

SCHOOL-ACTIVITIES

Seniors Entertain at Reception
The Seniors gave the Junior class and the faculty members a reception at the high school gymnasium Saturday night, April 24.

An interesting and diversified program was arranged by the entertainment committee. Jennie Eicher, Senior class president, was toastmaster of the evening and at the close of the banquet gave a welcome toast to the Juniors. Other speakers were Junior class President Ivan Skyrman, Superintendent H. P. Jewett, Miss Eleanor Saubert of the commercial department, Miss Marie E. Kittredge, Home Economics instructor, Forrest M. Pickett, Frederick Wolff and Thomas Earl Beall. The gymnasium was decorated in line with the occasion with blue and white streamers, the colors of the Junior class.

Student Assn. Primaries Friday
Primary elections for next year Student Association officers will be Friday, 5th period, in the office.

Students to fill the offices of president, vice-president, treasurer and secretary will be nominated to run in the regular election a week later. The outcome of the primaries for president and vice-president is hard to fathom as there are 26 candidates running for the offices. To be eligible a student should have at least eleven credits. The treasurer and secretary offices are sought by 20 candidates who qualify which necessitates a student having at least seven credits.

Graduating Class Picnics at Most Popular Outing Place

The graduating class of '26 went on their annual class picnic Thursday afternoon. The Wagner creek district, which is known for its popularity as a beautiful picnic grounds, is the secluded spot the Seniors selected.

After freezing an abundant supply of ice cream in the domestic science room, the class of '26 and their adviser H. C. Terrell, at the close of the seventh period, motored to Jackson Hot Springs. When the cries of "let's eat" were voiced by several undignified Seniors the party went to Wagner creek and relieved the "eats car" of its most welcome load.

As well as fighting over the cakes and ice cream and having a good time in general, it was reported that the class at that time selected the cast for their annual play "A Full House."

Editor of Pointer Wears First Straw Hat of Season

To be the first student to wear a straw hat this season is the distinction John Bohnert, editor of the "Pointer," can rightfully claim. He officially opened the season Monday morning when he came to school underneath a new smart looking straw hat.

Sophomore Edition of Central Pointer To Be Out May Seven

The next edition of the Central Pointer, the semi-monthly official publication of the Central Point high school, announces Editor Donald Wilson, will be edited and published by the Sophomore class. This is to give the Sophomore prospects for the next years Central Pointer staff, some experience which will enable them to get next year's paper under way sooner. The Sophomore edition will be published Friday, May 7.

Seniors Draw "A Full House"

After careful consideration of plays of various types the Senior class selected as their class play, "A Full House," a farcial comedy in three acts, by Fred Jackson. "A Full House" is an unusually clever comedy and is highly recommended by newspapers throughout the country. It is a very popular play among the amateur productions.

The cast is a well chosen one, and each player is putting forth all effort to make this production as much or more of a success than "It Pays to Advertise," which was given last year and scored a decided hit with the public.

According to Coach Terrell and Assistant Coach Georgia Adams, the work is progressing rapidly and the production gives promise of being one of the season's best.

"A Full House" Cast Selected

The cast for the Senior class play "A Full House," a three act farcial comedy to be presented Friday, May 14, has been selected and includes:
Parkes—(an English servant)
Forrest Pickett

Jennie Eicher

Junior Play Date Announced

The Junior play, "The Wrong Mr. Wright," is to be given at the school gymnasium on May 7. Four weeks of practice have just been completed and a few of the more difficult stenes are now being worked out. The following week is to be occupied by dress rehearsals as the harder parts are expected to be overcome by them. Considering the fact that so much time has been spent on voice inflection and action and improving the play in general the caste expects the play to be a great success and cordially welcomes your attendance.

1926 Announcements Arrived Today

The Senior announcements arrived here today, after several weeks of anxious waiting by the class members. They were purchased from Dank & Company of Portland through their representative, Mr. Dankworth last October. The personal cards were obtained from the same company, which were shipped in time to be used for Christmas.

