ATHLETE GRADES HIGH

University of Oregon, Eugene.—Lester Johnson, Portland, is winner of the Spaulding trophy awarded each term to athletes making the best scholastic record. Johnson made an average grade of 1.7 last spring term and earned 62 points. As he is a baseball letterman, the achievement is made unusual by reason of its being earned during the term of his major sport.

Voting at Elections Urged by U. O. Dean

University of Oregon, Eugene.—"The person who has the qualification to vote and does not use it when election day comes, is just like the person who is traitor to his country," said Elmer L. Shirrell, Dean of men, at the Armistice day celebration of the University Cosmopolitan club.

He said that this statement was made by the captain of the troop in which Dean Shirrell was sergeant, before the troop left France after the armistice.

"I wanted to pass the same phrase to you because I have observed very few voters use their voting privilege on election day," said Dean Shirrell.

BOMB WRSCKS SCHOOL

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—A bomb placed at the front of the West

Pittston High school wrecked the front of the building, damaging it to an extent of about $10,000. A second bomb, apparently timed to go off at the same time as that at the school, was found in a dinner pail near the South Pittston Bridge of the Lackawanna & Wyoming Railroad. The fuse was cut and no damage was done.

Parents of Students At U. of O. Engaged In Many Pursuits

University of Oregon, Eugene.—From all classes, occupations, trades, and professions they come—the parents of the university students. There are capitalists and stock men, artists and janitors, doctors and sheriffs, clergymen and stevedores.

Nearly a third of the parents of University students, or 847 to be exact, are engaged in some form of business, according to a survey just completed by Earl M. Pallett, university registrar. Of these 277 are mercantile.

Second on the list of occupations are the various professions. There are 338 professional men and women, including 77 doctors, 38 clergymen, and 24 dentists.

Agriculture ranks third on the list of occupations, with 318 parents engaged in the various phases of farming.

Other list include 20 representatives of the artistic professions, 58 of these scientific professions, 59 railway men, 58 government employees, 110 unskilled laborers, 73 of miscellaneous occupations, and 480 whose occupations were not stated.

Some of the occupations listed are interior decorator, sculptor, social supervisor, postmaster, U. S. Army and Navy, justice of peace, sheriff, city manager, shipbuilder, foreign trader, milliner, house mother, editor, barber, bottler, butcher, and timber cruiser.

JOKE PROVES FATAL

Chester, Pa.—A joke which cost the life of Michael Garnis was played on him by Harold Swope, 19, and Richard Stewart, 18, all employed at the dye house of the Aberfoyle Mfg. company. At lunch they offered Garnis a cup of coffee into which they put a lump of what they thought was sodium nitrate. He drank the coffee and in a few moments he dropped unconscious and died on the way to a hospital. The chemical used was not sodium nitrate, but a deadly poison. The boys now face a charge of manslaughter.

DOESN'T KNOW SHE IS MOTHER

St. Paul, Minn.—Injured in an automobile accident on Oct. 26, Mrs. Joseph Dech, 28, has lain unconscious since that time, unaware that a few hours after she was injured she became the mother of twins, a boy and a girl.
