 Administrator

From 1919 to 1926, 1273 persons were charged with criminal liability for forest fires in Oregon and Washington national forests. Out of all these, 208 convictions were secured; a larger proportion of them during 1926 than in any other year. This year, the fire laws are to be more rigorously enforced than ever before though the woods are still free to the sane tourist.

And it is Quality.
 Anything to be heralded to the public; a public benefit entertainment or attraction inviting many witnesses—or, of more importance, any business enterprise wishing to talk to, or invite patronage of those outside the city limits, will find the Ashland American is a real home paper, mailed not only to Ashland citizens but to the majority of homes on the routes and in the neighboring towns. The American has the largest circulation of any weekly in the county.

One of the California associations handled 782,070 cases of eggs last year. This was the largest quantity handled by any one cooperative concern. Two of the associations handled more than 500,000 cases each. The smallest volume of business reported by any one association for 1925 consisted of 585 cases of eggs, handled by a Minnesota organization. The report showed that the delivery of a large number of cases of eggs per member is more important in determining the total volume of the associations' business than a large membership.—National Farm News.
