ART SCHOOL MUST HAVE SUPPORT IF CONTINUED

Ashland Organizations Are Complimented For Cooperation

NEED STUDENTS

Want to Enlist the Aid of Other Southern Oregon Towns For Students

More students from Southern Oregon will be necessary if the Ashland Summer School of Art will be held in this city next year, is the announcement made by school officials.

At the present time the heads of this institution are wondering just what is the best way to get local talent to attend their school. They have received fine support from Ashland organizations, and four scholarships have been purchased to bolster up enthusiasm in this excellent enterprise, according to Miss Belle Cady White, superintendent.

Ask Other Towns
Miss White believes other towns in this portion of the state should also be solicited for aid—if not in scholarship in students. So far, the entire enrollment has been from other states such as Idaho, California, Arizona and Washington, and only two students are registered from Southern Oregon, these being on the social committee and therefore not connected with the school.

Because most of these students are teachers during the winter months, there has been very little elementary work done, Miss White says, and it is the desire of the faculty to work this along with the advanced courses.

Beginners Course
If students could be secured from this section, training would be given in beginning water color, design, oil and other important art methods.

Because this school is of great value to Ashland due to its wide influence with art students and enthusiasts, it is the desire both of local organizations and the school faculty, to bring it here again next year, but this rests entirely upon whether more students can be secured—particularly from Southern Oregon.

That few people in this part of Oregon know of its existence or realize its significance, is the belief of one member of the faculty, who tells of a young man from Medford who was particularly anxious to secure training in art and learned of the excellent school here only at the end of the session.

BIRTHDAY GIFTS WERE AWARDED

The Enders company announced this morning that the birthday gifts in connection with their 20th anniversary celebration recently had been made as follows:

EPWORTH LEAGUERS HAVING FINE TIME

Ashland Chapter Travels the Longest Distance and Has Largest Delegation

CASCADE RESORT, Or. Aug. 2—Seventh annual Epworth League Institute for young people of the Methodist Episcopal church opened here last Monday, August 1, with Dr. Blaine E. Kirkpatrick of Chicago delivering the initial address to 150 enthusiastic Epworthians gathered from every part of the Southern Oregon district. Dr. Kirkpatrick declared in his address that Epworth Leaguers are "live wires" and told how the institute was a "big factor in creating this." Speaking further, he asked "will the world be as far advanced spiritually 25 years from now as it will materially." Accounts were also given by Dr. Kirkpatrick of League representatives in Mexico and other countries who are doing much to create good will between nations. Dr. Kirkpatrick left here this morning for Falls City Institute where he has appointments.

It is interesting to note that Ashland chapter traveled the longest distance of 250 miles and also have the largest delegation of 21. Other chapters represented are Grants Pass, Medford, Wilderville, Roseburg, Yoncalla, Creswell, Eugene, Cottage Grove, Marshfield, Springfield, Elkton, Halsey, Alpine and Brownsville.

Mornings are given to study and discussion classes with competent instructors present, and afternoons are devoted to supervised recreation. Addresses by Dr. W. W. Youngson of Portland are the feature of the evening and prayer groups afford no small share of inspiration.

Rev. T. H. Temple of Medford is dean of the Institute. Other faculty members are: Dr. S. J. Chaney, Eugene; Rev. D. L. Fields, Grants Pass; Rev. Joseph Knotts, Roseburg; Rev. J. E. Streyer, Marshfield; Rev. Forest E. Finley, Lyons; Miss Hazel M. Bruner, Ashland; Miss Mary E. Finley, Eugene; Rev. F. E. Finley, Junction City; Miss V. Dorothy Johnson, Portland; Miss Beulah Hussey Ashland; Rev. John A. Linn, Cottage Grove.

COUNCIL CO-OPERATES ON BOULEVARD PARK

Plans Are Made For the Rebuilding of the Water Street Bridge

Members of the city council at their regular meeting last Tuesday evening ratified the suggestion made to members of the park board that the city Light and water departments assume the task of watering the parking on the Boulevard. This will assure a beautiful green parking on this section of the street, as the Park board has completed plans to care for the mowing.

A remonstrance to the proposed extending of the alley between Beach and Vista street was read and laid on the table by the council. The report of the viewers, W. C. Mitchell, B. M. Shoudy, and W. A. Patrick in this same matter was presented to the council, and will be considered for a few days before final action is taken.

