperation of the Armed Forces, the Public Health Service Communicable Disease Unit of Atlanta, Ga., and the VA has been worked out. The Health Service has agreed to act as consultant, free of charge, if blood smears show the presence of any malarial parasites.

If malaria is diagnosed, treatment will begin immediately at the nearest VA or military hospital.

It has been found that falciparum malaria is often resistant to the usual quinine treatment, and other methods of treatment must be used. Research on the treatment of this strain of malaria with various drugs are underway.

At present, there are more than 150 patients in military hospitals in the U. S. with falciparum malaria.
