In a recent editorial, the suggestion was made that Ashland prepare an exhibit for the purpose of getting before prospective settlers an example of what the soil will produce. J. H. Fuller, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce liked the idea, and using that as a basis worked out some splendid ideas that this paper whole heartedly endorses and would like to see worked out.

A portion of Mr. Fullers suggestion, is reprinted, in the hopes that it will arouse sufficient interest to crystallize a general sentiment into definite action.

"What shall we do and how shall we do it? Ought to be the question on the lips of every merchant on our street, of every city official, of every property owner in Ashland, and if that question were asked of me I would say, the first thing to be done is to attend to our business street. It is our exhibit building today, we might erect another $10,000 home for exhibits as Grants Pass has done, but we do not need it. What we do need is to make every window in Ashlands Business section a show window! We may display our resources and our opportunities in a manner that will count! Right now we have several vacant buildings which can be utilized to good advantage by filling the windows with products not only of Ashland, but of Oregon. Nothing attracts more attention than a massed display of one kind of product, and every vacant store window in Ashland should be filled with something produced in Oregon.

One entire store front may be filled with Ashland granite in an attractive setting which will advertise in a most effective manner the superior quality of this product, another store front may be filled with an exhibit of the cannery, telling the world that Ashland raises cherries, peaches and tomatoes unsurpassed on the Pacific Coast. The mineral springs may be suitably presented so that the passing guest may decide to stay and investigate the merits of these waters. Our fruits and vegetables, grasses and grains will of course form an exhibit of value and importance as will other things suggest themselves from time to time. Our Summer Art School could, I am sure, be induced to provide posters and art work to fill a window and advertise throughout the year the work of this school, and it would not be inappropriate for our Normal school to occupy a space devoted to the work of the school. I am sure the variety and color that would result by carrying out this plan on a really effective scale would be outstanding, would be original and would attract attention.

The fact that we have a few vacant stores right now may be capitalized and made an asset. Owners of the places should gladly co-operate to carry out else. Let's fill every one of these windows and an unique and original manner, ask the manufacturer of Oregon to co-operate and lets pull the biggest street show and Fall opening ever seen in Southern Oregon, and I venture the prophesy that we may get some publicity that will be heard of from far and near and the benefit will not be of a passing moment but of a lasting character.

We are the gateway to Oregon, we give the first impression of Oregon and we should strive to give the best so that having travelled the length of the Pacific Highway many of these tourists, and home seekers may return and say, "I am going to make my home in Ashland. I see opportunity here" or returning to their homes in the East may say, "Ashland has the climate, Ashland has the scenery, Ashland has the water, Ashland has the soil, Ashland has the schools, whatever you are seeking Ashland has it!"

Now that a slogan has been selected, what are we going to do with it? The Lithians did a fine work, when they promoted the contest, and in our opinion their selection was a wise one, but—it is simply the start, a slogan, alone will do nothing, it is now up to the Lithians to continue the work they have started, and see that the slogan, is placed before the greatest number of people.

The plan they have in mind, of having thousands of cards printed and distributed is a good one, the plan of H. L. Claycomb to utilize the slogan on the proposed sign boards will help materially, but the greatest good can come from this slogan, by every individual finding out that which we have, and spreading the good word along the line.

Enthusiasm is contagious, and there is nothing that so appeals to a new comer as a united community spreading the gospel of a communities advantages. There never was a successful salesman who did not believe heart and soul in that which he was selling. The only way Ashland can be sold to the outside world is to get the right start at home.

The Lithians, the Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis club, could well sponsor a movement designed with the sole idea of selling this community to itself. When that is done, then we are in a position to sell to outside people.

Lets tell our own people "What Ashland Has," lets do it so often and so perfectly that they will become salesman for Ashland, when that job is completed, when Ashland people are sold on their own community the seed for a greater and a better Ashland will have been sown in a seed bed of remarkable fertility, and the harvest will be a good one.

"White Gold" Stirring Picture
Said to be as full of dramatic action as an egg is of meat, Jetta Gould's new star vehicle, "White Gold" comes to the Vining Sunday and Monday. Kenneth Thompson is leading man. The photo play is intensely interesting and has scored a triumph wherever shown. The supporting cast is said to be excellent.

Ken Maynard's experiences seem to vary from one extreme to another. While he and the company were on location making "Somewhere in Sonora," coming to the local theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday, were snowed in for several days above Lone Pine, California. The picture, by the way, is said to be a worth while one.

Dependable Service to Customers — Dividends for Shareholders

Customers of the California Oregon Power Company in homes and factories used 293,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy last year.

More than 3000 preferred shareholders receive dividends regularly by check every three months. The capital supplied by investors in the Company's preferred shares goes directly into permanent, useful public utility properties.

The confidence of our thousands of customers rests on their knowledge of the fact that dependable service is furnished at reasonable rates.

The investment confidence of more than 3,000 shareholders is merited by the fact that dividends always arrive regularly, by check, on the due date.

A copy of this 16-page book, describing and illustrating the properties of The California Oregon Power Company, will be sent to you on request, together with complete information about investment in the Company's preferred shares.