The Water street bridge, washed away by the spring rains, will be rebuilt of wood according to (Continued from page 2)

HILT COMMUNITY CLUB HOLD ANNUAL ELECTION

HILT, August 2, (Special)—The regular bi-monthly meeting of the Community Club was held in the Hilt clubhouse Thursday afternoon. As this was the last meeting of the club year, officers for the coming year were elected.

Runaway Injures Man

While stopping a runaway team one day last week, Mr. Joe Silva of the Suncrest Orchards received a cut on the head, two cracked ribs and other bruises, he was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Do You Know the Founders Of Ashland's First Church?

This is the second installment of an interesting history of early Ashland, furnished the Register through the courtesy of Chief of Police G. A. McNabb.

The Ashland Woolen Mills was originally established by a joint stock company consisting of thirty members, with J. M. McCall as the leading spirit. It was inaugurated in the year 1867, and began operations in 1868, under the name and style of the Rogue River Woolen Manufacturing Company, with J. M. McCall, president; C. K. Klum, secretary; and John Daley, superintendent. The mill was completed and equipped with one set of cards, one spinning jack, four looms, and the necessary operating and finishing machinery, at a cost of $32,000. It was operated three years by the original company, without profit to the stock-holders, when it was sold to G. N. Marshall and Charles Goodchild. During the second year of this administration James Thornton became a partner in the business, and in 1878 he bought the entire stock of the concern. In the same year W. H. Atkinson, Jacob Wagner and E. K. Anderson became partners with Mr. Thornton, when the name of the concern was changed to "Ashland Woolen Manufacturing Company." In 1881, Mr. Wagner retired, and Capt. J. M. McCall again became interested in the business. Since 1878 machinery and improvements to the amount of $10,000, have been added. The manufacturing machinery now consists of one set of cards, seven broad looms, two spinning jacks of 240 spindles each, two full sets of knitting machinery of the latest and most approved styles with every other aged appliance. The present capacity of the mill is over 16,000 pounds of wool per month. It is operated day and night, the year-round (Sundays excepted) by thirty people skilled employees, and furnishes employment to as many other persons in the manufacture of under-wear, finishing of hosiery. Shawls, blankets and hosiery are specialties of these mills, but the manufacture all the ordinary woolen products. These articles find a ready market, with such increasing demand for them as to warrant increased capacity for their production, which is already in contemplation by the proprietors. The mills are run by water power and the motive machinery is a twenty-six-inch turbin, with thirty-two foot pressure. James Thornton is general superintendent, W. H. Atkinson business manager, and J. R. Casey foreman. A lithographic view of the mill adorns the pages of this work.

The planing mill and the cabinet shop of Daley & Company were built in 1878, by the present proprietors, at a cost of $3,000. They are situated at the junction of Mechanic and Hellman streets. The power used is the water of Ashland creek, acting on a turbine (Continued on Page 5)

SUGAR CANE IS THE LATEST PROJECT

The people of Bellevue and Ashland will soon have the opportunity of enjoying real homemade sorghum, Mr. Oscar Lowe has planted a number of acres of sugar cane which are developing fine and he is quite confident that he will have a wonderful growth in his field. One of his neighbors has also planted a small plot.

Mr. Lowe has purchased a machine for extracting the juice from the sugar cane, and also an evaporating pan. Mr. Lowe has secured an experienced sorghum maker to assist him in this work.

While he is making this only in a small way he feels that there is no reason why good sorghum should not be produced here, as in other places. Mr. Lowe feels very confident that he can grow good cane here and he is to be commended for his pioneering spirit in making the necessary investments to prove whether or not sorghum can be produced to advantage. Sorghum is raised successfully in other parts of the Rogue River Valley so there is every reason to believe that he will make a success of his enterprise.

He has already secured many orders for his finished product and feels sure that there will always be a big demand for his real home made sorghum.

JACKSON COUNTY IS ATTRACTING LOVERS

That Jackson county may soon be the mecca for lovesick Californians is the general expectation at the court house where numerous marriage licenses have been issued recently to couples from California, where a state law was put into effect this month that before a marriage license can be issued a notice of intentions must be published in a newspaper for four days before the license can be procured.

A couple journeyed the entire distance from Los Angeles to evade the odd law and this couple declared that they knew of six or more who were planning trips to this county to obtain licenses. One license was issued to prospective newlyweds from Mt. Shasta City Wednesday forenoon and more are expected daily.

