

School Health Survey To Be Directed Soon In McMinnville School

University of Oregon, Eugene.—A complete health survey for the McMinnville senior high school will be made in the near future by the school of physical education of the University of Oregon, it is announced by Delbert Obertuffer, head of the school.

The survey will be made not only for the benefit of the McMinnville school, but also to serve as a model for surveys of other institutions. Schools desiring this service from the University may confer with Mr. Obertuffer on the subject, it is stated.

The work will have two distinct aims, it is declared by those in charge. The first direct result will be the mapping out of a program to be followed by the McMinnville school for next year, using the present facilities and the funds to be appropriated for this project.

The McMinnville project is in line with the aim of the University in becoming a center of service in many lines for the state at large. Other projects are being undertaken by various departments and schools of the institution, it is stated, and details on these will be announced later.

Many Students Earn All of Own Way at Oregon University

University of Oregon, Eugene.—Approximately three-fourths of the students of the University of Oregon are wholly or partially self-supporting, it is announced by Earl M. Pallett, registrar. Figures just compiled for this term show that only 813 out of 2,489 enrolled on the Eugene campus depend on their parents for entire support.

The number of men who are self-supporting is much greater than the number of women, and out of a total of 1,546 men only 131 do not earn all or part of their way. The number of men who are entirely "on their own" is 560, more than one-third.

The fact that 107 senior men out of 242, and 51 senior women out of 232 are wholly self-supporting indicates that students who must make their own way in life realize the value of university training enough to actually earn it at a sacrifice," points out Mr. Pallett. "It is also significant to note that out of the total of 242, only 14 men of the senior class are wholly dependent upon others for support."

HYPNOTISM SAVES LIFE

New York—Hypnotism probably saved the life of T. Coleman du Pont, Delaware capitalist and U. S. Senator, who is convalescing in a Manhattan hospital following an operation for cancer of the larynx. Seized with a violent attack of hiccoughs which had opened the healing wounds in the patient's throat, Mr. du Pont was in a grave condition when attending physicians called in an expert in the therapeutic application of hypnosis who succeeded in inducing a condition resembling deep sleep, which ended the spasmodic contractions of the diaphragm, against which he had been helpless.

Many High Schools to Take Part in Debate

University of Oregon, Eugene.—Many Oregon high schools are reported to be enrolling in the Oregon High School Debating League, according to Dan E. Clark, secretary of the league and assistant director of the University extension division. It is expected that about 80 high schools will have enrolled by the end of the time limit, the middle of December. The state has been divided into 11 districts and debaters from each of these districts will vie with one another soon after the Christmas holidays. Winners will meet at the University in May.

OFFERS OTHER SON

Los Angeles.—Mrs. Elsie Rim-mell, whose youngest son, Raleigh is with the lost expedition of Col. P. H. Fawcett, British explorer in the Brazilian jungle, now offers her remaining son, Roger, 30 as a volunteer to join Commander Geo. M. Dyott who announced recently that he was going to Brazil to search for Col. Fawcett and his party.

TREASURE HUNT

Ancona, Italy.—A treasure hunt has followed the finding of a few coins dating from 150 to 200 years ago in the bed of the Harbor at Ancona. Some of the coins bear the inscription "Belgrade," then a Turkish city, while others are of the Republic of Nuremberg.

CHINA SMOKES LESS

Washington.—A decrease of 26 per cent has been noticed in the export trade of American cigarettes to China, the largest consumer of our cigarettes. As civil war and the unsettled conditions of China are designated as the causes of the decrease, the Department of Commerce is of the opinion that the situation is likely to continue for some time to come.

Relief Corps Meets

The regular meeting of the Ashland Relief Corps convened December the third in the I. O. O. F. Hall.

The following officers were elected to serve through the coming year: Mrs. E. Cliff Payne, president; Mrs. Frances Darby, vice-president; Mrs. Elizabeth Robertson, junior vice-president; Mrs. Sophia Ganciere, chaplain; Lulu Howard, treasurer; Delta Inlow, conductor and Mrs. Leona Boyd, guard.

The next meeting will occur on the afternoon of Saturday December 17th.

Normal Assembly The students of the Southern Oregon Normal school were treated to a rare performance Wednesday morning in the SONS auditorium, when President J. A. Churchill introduced the "Harmonica Merry-makers," who charmed their audience with several excellent musical numbers.

The "Harmonica Merry-makers" who have made somewhat of a name for themselves by their clever performances at various functions in this city and vicinity are composed of the following well known local young men: Milton Franklin, tippie; Ward Parkerson, harmonica; Ray Clary, guitar; Roland Parks, harmonica; and Kenneth Madden, banjo-uke. Mr. Madden who is a student of the local high school was unable to be present at this time however.

Harmonica solos by Mr. Parkerson and Mr. Parks were also enjoyed.
