

Way of Maid with Man

Thing of Laughter
Any woman fighting with her natural weapons of brain and beauty, can win any point she wishes to accomplish against the dullards who consider themselves dominant males.

A slight peat and flashing eyes are the preliminary skirmish; if these fail to start the masculine retreat a few tears can easily be called into play. Then there is the tried and true faint to bring up added reinforcements. More is seldom needed.

A variation of the faint is used by Florence Vidor, epitome of brunette loveliness, in her newest starring picture for Paramount, "The World at her Feet," which will be shown at the Vining Theatre Sunday only.

Mr. and Mrs. Simms of Oberlin street expect to spend the winter in California on account of Mr. Simms's health.

Mrs. Egan and Mrs. Smith of Klamath Falls, visited their grandmother Mrs. A. L. Harvey on B. street for a short time Sunday.

Mrs. A. N. Humphrey and son Francis of Klamath Falls were in Ashland Tuesday, the Humphreys are former residents of Ashland.

ATTORNEY IS TRAINING

The 63rd Artillery Regiment is commanded by Lieut. Colonel F. L. Dengler. By reason of the new plan, the reserve officers are given trained and experienced regular army troops to work with.

The camp this year, being in conjunction with the anti-aircraft work, is exceedingly interesting, according to reports from the officers from this locality, and includes work with probably the most intricate material consisting of anti-aircraft guns, searchlights, radio and wire communication, and machine gun defensive against the planes. Three airplanes from Crissy Field, California, are on duty with the 63rd Regiment and are at work the most of each day towing targets in the air for the reservists to fire at.

The reserve officers state that they are highly pleased with the reception accorded them by the regular army officers, who are striving to make the camp as beneficial to those in training as possible.

FOOTBALL IS GOOD

summer long with the Whittle Transfer Company, in order that he might be in the best possible condition for this seasons game. But on the other side there is going to be some difficulty. Klenhammer seems to have a little the edge on this berth with Hawks making him exert himself to claim the position of being a first string man.

New Guards

All new guards was all that could be seen when the men turned out for the first weeks practice with Keaton, Moore and Winkle man having a slight edge over Boyd and Hartley, this edge however is so thin, that it can hardly be seen, and a weeks work may change the entire situation here. Madden shifted from full back to center proved a happy find for with his weight and general football experience he is expected to bolster up the green line considerably. Russell Parr a 209 pounder just up from Junior high school present some excellent possibilities with some more experience.

Practice so far has been confined to learning the rudiments of the new Rockne system, picked up by Coach Crise while attending the famous Notre Dame coaches school this summer. This system include the use of a wing back, and other deviations from the common system of playing.