Frank Jordan went to Medford Thursday evening to play in an orchestra which was broadcasting from KMED.

KOREAN MISSIONARY TO SPEAK SUNDAY

Miss Maria Church of Seoul Korea, former Oregon girl will spend this week end visiting with Miss Eva White of the Normal school faculty. Miss Church is a Methodist Missionary and is located in the capital city of this country, where she is an instructor in the only college for women that this country has.

Miss Church will speak at the Methodist church Sunday evening.

LOCAL ATTORNEY HONORED BY ARMY

The honor of being one of the four officers in the entire state to attend the regular army training school, at Camp McGuade, Capitola, California, has fallen to Captain William Briggs, Ashland attorney. Mr. Briggs is an officer in the Coast Artillery, and will spend two weeks at the California camp, the forepart of September which will be under the direction of the regular army.

CANNING CLUBS TO ORGANIZE FOR WORK

The Ashland Canning Clubs met this week at the home of their leader, Miss Dena Joy. The purpose of the meeting was to organize and begin work on demonstration teams.

Miss Florence York, county home demonstration agent, attended the meeting and offered many helpful suggestions concerning the demonstration work.

All Jackson county teams will demonstrate at the county fair. The best team will be selected and sent to the state fair to compete for the state championship. The Ashland Canning Club have two teams and they hope that one of these may be selected for this contest.

Miss Joy's team was selected last year to compete at the State Fair where it took second place.

An auto party composed of Mrs. E. V. Carter, her guest Miss Alice Fox, Mrs. Sarah Johnson and Mr. Charles Johnson, made a trip to Crater Lake on Tuesday.

Mrs. Charles A. Haines and son, Keith, departed Wednesday for Portland where Mrs. Haines will spend a short vacation with her parents. Dr. Haines accompanied them to Portland, returning to Ashland on Friday.

A HEAVY INCREASE RECORDED AT NORMAL

Thirty Seven Per Cent More Students in School This Summer

FACULTY STRONG

Increase Is Said To Be Due To Reputation Being Established

With an increase in enrollment of thirty-seven per cent, the largest percentage of increase enjoyed by any school in the west for summer sessions the Ashland Normal's second term of summer school work was started this week. Figures compiled at the Registrars office, show that a total of 289 students have registered for the work, while a year ago 209 was the maximum registration for the same term.

One of the interesting facts concerning this summer registration, is that sixteen teachers from the Portland schools have entered for special work. This is a distinct compliment to the local school, President Churchill stated this morning, "I can say all of the

Praiser Faculty
"I can say all the nice things I want to about our teaching staff", the president declared, "because my time is so fully taken up with administrative duties that I do not teach any classes myself, and I do want it known, that in my opinion we have one of the strongest faculties, that has ever been brought together in a Normal school. This statement is borne out by students who have enrolled for the summer work, and who through experience and contact with other schools are competent to judge.

From Many States
Many states are represented in this term's enrollment the state of Wyoming bearing the honor of being the one farthest away, to have a representative.

Copy for the annual catalogue will go to the printer within a very few days, it was said at the registrar's office. The catalogue in addition to containing the course of study, and general information gives a complete list of the faculty, and the schools from which they received their degrees.

ART SCHOOL WILL ENTERTAIN TONIGHT

The final entertainment of the Ashland Summer School of Art will be an art exhibition, starting near 2:30 this afternoon and continuing through the evening at the Civic clubhouse.

The program according to Mr. Felix Payant and Miss Emily Grace Hanks, of the school's faculty, will be "different" than the usual wind-up exhibitions, and will be one of the most beautiful, largest and interesting entertainments of its sort ever given in this city.

Among the many features to be seen are beautiful drapes, figure drawings, placards, 'walking, jumping and dancing' mimics.

The public is invited to the program.

Mrs. Mary O. Cary, of the Cary ranch near Phoenix, was in Ashland Thursday morning shopping and attending to business affairs.

Miss Gertrude Engle, who has been spending the summer at the home of her mother, Mrs. Engle on the Boulevard will leave the latter part of this week for Richmond, California, where she is instructor in the Junior High.

SHOW NEWEST METHOD OF TEACHING CHILDREN

Work Is Made Play For Children From First to The Third Grade

Miss Eva L. White, teacher of Primary Methods at the Normal school, and Supervisor of the teachers at Lincoln school has a most interesting collection of books and materials for use in primary grade, at her room in the Normal building. Primary methods are becoming more and more a scientific study among primary teachers, and it is no more a hit and miss proposition in the early training of children. Their reading, writing and arithmetic are taught under the latest improved methods and no one, after going into the work done by Miss White among her students, can gainsay that these methods are the very best in the development of the child mind.

