

COMMITTEE HAS PLANS READY FOR FOUNTAIN

Councilmen perfect plans for Newest Addition to Ashland Attractions

ANNOUNCE SOON

O. T. Bergner, Dr. E. A. Woods, and J. Edward Thornton Spend Much Time Working Out Fountain Details

After several weeks of intensive work during which time they have conducted a complete investigation as to the feasibility, type and location, a special committee appointed by Mayor Pierce and consisting of Councilmen, O. T. Bergner, Dr. E. A. Wood, and J. Edward Thornton, will make a report on the establishment locally of a fountain near the down town district where Lithia water may be secured.

Some time ago this matter was up and several joint meetings of the park board, the Chamber of Commerce and the council were held which resulted in the matter being left largely to the present committee. This committee has virtually decided upon a plan, and have been waiting for several weeks while a complete test of the new equipment recently installed to bring the water from the springs into the city, had ample time to be thoroughly tested out.

While the committee refused to give any advance information on their plans until such time as it had been formally passed upon by the city council, it is understood that if their recommendations are carried out, Ashland will have an elaborate fountain, in keeping with the splendid quality of the water and the beautiful setting the park has for such an addition.

The committee is keeping paramount in their minds, the fact that the fountain is mainly for the purpose of giving visitors an opportunity to taste this water with the least amount of effort, and it is assumed that with an announcement of their plans, it will be found that this idea has been well taken care of.

Much credit is due the committee for their efforts along this line for they have spent much time investigating the best method of procedure as well as working out the details of the fountain. No definite date has been named for the announcement of the plan, but, according to Councilman Bergner, it will be within the next few days.

LAKE OF THE WOODS RESORT IS POPULAR

Many Improvements Made On Site Since It Was Opened Two Seasons Ago

"Lake of the Woods Chalets," adopted as a name for the new resort at this popular mountain retreat by the Lake of the Woods recreation Co., Inc., has experienced much growth in the year of its existence there, according to Mr. Gleason, general manager of the company.

The first cabin was built 2 summers ago, but the real start was not made until last year, he said. Since then a number of cabins have been built and furnished, a large store equipped with campers supplies and groceries and many other improvements and additions made to the grounds at beautiful Rainbow Bay, along which it is located.

Water is now being piped to the camp from springs, where it is stored in a large tank, Mr. Gleason says. Two pumps are used to bring it from the cold springs that are found a short distance away.

To facilitate and quicken the work the company recently purchased a sawmill north of the lake, which will cut lumber for the new buildings that are included in its program of construction. This, when completed, will include a lodge, dance pavilion, additional cabins and boat house.

A tennis court will be installed as soon as a few of the more important projects are completed, Mr. Gleason says.

The corporation has a number of rowboats and motor boats for rent by the day, week or month, in addition to a motor launch used for excursions to points of interest about the lake.

According to Mr. Gleason, fishing this year is good and swimming is excellent. Sunday afternoon his nine-year-old boy caught two trout one measuring nearly 15 inches, from the wharf.

The resort is situated 38 miles from Ashland and 40 miles from Klamath Falls, at the north end of the lake.

Service Builds a Large Business in a Short Time

(This is the sixth of a series of stories on Ashland Industries)

The house that service built, might be the proper characterization of the Whittle Transfer and Storage Company, one of the Ashland industries and an institution that turns loose some $1500 a month in pay rolls. From ten or twelve horses, and one truck in 1919 to nine trucks, and eight to ten men, ten thousand square feet of storage space, three wood yards, and a business that has many ramifications, is the record established by F. F. Whittle, and his son W. D., or "Doc" as he is better known in eight busy and happy years. Busy because, Mr. Whittle was constantly expanding continually looking for ways and means to give better service that his business might grow, happy because it was the kind of work that he enjoyed most, difficult jobs to figure out, jobs that would tax the ingenuity of any man, came to him to handle, and they were successfully handled.

Moral

There is a moral to this industrial story, and a good one, first a man can usually do what he wants to do, regardless of his past experience and second if you serve the public well enough, the public will serve you.

Mr. Whittle the president of the firm, spent 27 years in the mercantile business, ten of which was in Ashland. He wanted to get outside more, and sold his mercantile interests, for that purpose. He waited a year, studying conditions and finally made a deal whereby he became owner of the Ashland Transfer and Storage Company. His investment at that time was comparatively small, approximately five thousand dollars. In the eight years time this investment has reached a mark of twenty thousand dollars which does not include property owned for storage purposes, this property belonging to Mr. Whittle personally.