Social Schedule Is Announced

The remaining four weeks of the 1925-26 school year are crowded with many activities, according to a report prepared by Superintendent H. P. Jewett, recently released. The schedule includes: April 30, Parent-Teachers party; May 4, hayrack party given by the Sophomores; May 7, "The Wrong Mr. Wright," a three act farcial comedy presented by the Juniors; May 14, "A Full House," farcial comedy in three acts, to be presented by the Seniors; May 27, annual high school picnic; May 28, Commencement; May 23, Baccalaureate service.

The Sophomore class went on their class picnic Tuesday afternoon, at Jackson Hot Springs, near Ashland.

The handicap caused Central Point to lose the track meet this year but during the day there was little complaint heard because the opponents were winning. Everyone showed a good clean sportsman-like attitude toward their opponents. A smile was on the faces of all of Central Point's team and students, even though defeat lay to the end of the days' work. The sportsmanship shown by Central Point will go far in the changing of the system which was used this year. Although Central Point lost in one way it won a great victory in another, says the Central Pointer.

The Freshman class will have their annual picnic Friday.

SUMMER WEATHER HERE--FIRE HAZARD HIGH

Another unseasonable hot spell with unusually warm weather for this time of year started in Saturday, which had a maximum of 90.3 and it grew still warmer Sunday with a maximum of 91.

The low humidity is ideal weather for forest fires, hence the forest and weather authorities report that the high temperatures, low humidity and direction of winds have combined to create an unusually high fire hazards for this time of year.

The first serious fire this season was reported Sunday, a 250-acre fire burning in the Galice country. A crew of ten men left that night for the scene of the fire in an effort to put it under control.

Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Beebe and Miss Dorris Kindle, fifth grade teacher in the local schools, returned here Sunday night from Dunsmuir, California, and other nearby California points where they spent the week-end with relatives, among them being Mr. and Mrs. Ben Parks who recently stopped off a short time in this city while enroute to McCloud, California.

James Simmerville, manager of the firm of Faber & Simmerville, of Butte Falls, was here Sunday and with E. C. Faber and son Donald, motored to Medford in the afternoon.

C. O. Whitman, employee of the Medford Lumber company yards, was in Central Point Wednesday morning, consulting with a number of our contractors and carpenters. Mr. Whitman has recently moved to Medford from Grants Pass.

The school board held a special meeting Wednesday night, April 28.

Gordon Atchley, son of Rev. Atchley, former pastor of the Central Point Christian church, Paul Wagner and Earnest Murry of Eugene from that city en route to San Francisco and contemplating a trip across the U. S., were in this city Friday.

HATFIELD'S

K. P.'s MEET

The local organization of K. P.s made their regular meeting on Monday evening more than usually interesting by treating themselves to a good feed. They were also entertained with moving pictures put on by a representative of the "Copco" company.

L. G. Orres of Ashland, well-known tailor of that city was in town Saturday on business matters with several high school students.

City marshal James Cummings, also city water superintendent, was busily engaged in reading meters of the water users Friday and Saturday.

Richard Copinger and Miss Doris Hubbard with Mr. Hubbard motored to Butte Falls Saturday.

George Ford, city plumber, completed a plumbing contract at John Nelson's residence Sunday afternoon.

A number of Epworth Leaguers attended the League convention in Medford Sunday evening. They report hearing some good talks and excellent musical numbers.

L. A. Salada Jr., of the Willow Springs district has recently installed a large concrete sheep dipping vat. This is to be used in connection with his flock of Shropshire sheep.

A certain young lady who will graduate this spring is expecting a nice watch or piece of jewelry as a graduation gift. Why disappoint her? See Jones, the Jeweler.

BEND ANGLER MAKES RECORD CATCH

The biggest trout taken in Central Oregon waters this season was reported Monday at Bend, when Glenn Dickerson brought in a Dolly Varden weighing nine pounds and measuring 28 inches in length. The big trout was hooked in the Little Deschutes river, 20 miles from Bend.
