TALENT

The Talent Irrigation District will have on display in the Better Homes Exposition and Merchants Holiday Jubilee to be held at the Armory Dec. 7th to 10th the exhibit which won all of the sweepstakes at the Pacific International Livestock exposition held recently in Portland. This exact exhibit as it was seen in Portland will be staged by D. M. Lowe and promises to be one of the finest of its kind ever seen anywhere in the United States outside of Portland where it took every blue ribbon of importance.

Every one who was not able to see this exhibit in Portland should put forth every effort to see it at this time.

Lillian Reimer spent the Thanksgiving vacation with her parents, Prof. and Mrs. F. C. Reimer at the experiment station. She returned to her school work at O. A. C. Sunday morning.

Earle Bokuard spent Thanksgiving and the week end with his father in Roseburg.

Mrs. H. E. Bowman returned home Sunday morning from Portland where she spent Thanksgiving and the week end with her husband and relatives. She reports Mr. Bowman's health as much improved but he is not yet able to return home.

Asil Beckwith has rented the J. S. Spitzer blacksmith shop and is prepared to serve all customers.

Steve Zarka attended the box social held at the Anderson creek school house Wednesday evening of last week. There was a good crowd present and all had a pleasant evening.

A. A. Stoddard who lived in Beeson Lane recently sold all his equipment and with his family moved to Chico, Calif., where they expect to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Clark moved from Pumpkin Center to Ashland Wednesday of last week. Mr. Clark has charge of the granite pit owned by Mr. Perrozi of Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Bullen of the Talent Service Station entertained at Thanksgiving dinner at their home in Ashland. Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Harris, Mrs. E. Eggers, Mrs. Nuds and Grandson, Jackson Burke of Ashland and Steve Zarka, Mrs. Lee Clark assisted Mrs. Bullen.
