

MEDFORD

(By Bliss Heinie)
Portland vs. Medford.

Grant high football team, champions of the Portland high school league, were defeated last Saturday afternoon on their own field in Portland by the Medford high team 24 to 6 which makes the Medford team the undisputed champions of western Oregon. The Medford team was rated by the sports writers of the Portland dailies as being the largest and huskiest high school team ever seen in Portland, with their giant right tackle, Ed. Demmer, attracting the attention of all. L. H. Gregory, sports editor of the Oregonian, highly commended the line play of the Medford huskies, stating that Medford proved the importance of perfect line playing. The entire Medford score was made by Senn, fullback and captain. Ned Gleason, Grant quarter, made the only score for Grant which was made near the end of the game when several Medford second men were put in. Medford outplayed Grant from start to finish and now we are looking forward to Medford defeating MacLaughlin Union high, Champions of eastern Oregon, which would give Medford the undisputed title of the state championship. GOLD HILL ITEMS

Chip Carr, the old-time resident of Foothills creek was in Gold Hill the first of the week. He is the local manager of the famous Black Channel placer mine on the Foothills creek and reports that the lessees have had a good pipe head of water since the early October rains and expect to make a banner clean up this season; that nearly all the placer on both forks of the creek are having a very successful run during the late rains and that those that were unprepared to receive supply of mine water, which this winter has afforded, are preparing to resume for the balance of the winter. He also reports that Kellogg and Donegan, owners of the famous old Bertha quartz mine above the Black Channel placers are preparing to begin winter work on this property drifting on a new body of ore with a view of permanent operation and re-quipping of the mine.

Dr. M. M. Reid, formerly pastor of the Gold Hill M. E. church, in writing to Gold Hill friends reports that he and Mrs. Reid are located at Marshfield and that he has again taken up the practice of surgery in that city. After leaving Gold Hill several years ago the Reid's took up their residence at Oregon City, but later removed to Rogue River and built them a home on an acreage tract at that place, but due to the illness of their son, sold the Rogue River property and returned to Roseburg, their former home. The Reid's own farms properties in Douglas county and Clark county in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Petterson, both evangelists, of Medford, will supply the pulpit alternatively in the morning service at the Gold Hill community church. They have promised to commence midweek services in the near future reviving the class and prayer meeting services. They are drawing a good attendance the last several weeks and considerable interest is being taken up in their meetings by the local people. The church property in Gold Hill, which is owned and supported by the M. E. church people at intervals has become old and obsolete and plans are underway by the people of Gold Hill to erect a modern community church building in Gold Hill the coming year.

The late rains have interrupted the progress of the construction of the new Pacific highway bridge at Gold Hill across the Rogue river, and during the late raise in the river, work was suspended for over a week. The false span across the river supporting the construction of the massive structure withstood the raging current without injury and the work is now well underway to begin the pouring of the concrete on the main structure.