Upon engaging in this business he profited by the experience he had undergone in the other line. He did not know the details of the transfer business, but he did know what he wanted from a transfer company, while he was selling (Continued on Page 5)

JACKSON COUNTY TO EXHIBIT PRODUCTS

Medford.—Jackson county products will be displayed this fall to the general public as a result of action taken Saturday by the Pomona Grange in session at Eagle Point. The decision which pledged the Grange to sponsor a Grange agricultural and horticultural exhibit was unanimous, and follows a pledge of the Merchants' association of this city for co-operation in the venture.

Details were not discussed at yesterday's session of the Grange but it was agreed to hold the exhibit at the county fair grounds in connection with the annual exhibit of the boys' and girls' clubs of the county and county educational exhibit, the exact dates to be determined in a few days.

Name to Be Selected
No definite decision was reached as to the name under which the exhibit will be held, but it will be such as will not conflict with the names of the exhibit and show which has heretofore been staged by the Jackson County Fair association.

Discussion brought out a preponderance of sentiment against infringing in any manner on the name of the Jackson County Fair, although, as pointed out, the exhibit which the Grange will sponsor will be as large and of as fine quality as the organization can possibly command, and will to a degree take the place of the regular county fair, which was dispensed with this year on account of lack of funds.

HAIL DOES DAMAGE BELLVIEW DISTRICT

Sunday evening's rain storm turned into hail in some parts of the Bellevue region and done damage running into hundreds of dollars according to A. C. Joy, well known resident of that vicinity. Starting from a point about even with the new Normal school, and continuing for some distance, hail fell in sufficient quantity to damage the pears and apples as well as the small vegetables.

But little damage was done to the second crop of alfalfa according to a survey made from Talent south. Most farmers had their hay up, and the few that did not expect the rain to do but little damage.

ELHARTS TO MOVE MIDDLE OF AUGUST

Carpenters have been busy the past few days rearranging the sales room formerly occupied by the Rose, and about the middle of August Elharts Book store will move from its present location on the Plaza to this room. The move is being made says Mr. Elhart, to allow for the greatly enlarged music department.

KANSAS PUBLISHER VISITS LOCAL MAN

Burt Barnard, publisher of the Ness County News, and an old time friend of J. C. Hopper, former resident of Ness County, Kansas, arrived in Ashland with his wife and daughter DeLore, and son Knox for a few days visit. While here Mr. Hopper has taken the Kansas publisher on several trips of interest including a visit to Buckhorn Lodge, and the site of the new dam.

Mr. Barnard's paper is one of the highly successful Kansas weeklies and he is enjoying a well earned vacation. They expect to stop in San Francisco for a brief visit with the newspaperman's sister, and will then go to Los Angeles, and back to Kansas. Before arriving in Ashland they spent several days in Yellowstone park, and are stopping at all points of interest along the way. The publisher is very much impressed with the coast country and with Ashland in particular and it is predicted that this vicinity will receive some valuable publicity when he returns to his desk. Mr. Hopper was in the banking business for many years at Ness.

HERE'S ONE FOR PUZZLE SEEKERS!

Puzzle seekers will have a chance to show their skill when the task of painting the cupalo on the Washington school building begins next week.

The Rigg paint shop, which has contracted for the job, expects to find it both a hazardous and difficult job, according to J. O. Rigg, proprietor.

Because of the peculiar shape of the structure, if a painters seat is used it will be necessary for the workman to climb back over the wet paint when the job is done, and if a ladder is used there is no way of reaching its peak. How will they do it? Mr. Rigg invites everyone that is curious to drop around and watch the process.

This particular part of the roof has been painted only twice since 1914.

GAINS ARE MADE IN LAND SETTLEMENT

Rapid strides are being made in Land Settlement work, according to J. H. Fuller, who spent some time while in Portland recently going over this phase of Chamber of Commerce work with Arthur L. Foster who spent some time in Ashland interesting tourists in settling in Southern Oregon.

"The Willamette valley seems to be the main attraction for new settlers, Mr. Fuller learned but it is expected that as time goes on the entire state will feel the effects of this line of work.

COMMITTEE ON LAND GETTING RESULTS

Many Inquiries Are Received From Tourists Interested in Southern Oregon

BUYS ELEVEN ACRES

One Man Wires J. C. Hopper that He Can Find Nothing Better Than Ashland Tract, and Will Probably Locate

"We found nothing better than the eleven acres showed us, find out the lowest price, how long it will take to have papers ready."

