FORMER SALOON REMONSTRANCE

These names are copied from an old saloon remonstrance published in 1890. This remonstrance against a saloon in Ashland has been in the keeping of the first W. C. T. U. president, Mrs. Ann Russell all these years and it is by her favor that we are permitted to publish these names. There are 223 names of our citizens on the remonstrance, but we are aiming only to publish those who are still living or who have relatives still in Ashland.

Home to Get $5500

Hillsboro, Or., April 15.—(Special.)—An estate valued at $5500 was left to the W. C. T. U. Children Farr home at Corvallis, Or., under the terms of the will of Mrs. Luella J. Lewis, filed for probate here today. Mrs. Lewis' only near relative is a brother, Melvin H. Campbell of Chautauqua, N. P. Her husband died several years ago.—Oregonian.

KEEP UP THE SIGNAL

Della F. Withers

One of the most persistent advertisers in the history of success was Robinson Crusoe. He knew what he wanted—a ship—and he put up an "ad" for one. He flung a shirt on a pole, at the top of his island. That, in the language of the sea, was plain to every seafaring man.
 The circulation was small—but there was no other medium—but Crusoe kept at it despite the fact that he got no inquiries for a long time. He changed his copy, as one garment after another was frayed out; and in the end he got what he wanted.
 Suppose Crusoe had taken down that signal after a time and declared "advertising doesn't pay," where would he and his story be now? Put up your signal and keep it there.
 You note it is stated Robinson Crusoe knew what he wanted and advertised for it. You know what you want—the summation of all that our organization stands for—a dry world. Then you must sell the idea. You must advertise, far and near, the good which has been accomplished in a few years through prohibition in the United States. The Union Signal advertises the benefits of prohibition—constantly. It shows the attractiveness of right living and suggests ways and means of going forward to higher attainments.
 From the White Ribbon of South Africa comes the proof that "advertising pays."
 "We are indebted to the Union Signal for interesting articles and take this opportunity of expressing our thanks and appreciation of the help and inspiration gained from this valuable source, as it comes to us week by week."
 From South Rhodesia, Africa, we learn of a strange custom in one of the mining towns.
 "About four o'clock in the afternoon there are social gatherings, not for a cup of tea but for a drink of whisky. One good woman emphatically refuses to have the people meet in her home for these parties that are called "Sundowners." She has earned the appellation of the "Lemonade Lady" because she is ready at any time to serve temperance drinks in place of whisky at these Sundowner gatherings. This good friend of the temperance cause is one of those who is receiving the Union Signal through the generous kindness of the Kentucky W. C. T. U.

And from our own Oklahoma Mrs. Jennie Duffy writes.

"I am writing to tell you I am busy teaching Expression and that I have chosen three orations for my high school boys from the pages of the Union Signal and they have met with splendid success."

Now friends, put up your signal, keep it up. Send the advertising medium of the W. C. T. U.—the Union Signal—to friends and acquaintance give it to teachers, judges and colleges.—Union Signal.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE

"Individuals die, but so much of truth as they have received and revealed to humanity, so much of unselfish, uncalculating service, as they have rendered to mankind, cannot be lost when they die. Humanity recalls their lives, treasures up their contributions, and those who follow.
 How aptly the above statement applies to our beloved Frances Willard. From the time she made the vital decision to "Trust in the Lord and do good," her life became one of unselfish, uncalculating service. Inspired educator that she was, she devoted her supreme efforts to establishing educational gardens throughout the length and breadth of the land, firmly implanting the seed of truth. As she traveled to and fro, unions of devoted women were thus formed, bound by the firm cords of a common aim, the constant enriching and tilling of the soil within a given area.

Truly has it been said that "the path of a good woman is strewn with flowers—but they spring up behind her footsteps, not before." We who are following where Frances Willard trod are indeed reaping the reward, out with blessings come responsibilities. From "fainting hands the torch she threw," and her gardens have now become our sacred charge. Upon each union devolves the duty of cultivating, planting and casting out the weeds, ever bearing in mind that "They must upward still and onward who would keep abreast of truth."

The time ow year has arrived when your gardens must be sown, that the first crop (posters and essays) may be harvested before May 30.

Some counties report fine progress with ground already broken and some seed sown. The rules for cultivation now await your order. If the name of your L. T. L. superintendent is sent soon, a few packages of seed will be given in addition to plans and rules.

Let us concentrate our efforts during the next few weeks upon this labor of love, placing before the youth of our state, the principles which will enable them "to write their record true." That is, in the words of Van Dyke:

"To think without confusion clearly, To act from honest motiv purely, To love their fellow men sincerely, To trust in God and Heaven securely."
 Lola J. Bodine, Albany, Ore., in White Ribbon Review.