Silent Reading Cards
The silent reading cards and the silent reading puzzle cards are interesting to look into and other forms of work, such as constructing, pasting, cutting, coloring, sewing and tracing are brought out in many new ways.

The cut-out dolls from Literature, include Peter Pan, Cinderella, Little Lord Fauntleroy and such familiar characters, that the work becomes play to the little folks of the first three grades.

"Books on Children's Literature" also comes under this work among the first three grades. It is most important that good reading habits should be inculcated into the minds of children, so when they get older good books will automatically be sought after, and the poor books discarded.

Construction Work
Then there is the construction work, which naturally appeals more to boys. Things to make for games, patterns and posters, bird boxes, model airplanes, pony carts, and animals are all included in Primary Methods. Courtesy lessons, animal stencils and weaving find their places in the course of study, and all follow a most interesting line of work.

Miss White is an instructor at the summer school of the Normal in session at the present time, and will again be supervisor of teachers at Lincoln school the following school year.

MANY LODGEMEN MAY GO TO CELEBRATION

J. E. Shiffer Makes Check-Up of Elks That Plan to Attend Lakeview Function

Ashland Lodge No. 944, B. P. O. E. will be well represented at the Lakeview celebration, to be held in conjunction with the installation of the Lakeview Elks chapter August 12 and 13th, if present plans of the lodge are not blasted.

A check-up of all members who will be able to attend the installation is being made under the direction of J. N. Shiffer.

A meeting will be held Sunday evening to decide the more important matters relative to the departure of the delegation from here.

Transportation will probably be one of the main items of this meeting, as this is one of the big problems confronting the committeemen. It is intimated that should enough of the Elks signify their attention of making the trip, a stage may be booked for this purpose.

It is further asked that all members of the lodge who have any intention of going to the function, get in touch with Mr. Shiffer soon as possible.

A party including Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Carter of Ashland, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Jones and son, Bobby, of Medford, and Mr. and Mrs. James Lennox and son, Keith, spent last Sunday at the Applegate swimming hole.

ADDITIONS ARE MADE TO FACULTY OF NORMAL

Twenty - Six Instructors and Departments Heads Constitute Faculty

FOUR NEW ONES

Athletics, Music, English, and Practice Teaching To Receive Help

Four new faculty members will be on the pay roll of the Ashland Normal school when the fall term opens according to an announcement made today. This will bring the total number to twenty-six.

Miss Ruth Yoder, who secured her degree from Wesleyan University will take the positions as assistant in the music department, and will have charge of the violin department and orchestra work.

Due to the fact that Miss Richardson for the past year of the English department is leaving to take up some advanced work at the University of Washington, Lillian Graves, who secured her degree at Columbia will be in the English department. Miss Helen Wiess of the University of Wisconsin, has accepted the position of assistant in the Art and physical education department. He Meyers, principal of the junior high school has accepted a position on the faculty and will be one of the supervisors of the practice school, having charge of the junior high school department. This step is of extreme importance according to President Churchill as it will enable students to have three terms of practice work, and will give them the opportunity of getting practical experience in the teaching of every grade up to high school.

Athletics will be well taken care of by R. W. McNeil, who has an excellent record as a producer of winning teams. In addition to his work in this department he will be an assistant in the Science department.

Miss Margaret Armendrou, private secretary for President Churchill has resigned her position effective in September and her position will be filled by Miss Ruth Purdy. Miss Armendrou will return to her home in Tillamook.

DR. WOODS SPEAKS ON SENSITIVENESS

"Allergy" was the subject of a speech made by Dr. R. L. Woods of this city to guests and members of the Kiwanis club at their weekly luncheon in the Lithia Springs hotel today.

For the benefit of those who are unfamiliar with "allergy" is the hyper-sensitiveness of certain individuals to various ailments such as hay fever and asthma.

Dr. Woods in his talk gave a complete account of the cause and effect of these things, although the lack of time at the gathering prevented him going into detail or discussing other types.

Several guests were present at the luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Day, and Dr. Elizabeth Halloran who was visiting here last week from Altama, California, were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lambkin at Talent, last Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Burdick and family returned this week from a vacation spent at their cabin on the Lake of the Woods.