The above telegram received yesterday morning by J. C. Hopper chairman of the Land Settlement committee of the Chamber of Commerce, is concrete evidence of the results that are being obtained by the daily activities of J. C. Hopper, S. D. Taylor, Ralph Cozzer, O. D. Payne and A. C. Joy, members of the land settlement committee.

In commenting upon the work being done, Mr. Hopper this morning stated:

"Being lovers of Ashland and vicinity, we like to be busy and try to accomplish something worthwhile for the community. We wish that any one who has a thought that might help us in our work, would feel free to express it to any member of the committee.

Held Several Meetings

The committee has held several meetings and marked out a plan of procedure and are open for suggestions. We have had 5000 cards printed containing a few suggestions on the beauties, our healthful waters and hinting about some needed business openings as well as emphasizing the dairy, poultry and fruit business, offering our services to anyone interested and even going so far as to show a Missourian.

It is our custom to visit the Auto Park each evening and offer the tourists these cards, as well as tourists on the streets and this work we hope will bring results. Through our efforts we have caused many tourists to take the high drive around the park, thus getting a fine view of our beautiful city and a goodly portion of the splendid surrounding country. Many who have taken this short trip have expressed themselves highly gratified and no doubt will speak a good word for Ashland.

Getting Results

The committee is getting results, though we have not been in action very long, as is evidenced by the following letter recently received.

"We received your card. We are looking for a small tract of from 20 to 40 acres where we can raise fruit and poultry and be near good schools." This letter resulted from dropping a card in a tourist car on the street.

Several interviews have been held with parties receiving our cards and many promises received we have distributed about 2500 cards, and have received much encouragement."

Mrs. Noyaker and daughter, Mary left today for their home in Philadelphia, Pa., after a visit with Mrs. Pemberton of 117 Laurel street. Mrs. Pemberton is a sister of Mrs. Noyaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Scott and son left Friday afternoon and drove to Diamond Lake where they spent the week end.

FULLER RETURNS FROM MEETING

Regents Drop Plans to Proceed With New Normal School at La Grande

With a vote of four, in favor of, and four opposed to the proceeding with the building of the new Normal School at La Grande the state board of regents took no definite action on this project according to J. H. Fuller, local secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and member of the state board, who returned from Salem and Portland.

The deadlock came after the plans for the new building had been approved, and the motion put to start immediately with the work. The states financial condition, and the ruling of the supreme court on the validity of exceeding the indebtedness as allowed by the constitution were given as the reason for holding up the work at this time.

Mr. Fuller voted with those who favored the immediate building of the school. Other work accomplished at this meeting was the adoption of rules and regulations governing the three state Normal schools. Until recently with but one school in the state, this was a small matter but with the three schools now, some changes had to be made, including the defining of duties for the secretary of the board, an office just recently established.

MANY APPRECIATE LECTURE ON ART

Large and Appreciative Audience Hear Discussion on Egypt at Club House

If anyone anticipated a dry or technical lecture on Art when they visited the Women's Civic Club last Friday evening to hear Miss Margaret Murphy talk about Egypt, they were disappointed. It was a delightfully informal, interesting and instructive conversational talk, from one thoroughly familiar with her subject, through an extended visit to and study of this ancient country. Miss Murphy is a teacher of art in the city schools of New York City and was induced to come to Ashland this summer to assist Miss Belle Cady White, as a member of the Faculty of Ashland Summer Art School.

Miss Murphy, however, did not entertain her appreciative audience without bringing in the Art side in a unique and different manner, as Miss Emilie Grace Hanks, Artist, and instructor in Portraiture and Head Work at the famous Pratt Institute of Art, Brooklyn, N. Y., sketched in a fascinating and humorous manner the characters, places and incidents of the trip to Egypt.

This lecture was the first of a series of which is being given by these talented Artists at the Women's Civic Club house, not only for the benefit of students attending the Summer Art School, but for all Ashland folks. On next Thursday evening the second talk will be given by Mr. Felix Payant. Mr. Payant's talk will be on the practical uses of color, related to Home, Dress, Business, Food, and other interesting phases. It will be valuable to the business men on the street as well as the home maker.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Watkins of 72 Laurel street have been with their house guests Mr and Mrs. D. J. Watkins Erma and Eva Watkins of Pittman, N. J. and Annie Johns of Philadelphia, Pa., to the Josephine Caves returned Thursday.

Mrs. Annie G. McCarthy of 595 N. Main street who has been a patient in the Community hospital for several days is recovering nicely and will soon be able to return to her home.

Mrs. F. J. Porter, with her three children, Robert, Charles and Ruth, are visiting at the home of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Porter on Eighth street.
