If your neighbor prospers, so do you. If your nearest city prospers, so does your town. If your county is prosperous, you will get some of it. Be broadminded, work, smile and be slow in making kicks.

The biggest thing in the Rogue river valley starts that contest with Elwood men next Sunday morning. Be on time, bring the 'other fellow,' get out your best smile, help us show the Hoosier's a real race.

We patronize home—let's all do it. Two families of The American office buy their groceries, hardware, gas, necessities and everything here that is carried by our home merchants.

One of the best ways to build a town is to trade at home. It is your home merchants who pays home taxes for schools, sidewalks, water, etc. Your home merchant is always there when donations are wanted; he is your friend in need. He certainly deserves home trade if he has what you want.

The editor and office force of your home paper certainly appreciate the many compliments and encouraging remarks passed by our business men and readers on the appearance of the paper. Words sometimes can accomplish more than money. The American will strive to merit the good will of the community at all times.

If you have been receiving the American for a year or more since renewing your subscription, we would greatly appreciate the renewal for a year. Uncle Sam, through his post offices, wants all newspaper subscriptions paid ones. The subscription price of only $2 per year is supposed to be paid in advance. Several are now past due.

Kay Takao is moving this week with his family to the farm formerly occupied by the Richardson family, who have moved to Gold Hill. The Takao family have lived for some time on the farm belonging to G. W. Fox, just north of town. John Anderson, of Tolo, now has charge of the place on which Mr. Takao will live and the Takao children will attend the Tolo school.

Everyone was busy at Eagle Point Monday as we stopped in to see some acquaintances. The bank of Eagle Point had on exhibition some exceptionally nice apples that we admired. Stopping in at two or three stores found them too busy to visit and across the bridge the large new school house is being rapidly built. There is some splendid land that raises immense crops in the Eagle Point irrigation district.

We would a great deal rather devote our advertising columns entirely to Central Point, alone and exclusively, thus saving time and trouble of letter writing and soliciting for outside or foreign ads. Many are anxious to advertise, and a newspaper can exist only on advertising patronage. Whenever the "American" has less than three pages of ads. it is not making expenses. Of course a newspaper has "space" for sale, same as a merchant has coffee or bolts for sale and merchants sell to any one who will buy.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for the kindness shown us in our recent bereavement and especially thank the Womens Relief Corps and those for the many beautiful floral offering at the death of our beloved sister, Mrs. Eva Sisty. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lewis.

It would be nice if Central Point had a large Commercial club. All working together for the central point of the valley. Many enterprises might be asked for and secured, thus bringing more people. It is possible that a good fruit and vegetable cannery would pay at this point. Think it over.

OREGON WILL BE RICH STATE

STATE INSPECTOR OF MINES IS NEEDED SAYS CREWS

Many Minerals Here

"Oregon Is Destined to be One of the Greatest Mining States in the Union" States Corporation Commissioner.

The thirteenth annual report of State Corporation Commissioner W. E. Crews, contains, among its recommendations, one, which is of particular interest to southern Oregon. In this recommendation commissioner Crews recommends that a state mining inspector be employed for the purpose of investigating the mineral properties of the state and passing on them as to their adaptability for development. The full text of his recommendation is as follows:

The mining industry of the state is developing very rapidly and it is now apparent from recent developments that the state of Oregon is destined to be one of the greatest mining states in the Union, not only for precious metals such as gold, silver and platinum, but also such natural resources as lime, diatomaceous earth, coal, oil and other products. This, in our opinion will constitute one of the greatest assets of our state. To the end that such industries may receive proper attention, encouragement and supervision, I recommend that the office of mines inspector be created, authorizing the appointment by the governor of a man qualified not only to pass upon the character and nature of the mine and the possibility of developing the property into a paying proposition but also qualified to pass upon the business features of the corporation and the laws applicable thereto; the mines inspector's recommendation as to the qualification and sale of securities to be binding and conclusive. The proposed act should provide for the compensation of the inspector, and require companies examined to assume actual costs of inspection.—Southern Oregon Spokesman.
